All Austro-German Forces Gathered on Danube Front Have Crossed River

All the Austro-German forces gathered on the Danube front for the invasion of Serbia have crossed that river and the Teutons are attacking to the south of Belgrade, which they captured late last week, the Berlin war office announced today.

The Serbians are not expected by military observers in London to make a decided stand north of the mountains near Kraguyevatz about 50 miles south of Belgrade. These form an admirable defensive line, and were shown during the Austrian invasion last year.

The Teutonic occupation of Belgrade was made good after two days of desperate fighting in the streets of the city, according to descriptions telegraphed to Budapest. It is declared in these that the Serbians are retreating only step by step.

8000 Germans Dead

The Germans had dead estimated at between 7000 and 8000 in number in front of the allied lines after their ineffective assaults of the last few days in the vicinity of Loos, in northern France, according to today's statement of the French war office. It alludes to the outcome of the fighting as "a grave and costly check" to the Germans.

Artillery Engagements

Heavy artillery engagements north of La Scarpe and in the Champagne are the only activities on the western front mentioned in the official statement from Paris.

Greek Parliament Meets

Much importance attaches to the meeting today of the Greek parliament, at which the new cabinets declaration of future policy in connection with the war is expected. The alleged secret treaty between Germany and Bulgaria also is likely to be a subject of debate. The German legation at Athens denies the existence of such a treaty.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala to be Heard From on Action of U. S. to Recognize Carranza

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The governments of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala remained to be heard from today in approval of the action of the United States government in deciding to recognize the Carranza government in Mexico. The countries which participated in the Pan-American peace conference through their diplomatic representatives—Argentina, Chile and Brazil—already have sanctioned Carranza's official agent here. Prohibition of shipment of arms to factions opposed to Carranza government then will follow.

The next step to be taken by the United States will be determination of the form in which recognition shall be accorded. It is expected to be extended this week, possibly through formal notification to Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's official agent here. Prohibition of shipment of arms to factions opposed to Carranza government then will follow.

Although an arms embargo will materially weaken the resources of the Villa element, M. Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister of the convention government in a formal statement given out here announced that the struggle will be continued in Mexico. Similar advice have been received by the state department from American Consular Agents Carrthers following an interview with Villa.

SHOT IN THE HAND

LOWELL HUNTER THOUGHT "MIKE" TIERNEY WAS A FOX AND FIRED AT HIM

Michael Tierney, employed at the Trull farm in Tewksbury, was accidentally shot through the hand this afternoon while picking grapes on the farm, by a fox hunter named James P. Carr and residing at 169 Hampshire street, this city.

According to the story told at the police station this afternoon, Carr went on a little fox hunting expedition of his own and when near the Trull farm he spotted a fox. The young man fired one shot with the result that the fox took to its heels. A few minutes later Carr saw something move in the grape vine and thinking it was the fox, he fired another shot and struck Tierney, who was picking grapes. The injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where his injury was treated, while Carr was taken to the police station, but after telling his story he was released. Mr. Tierney's injury is not serious.

THIRD GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

LEADING SWAT ARTISTS OF BOSTON AND PHILADELPHIA TEAMS.

Braves Field, Boston, Scene of Today's Battle—Record Crowd Turns Out to Greet Players—Stock Opened Game With Two Bagger

BRAVES FIELD, Boston, Oct. 11.—The third game of the 1915 world's series was fought here this afternoon over the wonderful diamond and the wide green reaches of the largest and most beautiful baseball park in the world. It was a fine setting for the great battle that was to decide whether the Boston Red Sox or the desperately fighting Phillies should have the "jump" by taking the odd contest. The change from the tight little Philly park in the City of Brotherly Love to this wonder field was most striking. It seemed that the entire Philadelphia plant could be placed within the foul lines here and there would still be space left to keep Cravath's home runs in the lot. "It was a wonder day, too, with not a cloud in the sky. An Indian summer sun by noon had driven away the chill in the early morning air. The waters of the historic Charles river, running beyond the park rippled in a lazy autumn breeze.

Ideal Playing Conditions

Never were conditions more ideal for a contest between the titled athletes of the two big baseball leagues, and the outpouring of the explosive Boston fans gave promise of a record-breaking throng. Always one of the most enthusiastic ball towns in the country, Boston was all but "daffy" in a delirium of joy today over the prospect of a game that was expected to be a turning point in the great series that began in Philadelphia last Friday and was interrupted there on Saturday evening with honors even.

Alexander for Phillies

No little of the anticipatory excitement today was due to the fact that Grover Cleveland Alexander was to make his second start and attempt to hurl the slugging Sox back for another defeat. The whole faith of the Phillies was wrapped up in "Alex" today and they confidently expected that last Friday's indifferent game had really just served to put "Alex" on edge for today and that he would prove far more effective for having had the experience of facing the red hosed warriors from Boston. On the other hand the Sox were just as confident that having once looked over all Alexander had to offer they no longer had any fear of him and were prepared to give his side-fung slants and fast breaking curves a "ride" to all parts of the field.

Leonard Carrigan's Selection

Manager Carrigan's early morning selection for pitcher was "Dutch" Leonard, the star portlander of the American league. "Dutch" was anxious to match his wits and skill against the hope of the Phillies and with these two master craftsmen in the box a hair-raising pitching duel was looked forward to.

The Sox had all the advantage that goes with the home crowd and there were more than double the loyal supporters on hand to cheer them than the Phillies could crowd into their yard on Broad street.

But the playing field itself was stronger to the Sox than to the Phillies, this home of the Braves having been selected in place of the American league park, because of its superior accommodations.

The lineup:

Philadelphia Nats Boston Am. Stock 3b..... Hooper Baneroff ss..... Scott Paskert cf..... Speaker Cravath rf..... Hoblitzel Luderus lf..... Lewis Whitted 1b..... Gardner Nichoff 2b..... Barry Burns c..... Carrigan Alexander p..... Leonard

The umpires

O'Loughlin gave the decisions on balls and strikes; Klem gave decisions on the bases, while Rigler went to left field and Umpire Evans to right.

First inning

Philadelphia: Stock got a two base hit to center, when Speaker lost the ball in the sun. Baneroff sacrificed, Gardner to Hoblitzel, Stock going to third. The Boston infield came in close. Carrigan almost nipped Stock off third. Paskert fouled out to Gardner. Cravath struck out. The stands were in an uproar.

No runs; one hit; no errors.

Boston: Hooper flied out to Cravath. Scott fanned. Alexander had two

Lowell Public Cautioned to Look Out for Impostors—Blank Forms Were Stolen

Notifications have been sent to Postmaster John F. McLean from the inspectors' department of the U. S. postal service requesting him to warn the business men and merchants of this city against accepting money orders stolen from postoffices in this section of the country. It is known that money order blanks stolen from New Jersey have been filled out and passed in Boston and that the culprits have recently been very near Lowell. Blanks have also been stolen from a New Hampshire postoffice recently and it is probable that the person who now holds the orders will attempt to use them soon. The money order stamps and type were also taken.

Money order blanks 2569 to 2580, inclusive, were stolen from the postoffice at Leonard, N. J., on Sept. 9. A young man representing himself as Arthur C. Cox of the National Law and Reporting agency of Chicago, Ill., passed several of these stolen orders in Boston last Thursday and from information secured by the postal inspectors he is still in this vicinity. He cashed two money orders in a Boston jewelry store, buying a birthday gift which he claimed was for a lady friend. He also purchased a ticket for San Francisco tendering two money orders and securing $38.25. His method was to have the money orders made out so that there would be some amount due him after the purchase had been made.

Two more orders stolen from the New Jersey office were cashed at the Princeton hotel, Washington, D. C. Here the young man presented a business card bearing the name of M. J. Waxman of New York, on the back of which was written a letter of introduction. In speed than he did last Friday. Speaker flied to Paskert.

No runs; no hits; no errors.

Second inning

Philadelphia: Luderus struck out. Whitted popped out to Hoblitzel. There was a fork to Leonard's shoot and lots of sport in his service. Nichoff sent up a high one to Scott.

No runs; no hits; no errors.

Boston: Hoblitzel went out on a grounder to Alexander, who touched the batter on the line. Lewis shot a single past Stock. Alexander pitched out, but Lewis remained on first. Lewis out stealing. Burns to Baneroff. Gardner flied to Whitted.

No runs; one hit; no errors.

Third inning

Philadelphia: Burns singled over Barry's head. Alexander up. The pitcher was loudly cheered by the crowd. Gardner took Alexander's punt and threw to Hoblitzel, who dropped the ball. Burns went to second. Stock sacrificed, Gardner to Barry. Burns going to third, and Alexander to second. Burns scored on Baneroff's single to center. Alexander going to third, on the throw-in. Baneroff went to second. Barry took Paskert's high fly, while running towards right field, a wonderful catch. Cravath drove to Lewis who took the ball after a long run toward the left field fence.

One run; two hits; one error.

Boston: Barry flied out to Paskert. Carrigan up. It was Carrigan's first appearance as a player in the series. Carrigan walked. Whitted dropped Leonard's foul after a long run. It was not an error. Leonard fanned. Hooper popped out to Stock.

No runs; no hits; no errors.

Fourth inning

Philadelphia: Luderus struck out for the second time. Whitted flied out to Hooper. Nichoff sent up a high one to Scott.

No runs; no hits; no errors.

Boston: Scott flied out to Paskert. Speaker shot a long hit down the right field line for a two base bagger. Speaker scored on Hoblitzel's sacrifice fly to Paskert. Lewis flied out to Paskert, who had to come in behind second to make the catch.

One run; one hit; no errors.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE DOES RUSHING BUSINESS ON HUNTERS' LICENSES FOR THE HOLIDAY

This was a busy day for the clerks in the city clerk's office and all the fellows who wanted to know what it was all about had to wait to "stick around" and hear what the callers were asking for. We did that little thing and found out that they were hunters looking for licenses, for tomorrow will be a holiday and the law will be off on a whole lot of game, including the ruffed grouse, woodcock, quail, pheasants, hares and rabbits and gray squirrels. Yes, it will be well for one to be careful while hunting in the woods tomorrow. All hunters are not careful hunters and the woods will be full of them—such as they are. Watch out!

each case the name of A. A. Hardy was used as the remitter.

When in Washington the much wanted man wore a U. S. naval blue uniform, regulation hat, brown leggings and tan shoes. With the money order cashed in Washington he bought a blue suit and has since been seen wearing a grey suit. He is described as being about 32 years old, five feet nine inches in height, dark hair and complexion and is said to be a good talker. He has the appearance of a salesman or clerk. The warnings have been sent out by J. T. Cortelyou of Philadelphia, inspector in charge, and Inspector S. H. Morse of Boston.

It is especially requested that the merchants and merchants' associations take notice.

Nothing has been reported as yet relative to the money orders stolen from New Hampshire. On October 3, the postoffice at Eaton Centre was robbed and among other things money orders $65 to $60 found missing. Inspector Morse states that he is positive the thief or thieves will attempt to cash the orders soon and the cooperation of the public is asked to apprehend the parties.

TEMPERANCE FIELD DAY FAREWELL TO PASTOR

SECRETARY OF MASSACHUSETTS
TOTAL ABSTINENCE SOCIETY DE-LIVERS SEVERAL ADDRESSES

Rev. Warren P. Landers, secretary of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, addressed the Sunday schools of St. Anne's Episcopal, First Trinitarian and Worthen Street Baptist churches yesterday. He also spoke at the Highland M. E. church and in the afternoon he addressed a public rally at the Y. M. C. A. on which occasion his topic was "Christ and Drink." He said in part:

"The mastery of evil is summoning man's supreme strength. The dominance of physical and material struggles is evident from the amount of space devoted by the average paper and magazine to reports and articles dealing with military exploits and industrial conditions. But the menace of alcohol furnishes no small part of man's battle. Who has a sufficient program of victory? Christ's words, 'No man can serve two masters' indicate in outline the way of success." Mr. Landers drew from the character and industrial conditions of the complex life of this country, lessons of abstinence, a strong feeling against the drink traffic and the culture of compassion for those caught by herbage, acquired appetite or surroundings. The church needs not so much a changed program as a more emphatic interpretation of the spirit of its founder, who held and practiced both formation and reformation, a complete expression of the divine love."

Mr. Landers gave other addresses in Lowell and at 8:30 he addressed the First Congregational evening service upon "Our War at Home."

TOUCHING ADDRESS, SHOWING AFFECTION, TO REV. FR. AMYOT OF ST. MARIE'S PARISH

Rev. Antoine Amyot, O.M.I., former pastor and founder of St. Marie's church, South Lowell, and who recently was transferred to St. Joseph's parish on account of ill health, was tendered a farewell reception by his former parishioners yesterday afternoon, while the new pastor, Rev. Julien Racette, O.M.I., was extended a royal welcome. The event proved most pleasing and was participated in by practically every parishioner including men, women and children. Present at the festivities also were Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O.M.I., pastor of St. Joseph's; Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I.; Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I.; and Rev. Joseph Boudreau, O.M.I., as well as several visitors from other parishes in this city.

The program included a parade, followed by a reception at the school hall, during which an entertaining program was given. The visiting clergy as well as the parishioners gathered at the home of the president of Branch St. Marie, A. C. P., in Eugene street, under whose auspices the affair was held, and the long line marched through Woburn street as far as the school, the members of the clergy being taken over the route in automobiles.

After reaching the school hall the band played several selections, and then Joseph A. Plante, secretary of the society, in behalf of the parishioners, read a farewell address to the former pastor, emphasizing the appreciation of the clergyman's services and presenting him a handsome cane and bouquet. Rev. Fr. Amyot, O.M.I., responded in fitting terms, speaking of the pleasant nine years he spent among the parishioners of St. Marie's, and he told of his regret in leaving the parish he founded and saw progressing with pride. He paid tribute to the new pastor, Rev. Fr. Racette, O.M.I., and said he believed under his guidance the parish will continue to progress as it has in the past.

Following Fr. Amyot's remarks, Arthur B. Byn, another prominent parishioner, read an address of welcome to Fr. Racette. The latter in his response said he would endeavor to follow the path laid by his predecessor, Fr. Amyot, although this would be a very difficult task, and he asked the cooperation of all the parishioners to bring his mission to a successful end. Arthur Beauchamp, a prominent newspaperman also addressed the gathering, paying a tribute to the former pastor and the new one. Zolique Sauvageau also spoke and the event closed with the benediction of the blessed sacrament, Rev. Fr. Amyot, O.M.I., officiating.

PARIS SHOWS WAR SPOILS

PARIS, Oct. 11.—German cannon, mortars, bomb-throwers and aeroplanes captured in the recent battle of Champagne were placed on exhibition today at the Hotel Invalides. All day long vast crowds, eager to see the trophies of war, made their way to the exhibition.

The scene was set impressively in the grand court of honor at the entrance to the tomb of Napoleon, with its hundreds of flags and cannon captured during the Champagne campaigns and with the statue of the great general looking down on these latest additions.

It is estimated that 200,000 persons made their way into the court. When the gates closed at sundown thousands of persons were waiting to gain admittance, forming a line a mile long.

The German guns on exhibition included 41 600 mm. 20 large bore mortars, two 6-inch cannon, five large bomb-throwers, 20 small cannon and 30 trench guns.

A large force of soldiers and police held back the crowds. Soldiers wounded in the battle of Champagne were brought from the hospitals and had the first opportunity to see the cannon they helped to capture. Then the public was admitted.

The crowd pressed into the court in a great wave. Widows in mourning, maimed soldiers and children joined in the expressions of patriotic enthusiasm. Some of the cannon showed the effects of battle. Their wheels were covered with the white clay of Champagne. Many of the trundlers were wrenched off by the French artillery's fire. Four of the large field guns were still loaded, and were surrounded by a special guard of artillerymen to prevent accidents.

All sections and classes of Paris contributed to the vast assemblage. The scene resembled that which followed the announcement of the French victory in Champagne.

CUTS THROAT IN CELL

EDWARD L. SKINNER, AGED 21, COMMITTED SUICIDE IN STATE PRISON AT CHARLESTOWN

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Edward L. Skinner, 21 years old, who was serving a three to five-year sentence in the State Prison, Charlestown, for felonious assault, committed suicide at 6:05 last evening in his cell by cutting his throat with a razor.

He was found lying on the floor of his cell with the razor beside him by Officer B. H. Hill, who had just come on duty and started on his tour of inspection of the cells in the west wing of the prison.

Skinner's cell was the first on the second tier in west wing, and as Officer Hill peered into the cell he saw Skinner lying in a pool of blood, and breathing with difficulty. He notified Acting Warden William Herdery and Skinner was removed to the hospital. A hurried call was sent for Dr. Daniel J. Hurley of Charlestown, the assistant prison physician, and Dr. Joseph J. McLaughlin of Dorchester, the prison physician.

When Skinner reached the hospital it was apparent he was lifeless. Medical Examiner Macraeth was notified. Following his examination of the body he ordered it removed to the North Grove street morgue.

Skinner was committed from Taunton, Nov. 18, 1914. He served almost 11 months of his sentence and during

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Irritability, over-sensitiveness, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, dizziness—these are symptoms of nervous exhaustion, neurasthenia. Very often the patient feels best and brightest at night. Rest, sleep, and bringing no refreshment, the nervous system fails to recuperate. This distressing condition is caused by worry, often often than by any other thing. Overwork and worry invite the disorder.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail at 60 cents per box; six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Cases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper.

WEAKEST IN SOUTHEAST

PARIS BELIEVES TEUTONS ARE TRYING BALCAN TACK BECAUSE ELSEWHERE OPERATIONS ARE FAILING

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Diplomatic and other official quarters believe that operations in the Balkans have assumed new and important significance. The Austro-German drive to the southeast is regarded as sequel to the French successes in the Champagne and the manner in which the Russians have prevented envelopment of their armies in Germany and Austria, according to this view, are compelled to seek a new field of effort toward the accomplishment of decisive results, as well as for the attempt to break through the developing ring of the Allies.

It is maintained that the Allies, having demonstrated their power of resistance in all directions except in the southeast, Germany is now passing her forces against the one remaining point where she may be able to break through the encircling wall.

This is believed to be a chief reason for the extent of the Austro-German movement to force a way to Constantinople and the routes leading to the Orient, as well as for the counter-

FELL INTO CANAL

FORTUNATELY THE WATER HAD BEEN DRAWN OFF AND BOY SUSTAINED ONLY GOOD DUCKING

But for the fact that the water had been drawn off in the Western canal yesterday, as is customary on Sunday, Fred Smith, 11 years of age, might have been another victim of Lowell's waters. The lad and several companions were playing on the bank of the canal near the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets when Smith lost his balance and toppled over the wall into the canal. Fortunately the water was very low and the boy succeeded in walking to shore although he received a good ducking. A scalp laceration sustained in the fall was treated at the Lowell hospital.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS

Large Congregations at All the Services—Knights of Columbus at St. Michael's

As usual at the Catholic churches, there were large congregations at all the hourly masses from seven o'clock till eleven. But the 9 o'clock and 10 o'clock masses seemed to bring out the majority of the young people. The vespers services in the evening were also largely attended, the October devotions increasing the interest.

Knights of Columbus
The annual communion of the members of the fourth degree Knights of Columbus was held yesterday morning at St. Michael's church, the church service being followed by a breakfast and post-prandial exercises at the well appointed quarters of the organization in Anne street.

The members gathered at their quarters at 7 o'clock and marched to the church in a body to attend the 8 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the chaplain of the fourth degree, Rev. Francis J. Mullin, who also delivered a forceful sermon on the significance of Columbus day.

At the close of the mass the Knights returned to their club building, where a dainty breakfast was served, about 190 members being seated around the festive board. Following the meal, Faithful Navigator Thomas J. O'Donnell welcomed the members and delivered a short address. Others who addressed the gathering were Rev. Francis J. Mullin, chaplain; Grand Knight Joseph Roark, District Deputy William F. Thornton, Robert J. Thomas, Hugh J. Molloy and others.

At the 8 o'clock mass in the upper church the members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion in a body, while at the same time in the lower chapel the members of the Children's sodality also received communion, this mass being celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw.

St. Patrick's
About 350 members of the Holy Name society attended the 7 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning in a body and received communion, the celebrant of the mass being Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien. The members of the Immaculate Conception sodality also received communion at this mass and Rev. John J. Kerrigan assisted in the celebrant of the mass in giving communion.

Immaculate Conception
At the 7:30 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning the members of the senior branch of the Holy Name society and those of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. James McCartin, O.M.I., who was assisted in giving communion by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I.

St. Peter's
The members of the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church made their quarterly communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday, the celebrant being the chaplain, Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher, pastor, who also delivered a brief sermon. He was assisted in giving communion by Rev. P. L. Crayton.

At 8:30 o'clock in the evening a business meeting was held in the lower chapel with President Bernard D. Ward in the chair. Considerable business was transacted and arrangements were made for a smoker to be held some time this month, while the annual dance and concert was informally discussed. Following the business meeting a religious service was held with Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher as the officiating clergyman, who congratulated the members for the fine showing made at the morning service. The service closed with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Sacred Heart
The celebrant of the parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was Rev. Henry Burns, O. M. L., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while the sermon was delivered by the pastor, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O.M.I.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass the members of the Holy Name society received their monthly communion. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., who was assisted in giving communion by the pastor, Rev. John T. Flynn, O.M.I. and Rev. James McDermott, O.M.I., both of the Sacred Heart church, are out on mission work.

St. Columba's
Rev. T. W. Buckley was the celebrant of the 7 o'clock mass at St. Columba's church yesterday and at this mass the members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. The parish mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John A. Degan, who also delivered the sermon, which was an eloquent discourse on "Faith."

A whist party under the auspices of the Holy Name society will be held Tuesday evening in the parish hall and on account of this event the October devotions will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings. The altar boys are making plans for a whist party to be held soon and they expect a large attendance.

St. Margaret's
The members of the Holy Name society of St. Margaret's church held their monthly communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. C. J. Galligan. On Thursday evening a rehearsal for the coming minstrel entertainment to be held at the Highland club hall in the latter part of November will be held and all interested are requested to be present.

Miss Helen P. Chase has again been appointed musical director of grand opera in the New York public schools.

PRINCE OF WALES SHOT

PRINCE OF WALES

A Paris report says that the Prince of Wales, eldest son of King George and Queen Mary, is suffering from a bullet wound in the arm, inflicted by a French corporal, who was jealous of his wife. The story goes that the woman was an attendant at an inn frequented by the prince and other British and French officers, and that the corporal shot the prince and then turned the weapon on himself when he saw his wife waiting upon the officers. The corporal was badly wounded, but the prince who is exonerated from blame in the matter, was only slightly hurt. Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, was born in 1894.

MALDEN EASY WINNERS

Lowell High Failed to Score Though Heathcock Made Great Play Saturday

The Lowell high went to Malden for its annual game Saturday and received a trouncing, the score being 41 to 0. The home team excelled in all departments and won with ease. Arthur Lynch, Lowell's full-back, received an injury that forced him to retire but it is believed he will be able to play in tomorrow's game.

Coach Conway used every man in his squad of 25 during the game and among the subs who showed up well was Desmond, who substituted for Lynch. Heathcock, who has been playing quarterback since Capt. Roane was injured made a fine showing. He was the only one who threatened the home team's goal line throughout the game and lost out by going out of bounds after a spectacular run the entire length of the field planning the ball behind Malden's uprights.

The lineup and summary are as follows:

Lowell	Malden

Game Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Lowell plays its first home game of the 1915 season at Spalding park, with the strong Lawrence academy eleven of Groton as the opposing team. Last year the Groton lads were returned to the 20 to 0. Members of the 1915 squad will endeavor to even matters by taking the count of the academy representatives.

The officials of the game will be: Referee, W. F. Mahoney, Lowell, and head linesman, Joseph L. Cronin, Lowell.

HAVENHILL OBSERVES 275TH ANNIVERSARY WITH A TWO DAYS' CELEBRATION

HAVENHILL, Oct. 11.—A two days' celebration of the settlement of Havenhill 275 years ago was begun yesterday with special services in the churches and a meeting in city hall at which Governor Walsh and Mayor Albert L. Bartlett assisted.

An interesting feature of the observance was the receipt of an illuminated address from the city council of Havenhill, England, for which the city was named. The address was read to the city hall gathering by Horace M. Sargent, clerk of the district court, who presided at the meeting.

Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the principal speaker at a religious service held by the churches jointly last night. Mr. Boynton was formerly a pastor here.

KIPLING'S SON MISSING

PARENTS ARE HOPEFUL THAT HE SUFFERED NO MORE SERIOUS FATE THAN CAPTURE

LONDON, Oct. 11, 8:59 a. m.—Rudyard Kipling has received no further news of his 19-year-old son, who was wounded and reported missing in the north of France. He was only slightly wounded when last seen and his parents are hopeful that he suffered no more serious fate than being taken prisoner by the Germans. Mr. Kipling sent to the Associated Press today the following message:

"I should be obliged if you would make public in America the fact that up to date my son John is reported wounded and missing, not wounded and believed killed, as stated in the press a few days ago."

Columbians, good time for everybody.

NEW NOTE TO ENGLAND

PRES. WILSON STUDIED REPLY PREPARED BY SEC. LANSING—TO GO FORWARD AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Wilson today studied the long note prepared by Secretary Lansing answering the several notes received in the last few months from Great Britain on the subject of interference with American trade. The note, which has been delayed largely because the president wanted to keep it apart from the controversy with Germany is now expected to go forward within a few days.

Although virtually complete it may require some time for further revision by the president and state department officials, as it covers the entire subject of contraband as dealt with by the British admiralty before the so-called orders in council were issued and detentions since then.

The case of the American meat packer is covered in a broad general way in the same note, although specific cases are being dealt with in separate communications.

CHEERS AND SMILES TELL PRESIDENT PUBLIC APPROVES OF HIS ENGAGEMENT

PRESIDENT WILSON and MRS. GALT in New York, Oct. 3. © 1915 BY AMERICAN NEWS ASSOCIATION

For the first time since the announcement of their engagement President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt appeared in public together in New York, driving about the city and attending the theatre. From the time the president and Mrs. Galt arrived at the Pennsylvania station until the end of the city's entertainment, crowds pressed about them to see the woman who will soon be "the first lady of the land." With the crowds, the policemen and secret service agents everywhere present, the visit of the president and his bride-to-be took on the character of a public demonstration. When they went for an automobile ride their car was followed by ten others. When on foot they were never able to move until a vanguard of secret service men had opened a way through throngs of interested people. But, although both the president and Mrs. Galt sought to avoid publicity as much as possible, they never seemed to resent the interest and enthusiasm of the public. On one or two occasions, Mrs. Galt acknowledged the cheering with bows and smiles, and several times Mr. Wilson doffed his hat to the crowds. The people, on their part, showed more of the United States to grant recognition to the party led by Gen. Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico.

It became known yesterday that some of the South American governments, long before Saturday's conference had authorized their diplomatic representatives to favor the recognition of Gen. Carranza in the Pan-American deliberations.

Pres. Wilson has received from Sec. Lansing a report of the proceedings of the final conference, but several days ago he indicated to the secretary his acquiescence in the plan proposed.

The form in which recognition is to be accorded has not been decided, but it may be done by formal notification to Eliseo Arrendondo, authorized representative here of the Carranza government. Extension of recognition is expected within a week.

This will result in the immediate order of an embargo on arms against factions opposed to the Carranza government, a step which will materially weaken the resources of the Villista faction, which intends to continue the fight in Mexico.

Alfred Diaz Lombardo gave out a statement last night in behalf of the Villista faction, declaring that while it was a source of satisfaction that the United States has shown its sympathy with the Mexican constitutional revolution against the Carranza government, nevertheless it was intended to demonstrate by further military operations that the Carranza party's supremacy was temporary.

George C. Carothers, American consular agent, telegraphed the state department the substance of a long interview he had had with Gen. Villa at Juarez in which the latter explained, in line with utterances to the press last night, that he intended to continue fighting Carranza.

No mention was made of withdrawing protection to foreigners as reported in press despatches, but officials realize that the legal responsibility for protection of foreigners rests always with the recognized government for all parts of the country, whether in rebellion or not.

Americans for this reason were recently advised to withdraw from northern Mexico, but many of them have failed to heed the state department's advice. The Washington government during the "fate administration" took the position, however, that even when a recognized government existed in Mexico City, the leaders of rebellious factions were personally responsible for the acts of their followers, and gave warning to that effect.

This precedent probably will be followed in the event of difficulties now in Northern Mexico.

Although the documents presented to Sec. Lansing and the Pan-American conference by Eliseo Arrendondo on behalf of Gen. Carranza, on which the decision to recognize the Carranza party was based, have not been made public, it became known that the chief had given explicit assurances with reference to the protection of foreigners' claims, amnesty for political offences and the treatment of the clergy.

He promises among the first concerns of his government attention to the settlement of the land question, an equitable system of taxation, development of an educational system and to secure a regular election by a federal congress.

WELCOMED BY CARRANZA

News of Coming Recognition, He Says, Will Morally Strengthen Constitutional Cause

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 11.—General Carranza received with great pleasure the news that the Pan-American conference at Washington had decided to recommend recognition of the party led by him as the de facto government in Mexico, although he pointed out that he had received no official notification to this effect.

Telegrams from Carranza agents at Washington brought the news, and the first chief received the congratulations of his associates at constitutional headquarters. The Washington telegrams were read in the theatres and received with great enthusiasm. Gen. Carranza will not alter his plans for a trip through the northern states, for which he is to depart tomorrow.

"The immediate effect of this news," he said, will be a great moral strengthening of the cause of constitutionalism and a corresponding disheartening of opposing factions. There will be no more formal battles. Fighting of that sort already has ended, but naturally the struggle to put down minor outbreaks and lawlessness must be continued for a greater or less time in a country such as this, where there are extensive open areas.

"Already these bands are disintegrating rapidly and their chiefs are surrendering. This development will bring the surrender of the leaders of the opposition, since the news of recognition will remove from them further hope of success. This applies not only to those who are actually fighting in the field, but to those enemies of the cause who are intriguing, both within the country and abroad."

PRES. WILSON APPROVES PLAN WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Secretary Lansing reported formally to President Wilson today the proceedings of the last session of the Pan-American conference, which decided on recognition for the Carranza party as the de facto government in Mexico. The president gave his approval.

Secretary Lansing said the time when or the form in which recognition would be extended had not yet been fixed.

OBREGON NEAR QUAREZ EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 11.—Forces of General Obregon are reported to be within a few days' march overland from Juarez.

Carranza consulate advisers declare a revolt is pending in Casas Grandes, where General Villa has mobilized his army for an overland advance into Sonora.

Rev. Byron Holley, Rector of New Orleans Church, Killed Son of Prominent Railroad Man

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 11.—The Rev. Byron Holley, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, one of the most fashionable congregations in the city, early today shot and killed Lansing Pearsall, son of a prominent railroad man here. Dr. Holley told the police he shot Pearsall thinking he was a burglar.

About 9 o'clock Dr. Holley telephoned police headquarters that he had shot a man in the rectory study. The minister told the police that while in his office he heard someone in the study adjoining. Taking a pistol he stepped into the study and saw a man near the door.

"The intruder did not answer my questions to who he was and what he wanted," Dr. Holley said, "and when I ordered him out he made a motion as if to draw a weapon. I fired and the man fell."

Several hours later the man was identified at the morgue by Nathan G. Pearsall, claim agent of the Texas & Pacific railroad, as his son Lansing, 22 years old. No reason for the young man's presence in the rectory could be given by his parents or friends. Dr. Holley said he never had seen Pearsall before.

Police found a window in the rectory parlor had been opened. Young Pearsall lived several blocks from the Holley home on the next street.

INDIAN SUMMER

All except those who are spiritually blind cannot but observe that Nature has lavished beauty all around us at the present time—beauty of such grandeur and infinite variety that he who walks abroad can easily forget the woes of the warring world and revel in the grandeur of the autumnal wonderland. Byron in his ecstatic praise of the lands of the east said that all but the spirit of man is divine in their tropical loveliness but here even the spirit of man must take on a tinge of the glory that is so potent to lure us from city ways into roads where are spread out a glamor greater than that of the Arabian tales.

Beauty makes her home in all lands, but she is especially partial to our American New England at the time of the Indian summer. In no other country is there such a variety of color, such atmospheric clearness, such tenderness of outline in the time between the promise of the fall and the cheerlessness of winter. The annual repetition of the wonderful show blunts our perception to some extent, but those who come from other lands are moved to wonder and admiration by the woods of New England in October.

Just as the palette of the painter is powerless to portray the richness of the colors and the subtleties of the light and shade effects, so words fail to reflect the glamor of the season. Where a few weeks ago, the trees stood in ranks of unbroken green, belts of jeweled loveliness light up the landscape as though the rainbows had fallen to earth. The elms are a pale gold with a suggestion of the delicate green that is gone; the oaks are a warm brown; chestnuts and beeches are crimson and purple and the maples blaze like the burning bush of Moses in scarlet and vermilion. The light that filters through is colored by the glow of the branches and every delicate little breeze sends down a fairy message from the loveliness overhead. Where the leaves have fallen, patterns of delicate tapestry have arranged themselves in rare richness, and the leaves that have been robbed of their beauty by air and moisture whirl like ghost legions over the cold earth. The beauty of autumn is a rare beauty, but it speaks of the bare branches, the icy streams and the long stretches of gray meadows.

The charm of Indian summer does not lie only in the light and loveliness of autumn leaves. It has another appeal, less esthetic perhaps, but not the less human. It has the appeal of the orchard, the homely corn fields where the moon makes long shadows, the ripened Halloween pumpkin, the grape clusters and the elder mill. It tells of garden, orchard and farm profusion, the full cellar, the pungent odors of kitchen preparations for the winter table, the cellar shelves and the honest American plans for the months ahead. It whispers of the husking bees, pop corn, the sio and the blazing logs. It carries a peculiar atmosphere of New England country life with its zest, its social intercourse, its contentment, its enjoyment of the fruits of patience and labor.

Those who would thoroughly enjoy tomorrow ought to plan for a walk in the country. Indian summer calls us from office, factory and tenement block, calls us to the paths where the pheasants and partridges thrill the heart of the huntsman and where there are beauties that are "too pure for the touch of a word." While the rest of the world makes deadly plans to annihilate a national enemy, let us go forth and revel in the glories that are for all who care to see and feel. It is the time of Indian summer which no other land but ours enjoys but for which the Nature lovers of all other lands well may envy us.

COLUMBUS DAY

Since the various societies more especially interested in the observance of Columbus day prefer one large celebration to many lesser celebrations, it so happens that the scene of the commemorative events shifts from one New England city to another annually. This year Lawrence has the honor, and many members of the Knights of Columbus and other organizations will journey to the down-river city to take part in the occasion and to share in the inspiration of the day. It is only a few years since the day became a state holiday, but already it has taken on a permanent aspect as though Massachusetts had been observing it from the beginning.

The appeal of Columbus day is broad and strong. It takes us back to a distant time before the stirring events of Concord and Lexington, a time when the discovery of the new world thrilled the great nations of the period with a veritable intoxication. This new world was indeed the El Dorado, the fabled land of richness and happiness. As seen by the great voyager himself it was a benighted land to which should be carried the message of Christianity and civilization. He came not in the lust of territorial conquest or to add to the then bright laurels of Spain, but to plant the cross in the wilderness. Nations have risen and fallen since then; Spain has lost its bright place as one of the foremost powers, and the land of the Indian has developed into a great and mighty nation.

It is but fitting that we should turn aside from the ways of trade for one day to honor the memory of the great voyager. He was in many ways typical of what we like to think is the spirit of modern America. Persevering, courageous, zealous for the right as he saw it, he was not thwarted by obstacles nor cast down by misfortune. His cry was ever "Onward" in spite of skepticism, treason in his followers and the ingratitude of the great for whom he had done so much. His later days were clouded by suffering and others reaped the rewards that should have come to him, but time has vindicated his purpose and his achievements. We have many stories to inspire our children, but when we tell them of Washington, Lincoln and the other great ones, we ought to speak also with reverence and admiration of the great Christopher Columbus.

KEEP UP GOOD WORK

Our creditable Fashion Week will have failed of its purpose if it does not leave behind some positive indication of its success. It is all very well to decorate our streets, to dress up our store windows, to mark down prices and to attract suburbanites, but if the agitation does not awaken the spirit of loyalty and enterprise, it will have failed in its essential ends. The merchants and the civic bodies who cooperated have done their part nobly and it remains for the citizens to do the remainder. There is no denying that, last week, Lowell looked the part of a busy and thriving city. There was a great deal of enthusiasm apparent and considerable enterprise. Most of this can be kept alive permanently if we foster a proper community spirit and develop local pride until we are ready to defend the good name of Lowell in every practical manner. We cannot have thriving stores unless we patronize them and if we give to other cities the love and loyalty we owe to our own city, Lowell shall be a loser as well as everybody in it. Even though the flags are down, therefore, and the special displays dismantled, let us boom Lowell, trade in Lowell, and keep Lowell to the forefront. We have learned the lesson of civic enterprise; let us apply it until the next local agitation.

OUR BASEBALL SERVICE

The Lowell fans are not slow to realize where they are getting good service as was shown by the large and enthusiastic crowds in front of The Sun building during the first games of the series. Speed and accuracy were the watchword and The Sun system was the last word in efficiency. The games were covered by the trained sporting writers of the Associated Press, the greatest baseball experts in the world, and every play was flashed over a special wire into the Sun office, and given to the crowd in short order by means of the quick and clear megaphone announcements. No service could be more prompt, more accurate or more efficient—a fact which local rooters know from experience. Finally as soon as the last word flashes over the special wire, the Sun extra is on its way to the street and copies are being sold by the newsboys before the crowd has dispersed. Come to the square afterwards during the games, listen to the announcements and get the baseball extra a few minutes after the announcement that the game is over. This will prove to your satisfaction that the Sun baseball service during the world's series is unsurpassed and in these parts unequalled.

PRESIDENT CARRANZA?

During the recent deliberations of the pan-American conference the conviction grew throughout the country that order could be restored only by the recognition of some strong Mexican leader by this country. The next question was to find the strongest, and then to give him the necessary encouragement. This was attempted, and it is now hinted strongly that in a short time Washington will recognize Carranza as president of Mexico, the first leader to be so honored since the death of the unfortunate Madero. During the last year, Carranza has grown in power while Villa has weakened, and Carranza on the whole has been the more reliable. It is said that the president-to-be promises protection to foreigners and their property, amnesty to political prisoners and religious freedom to all. If he is sincere and able to carry out his pledges, no more can be expected at the present time. The government indirectly aided Villa as against Huerta but now Villa is discarded on account of his outrages. Had Huerta been recognized he could have restored peace. He was the only strong man who has appeared in Mexico since the days of Diaz.

AN IRREGULAR ORDER

Owing to an error of the municipal council in passing an order for compensation in the case of John Reaney who lost an arm and a leg in the accident at the vocational school, the money voted for the purpose cannot be paid until the legislature passes a new enabling act. Permission had been given for payment, but the municipal council voted the money to the boy's mother instead of to himself, and so owing to a technicality there will be delay in the settlement of the case. Errors of this nature may be more or less unavoidable but one cannot help thinking that this particular instance is almost inexcusable.

The selling of tags for the victims of the war in Lithuania was another reminder of the spreading waves of misery that flow in its wake. We have heard and responded to calls from Belgium, from Poland, from Armenia and from other sections and if the fire in the Balkans spreads we shall hear cries from many other small powers. Behind the curt war reports is a scene of desolation that can neither be described nor realized. War is waste in a very terrible sense—a waste of life, property and human happiness. We might pour out our millions like water but we could not make much of an impression on the mass of misery that remains where the blasting fires have passed.

The civics department of the Women's club has invited to speak before the Lowell public next Thursday an expert from Springfield who will tell of the plans adopted there for municipal recreation and the use of the schools as social centers. The subject is of timely interest, and under proper supervision and with the proper directing spirit, the school buildings might be more availed of to the advantage of the people.

Those who have fruit that they cannot use and do not intend to save should get in touch with families that might make good use of it, and to whom it would be a boon. With the high cost of living and the widespread suffering, it is shameful to see apples and other fruits rotting on the ground in some sections.

From the comments of the street crowds who listen to candidates, it would seem that the voters are from Missouri this year; they are tired of promises that end in a puff of smoke.

Columbus discovered the country; is it not time that you discovered it?

International Marriage
Henry P. Davidson of the Morgan banking firm was talking about international marriages.

"Well," he said, "I know of an international marriage that failed, thank goodness, to come off. The girl was the daughter of a Paik Rock millionaire. The man was a count, a Spanish count. 'The count was absent-minded. That was his undoing. The girl's father gave a dinner for him in the Paik Rock castle overlooking Paik Rock, and at the dinner's end the count got up to a light a cigarette and then, by Jove, he started to remove the plates. The guests watched him in an open-mouthed silence. His napkin slung over his arm, he had got nearly all the plates stacked when his millionaire host said to him gently: 'Wake up, George, you're not waiting in the beary now, you know. You're pretending you're a count in Paik Rock. Wake up, man, for gracious sake!'"

Piling It On
He had been on a hunting expedition for several days in the backwoods, roughing it rather severely, and on taking a seat in a railway carriage, returning homeward he looked as bedraggled and weather-beaten a trapper as ever brought his skins into settlement, says the Cleveland Leader.

He happened to find a seat next to a young lady—evidently belonging to Boston—who, after taking stock of him for a few minutes, remarked: "Don't you find an utterly passionate sympathy with nature's most incalculable and terrific incidents of the horizon-touching forests, my good man?"

"Oh, yes," replied the apparent backwoodsman, "and I am also frequently drawn into an exaltation of great soulfulness and terrific incidents of great infinity of abstract contiguity when my horse stumbles."

"Indeed," said the young lady, much surprised. "I had no idea that the lower classes felt like that."

Depew Started Something
"Last time I was traveling in the south," ex-senator Chauncey M. Depew said, "I had to put up over night at a second-rate hotel in western Georgia. I said to the clerk, when I entered: 'Where shall I autograph?'"

"Autograph?" said the clerk.

"Yes; sign my name, you know."

"Oh, right here," said the clerk, signing my name in the register in came three roughly clothed, unshorn fellows immediately recognizable of Georgia Crackers. One of the men advanced to the desk.

"Will you autograph?" asked the clerk, his face pale with the pleasure that comes from the consciousness of intellectual superiority.

"Certainly," said the "Georgia Cracker," his face no less radiant than that of the clerk; "mine's rye."

"There was no escape for the clerk and he traced with his pen and gave as instances. Next morning I said to him: 'That was too bad, the way you got caught last night.'"

"Well, I suppose I shouldn't complain," he replied; "but the next time I speak a foreign language in my own country I'll know what I am talking about."

Away
I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away!

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return—
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;

And loyal still, as gave the blows
Of his warrior strength to his country, I'll know what I am talking about."

Mild and gentle, as he was brave,
When the sweetest love of his life he gave,
To simple things: where the violets grew
Blue as the eyes they were likened to.

The touches of his hands have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed:
When the little brown-throated bird
Was dearly to him as the mocking-bird;
And he puffed as much as a man in pain
A writhing honey-bee wet with rain.

Think of him still as the same, I say;
He is not dead—he is just away!

ONE PASSENGER HURT

STEAMER'S STATEROOM SMASHED IN—TENNESSEE STRUCK GLANCING BLOW BY SCHOONER

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Nearly 250 passengers who were transferred from the Bay State line steamer Tennessee after her collision Saturday night in Long Island Sound off Fishers Island with the schooner Samuel S. Thorp were brought here yesterday aboard the steamer Concord of the Colonial line.

The Tennessee, with a ragged gap 45 feet long in her side, came into port a few hours later. The Tennessee was bound from Philadelphia to New York. Robert Keating of Woodhaven, N. Y., who had sustained internal injuries, was removed to a hospital. Several other passengers received minor hurts. The staterooms demolished by the collision. Passengers told of panicky conditions aboard the Tennessee after the "Thor" rammed her prow into their boat slightly forward of amidships; but said that Capt. George D. Enos calmed the women and children by telling them aid was close at hand. He then sent out wireless calls, to which the Concord was first to respond. The transfer of passengers was effected without accident.

The Tennessee's freight and saloon decks were stove in and the funnel damaged, but she was able to proceed to New York under her own steam.

Robert J. Noble, general manager of the Bay State line, said the schooner, eastbound, suddenly luffed up in the wind and struck the Tennessee a hard glancing blow.

The Thorp is badly damaged forward above the waterline and Capt. Pearce is waiting orders from the owners before having repairs made and conceding to her destination, Newburyport, Mass., with her load of 250 passengers from New-Port News.

SUITS THAT ARE NOT COMMONPLACE

If a man wishes to express his individuality in dress the opportunity is here for him to do so.

In addition to the exclusive styles of Rogers-Peet's and "Society Brand" there are many new and exclusive fabrics.

"Forefathers' Cloth" an English fabric brought out by Rogers-Peet, reproduces the substantial character and colorings, (olive green and butternut brown) of the Puritan cloths of 1620.

There are Piping Rock flannels, (winter weights) Donegal homespuns from Ireland, Harris Island tweeds made on hand looms in Scotland, Imperial stripes and plain colored fabrics made up specially for us in dark brown, hunter's green and dark blue. These are but a few of the new things that we alone have.

Such suits we show in very small numbers—but two or three of a kind—they not only look good, they are good, as good as the best fabrics and the best workmanship can make them.

Fitted to your satisfaction by our tailors, these exclusive and special suits enable a man to dress with distinction and with the assurance that his appearance will never be commonplace—Prices are moderate beginning at $20.00.

Our suit stock, however, is not limited to those we mention, new models and new weaves are here for men and young men from $10.00 and upwards.

When the officers entered, Whalon was in a sitting position on a bench. The body was warm, but life was extinct. Whalon had been in poor health for some time. He was born in Connecticut, but came to this city when a young man and was widely known in South Fitchburg and among railroad men. He is survived by two daughters.

Trowbridge, and party of Worcester acquaintances. Trowbridge told the police the girl was playing in the street and when the car approached she started to cross but fell. FEMININE LORE

THE ART OF WEARING JEWELRY

Old-fashioned settings, unless used with great discretion and with certain historically correct gowns, are one of the chief features in aging the wearer's face and figure. The effect is one for grandmother, unless the idea is only for quaintness, and then every detail must coincide with the jewelry, even to the mode of dressing the hair.

Large, heavy brooches and ornaments are another means of gaining uncalculated age, and it is a mistake most commonly made. Bold, striking pieces have their place in modern appropriate jewelry for the young lady and middle-aged woman, and discreetly used are extremely effective, but it must be realized that there is nothing "youthful" about solid, heavy pieces; no matter how handsome or attractive they may be they are not for the person who wishes to appear young, and will be no younger than her jewelry makes her.

Earrings add to the age; no matter how young or how old the person is who wears them they invariably have the same tendency. Bracelets, on the contrary, will give youthful roundness to the arm, provided the right shape and size are chosen and fitted to the individual arm. Hair ornaments may be used to either add to the age or the reverse. High standing combs, aligrettes and tiaras have the tendency to add to the wearer's age, as they also add dignity or dashing style, while low hands worn across the forehead will make the face look fuller and more youthful. The pieces worn close about the face—hair ornaments, earrings, neck bands and necklaces—have a greater influence in this direction than any of the other jewels and consequently extra care should be given to the choosing and wearing of them.

For the white-haired matron there is always the jewelry especially designed for her. Everyone knows the range which is growing and changing only slightly as her gown fashions and styles vary with the seasons. The line is conservative, and the jewelry is simple and dignified, with a touch of the precious gems with mountings of platinum, dull gold and gray finished silver are always ready for the selection, but enameled pieces should not be neglected. For the young woman, the jewelry should be chosen to become a part of her life, and to be worn with the same ease and grace as the most common of her everyday wear.

Beauty Types and Becoming Jewelry

When it comes to choosing becoming jewelry for the various types of women to having it suit their individual style and racial features, the field is almost unlimited and quite absorbing in artistic interest. This phase of the subject of appropriate and becoming jewelry is a story in itself and the different branches of the theme can only be touched upon here. To take the matter in its broadest aspect consider the great divergence in the jewels worn by the women in the world's climatic divisions, as the northern European, Asiatic and tropical jewelry, and consider more closely the jewelry typical of the different nationalities. The Scandinavian women wear a certain style and type of jewelry, and it will be found that it is in the long run the kind most becoming to the face.

haired, broad-shouldered woman wherever she may be found in the world. The smaller, dark-haired, black-eyed woman cannot wear this jewelry with half the same good effect. She must have something more suited to her type and, whether she comes from America or southern France, her jewelry will be built on the same fundamental lines and contain the same gems, if it is to be most appropriate.

The ash-haired, Gibson type of American, the red-haired, snow-white complexioned woman, the slim Botticelli maiden and the broad-shouldered athletic girl, each is to be considered as demanding a specific type and style in jewelry, and then again each class is subdivided and the choice made according to the individual characteristics and needs.

New pieces in sports jewelry. A gold buckle is worn on the becoming hair band and the belt is fastened by one of the latest designs in engine-turned gold slides.

the stature and figure, the features of the face and the shape of the head, the shape and the proportions of the arms and hands, the carriage and mode of walking may be taken into consideration in relation to finding and deciding upon the best suited jewelry. The deeper the subject is gone into the better the latent possibilities in becoming jewelry is appreciated, for the making or marring of a costume may rest with the smallest and most apparently insignificant piece of jewelry. How much more important it is, therefore, to give care to the choosing of the larger, more conspicuous jewels, and to complete sets of jewelry when they play so large a part in the completed costumes.

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

CARING FOR GRAY HAIR

The only time when gray hair is unattractive is when it is improperly cared for; when it is streaked with yellow and to be frantically frank when it isn't clean. Gray hair should have a regular fortnightly shampoo. For this warm water and a milk white soap should be used and the strands rubbed between the hands until every trace of oil has been cut loose by the lather. Following the soap washing the hair should be rinsing with clean warm water. Let the temperature of the rinsing water be gradually increased until it is as hot as can be borne with comfort, and then gradually lower the temperature until it is cold.

Never shampoo the hair at night as the best time is in the morning when the drying can be done beside an open window where the strands will get the benefit of fresh air and sunshine. Do the drying with warmed Turkish towels, gently rubbing the strands until every trace of moisture has disappeared. Then, very gently, comb out any tangles; don't brush them out, as if you do you may break some of the strands.

After the combing and brushing, separate the hair in parts all over the head and rub the scalp, very lightly, with pure olive oil. Use very little oil, just enough to moisten the finger tips. The next day dust the scalp with rice powder and with a soft brush, rub the powder around until all trace of the oil has been absorbed. In between these semi-monthly shampoos there should be a dry shampoo. This is begun by carefully combing and brushing the hair and then generously sprinkling rice powder thick on the scalp and through the strands.

Rub the powder in the scalp and through the strands until any oil has been absorbed and then cleanse the hair of the powder by another careful combing and brushing. This treatment, regularly used, will keep gray hair fresh looking, silvery and fluffy. And that means it will keep it attractive.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS:

ABOUT THE LOANING OF BOOKS

"I am never going to loan a book again," said Marjorie determinedly, "I wanted a certain volume today and, after long thought, remembered that I had loaned it months ago to Grace and she had never returned it."

"You should have a book place," said Marie. "I am sure your friend did not mean to keep your book, but probably does not remember from whom she borrowed it. Before lending a book, cover it with brown paper and write your name and the title outside. Jot down in a note book to whom it is loaned and never be so foolish as not to ask for it if it is not returned within a reasonable time."

"There is almost as much free masonry shown toward other people's books as towards one's people's umbrellas. Books borrowed from circulating libraries, too, are often decorated along their margins with comments and apropos and otherwise, written by various readers. And library volumes are not the only ones abused in this way. It cannot be denied that books loaned to personal friends are often returned to their owners, not only underlined and lead penciled, but dog eared and soiled as to the cover.

To a book lover such treatment of favorite volumes results in almost a physical pain, and, in time, ends in a refusal to loan books at all. It spoils all one's pleasure to find another person's comments written on the margin of some special passage which the owner of the book has enjoyed. Nor does it help to buy a new copy even if one feels able to afford it, because often one's enjoyment of some story has more to do with the donor or the special edition one has had for a long time, than with the author's plot.

"Just so one feels when a book is returned in had condition if it is brought back at all, which very often is not the case, even when one has to ask that it be returned. In the first place, many people open a book carelessly and then they let it lie open with the pages flattened. Then the hands are not always clean or they are employed in eating candy, perhaps, and finger marks are shown on the formerly spotless pages."

LADY LOOKABOUT

The Lowell Teachers' organization, which has already made its influence felt in the city, is planning a season of unusual activity. Early in November, Mrs. Kläder, who needs no introduction to Lowell audiences, will entertain with a dramatic reading of Israel Zangwill's four-act drama, "The Melting Pot." A few tickets are available for the friends of the members. Miss Allen, the new president of the organization, is receiving the hearty cooperation of the members in forming special classes for the teachers, and all are looking forward to a season of pleasure and profit.

Chin Strap Hats
The narrow chin straps of patent leather or velvet seen on some of the new hats, and which closely resemble the elastic bands worn by children, are most becoming to young faces. The woman no longer young makes a great mistake when she adopts this fashion, for nothing so accentuates approaching age as the garb of extreme youth. This is true of any article of dress associated exclusively with the youthful. When the more modest woman persists in clinging to the fashions of young girls, her pretense at youth is indeed pathetic.

I know a woman of past middle age. She is petite and has clinging tenaciously to the styles favored by very young girls. Approaching this woman from the rear, one would certainly think that she was looking at a young girl, but on overtaking her and catching a glimpse of her face with the lines of care and character which come with the years, one gets an unpleasant shock.

Just when we were growing accustomed to the sickle-back hats with the simple little knot which rested anywhere from the top of the head to the nape of the neck, some unkind style-maker pushes upon us the hat which turns up abruptly in the back, and insistently calls attention to the quantity of hair we have not got.

The result may easily be foreseen. Hairdressers are introducing all sorts of little puffs and curls, and, like puppets, we profess to admire them, and truly they are indeed fascinating. I was shown a cluster of curls a few days ago, which, tucked in beside the forehead, made a simple little knot, added the touch that was wanted, and the abruptly-turned-up-in-the-back hat immediately became adorable. Aren't we the funny things!

The Suffragists

Despite the happy optimism which pervades the ranks of the suffragists, President Wilson's announcement that he is going to vote for suffrage, must have caused no little surprise. That he has so declared himself, and without reservation of any kind, is indeed the biggest boost suffrage could receive at this time or at any time.

Wilson has proved himself a man of unusually conservative principle; his foresight and wisdom have succeeded in steering our country out of the path of what has more than once seemed certain warfare. Surely the attitude of such a man, holding the reins of such a nation, must carry great weight when in favor of a movement involving all that the enfranchisement of women does, and one is perfectly safe in assuming that he has made a mistake.

White Way Effects

For actual decorative value on the Lowell thoroughfares, nothing can exceed the lights of the great white way. Apart from their beauty when unadorned, they offer unusual opportunities for decoration. Full advantage was taken of these during the recent week when they figured so prominently in Fashion Week. Several times since their installation they have added a festive air to the streets, and air which invites pedestrians to their neighborhood, and which must bring substantial returns to the proprietors and storekeepers, and so easily offset the increase in assessed valuation.

Special Courses of Study

It is at this season of the year when vacations are over and all have returned to work with renewed vigor, that the mind turns to thoughts of improvement and study. Many persons avail themselves of the opportunities offered in the various institutions of learning to take special courses, and along these lines the textile industries, others to follow a pet ambition while still others seek only mental recreation. The opportunities for taking special courses in Lowell are very few. Apart from the Textile school, where excellent evening courses are offered to those interested in the textile industries, there is no place where a person may satisfy his longing for study in special branches. This may be due to our close proximity to Boston, where one may indulge his desire for study to his heart's content, but I am inclined to believe that in work of this kind there is an apathy, here, which must be broken down before our young men and women can find at home that which they are now compelled to seek in Boston. It would seem that a city of over 100,000 persons could offer university extension courses to those who desire them. To be sure the expense of these courses as offered in Boston is very slight, but when the expense of a round trip twice a week is added, and consideration given to the time spent en route each time, the taking of one of these courses becomes an expensive hardship. Yet, with these difficulties in the text, it is rising to note the number who go down from Lowell to avail themselves of these courses on Saturdays and evenings. Surely a combined effort on the part of these students should accomplish much toward establishing the desired courses in their home city.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Because of the waste of material, the German government has warned "all women in that country to refrain from wearing wide skirts."

A large number of women professors are holding chairs in different universities of Germany and they have men among their students.

If she will consent to dispense with her trunk and ride a pack mule, Miss Anna Smith will be employed as a school teacher at Hamburg, Cal.

Owing to the inability to secure male labor, over 400 women school teachers in Glasgow, Scotland, have agreed to pick this year's raspberry crop.

Mrs. Manando McCabe, of Logansport, Ind., has been declared insane because she is under the hallucination that she is the "Queen of the Movies."

The rules committee of the Chicago board of education has adopted a rule which precludes teachers from becoming members of any federated organizations.

The twelve states in which women now vote control twenty-one of the 266 electoral college votes necessary for a choice in determining who is to be the president of the United States in 1917.

About 25 per cent. of the experienced adult women employed in Portland, Ore., stores receive less than $9.25 per week before the minimum wage determination, and 50 per cent. receive more than that amount.

Under the terms of the new Pennsylvania labor law, the state will be divided into districts, each having a superintendent and a council of six persons, of which one member of each council must be a woman.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF VASSAR
FOURTH GRADE, N. Y. Oct. 11.—Delegates from practically every college and university in the United States and some from abroad, alumni from every state and several hundred other visitors, many of them famous in educational sections, were in Poughkeepsie today for the continuation of the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Vassar college, which was opened yesterday.

It's Wonderful How Resinol Stops Itching

To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other such skin eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap gives is perfectly incredible.

After all the suffering they have endured and all the useless treatments they have spent good money for, they cannot believe anything so simple, mild and inexpensive can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY!

And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook is a blessing in disguise in these times of high cost of living, for she is so very careful of every kind of left-over and sees that absolutely nothing goes to waste. She tells me that she has a covered crock in which she keeps her sour milk. She keeps adding to it even if only a teaspoon and always has enough on hand to make gingerbread, biscuits, cornbread and griddle cakes.

All pieces of dried cheese, no matter what kind, she grates and puts in a covered glass jar to use in a gratin dish. Whenever she has a ham bone she greatly improves the flavor of her pea soup by boiling it with the peas, and even a spoonful of leftover vegetables goes into a mixed salad or to make a vegetable soup with the addition of a little macaroni. She says that the great secret of re-heating baked beans is not to heat them too long as it makes them tough. Leftover meats are much more palatable if highly seasoned.

There are many tempting ways of serving dates besides plain and as a sweet. Cook often uses them as a filling for sandwiches. She takes two cups of dates, runs them through a meat chopper, then adds a cup of peanut butter and blends them together. Then she spreads the paste between slices of white bread.

She also uses dates in baked custard, in tapioca and as filling for cookies, pies and cake. Mixed with apples, celery and nuts they make a delicious salad. To use dates as a pudding cooked with rice add to a quart of milk a cup of stoned dates and a quarter of a cup of rice. Sweeten and bake in a slow oven.

Cook keeps in her cold closet an assortment of pastes and butters that are used so much in preparing relishes for the tea after dinner suppers and bridge parties. She has them ready in small, labeled glass jars, and tid bits and sauces can be made at a moment's notice. Here are a few of her best recipes:

Sardine butter—Rub skinned and boned sardines to a paste and then gradually blend, with a little lemon juice, with fresh butter. Orange and lemon juice may be added to butter to give it very desirable sandwich flavor. Orange butter for afternoon tea sandwiches can be mixed with chopped nuts and figs or any sweet filling. Grated orange rind too is good to add to the butter.

Olives may be ground in a vegetable chopper, and mashed to a paste and creamed into butter. Capers are chopped and creamed with butter and either of these can be used on broiled chops or beefsteaks, as sandwich butters, or on green peas or string beans to improve their flavor.

Cook makes the most delicious potato rolls you ever tasted, at least, so we think. This is her recipe: One cup of flour, one cup of warm mashed potatoes, three-fourths of a cup of lard, one cup of scalded milk, two well-beaten eggs, one half cup of sugar, one half teaspoon of salt, one cake of compressed yeast and one half cup of lukewarm water.

Mix the lard with the flour, potatoes, sugar and salt. Add the eggs well beaten, the milk and the yeast cake dissolved in the water. Let rise for two hours, then add six cups of flour, and let rise for one and a half hours. Knead, roll out and cut with a biscuit cutter, and fold over like Parker House rolls. Lay on a buttered baking tin and let rise for one and a half hours. Bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

Now is the time to look over the house and see what is necessary to do to repair the ravages of the summer sun and dust. It is a good idea, says Cook, to clean the glass over pictures with a cloth wrung from hot water and dipped in alcohol. Polish them immediately until they are dry and glossy, with camellia or tissue paper.

She says to rub leather chairs with a little fresh milk to prevent cracks in the leather. Do this about once a week. Wiping spread on a damp damped cloth will remove all spots from painted wood without hurting the surface and without tiring the arm which applies it.

Often when a house has been closed all summer the iron sink becomes rusty. It can be cleaned with mutton tallow. Cover the tallow with quicklime and leave it on overnight. The lime and tallow should then be rubbed off with an old sink brush and the sink should then be washed with a hot soda water. The lime should not be allowed to touch the hands.

To make grape jelly, cook says to wash grapes that are not overripe and take them from the stems. To each quart of grapes add one cup of water and bring them slowly to a boil. Let them cook thirty minutes. Pour them into a bag of strong muslin, not very heavy, which has been dipped into boiling water. Tie the bag so it will hang over a bowl and let the juice drip for six or eight hours or overnight.

Measure the juice and take an equal quantity of sugar. While the juice is boiling for fifteen minutes, heat the sugar in a slow oven, stirring it occasionally. Add it to the boiling juice and let it continue boiling for five minutes more. Skim it well and pour it into sterilized jelly glasses. When cold and firm seal with melted paraffin poured over the top.

Nemo WONDERLIFT SELF-REDUCING
SELF-HELP FOR ALL WOMEN FOR STOUT WOMEN

Every Nemo is an extra value simply as a corset. For the hygienic features, which are priceless, you pay nothing extra.

"I Will Keep This Corset On—Send the Old One Home!"

SO say thousands of women when fitted in a "Self-Help" Nemo Wonderlift Corset. They don't want to lose, even for a minute, the relief and supreme comfort this corset marvel instantly gives; and that's the highest form of approval.

Of the vast host of women who got acquainted with the Wonderlift during last week's "Self-Help" Exposition, it is safe to say that nine out of ten will never be satisfied to wear any other corset.

Nemo SELF-REDUCING Corsets, introduced nearly twenty years ago, have steadily gained in popularity, and now are worn by millions of women throughout the civilized world.

The Nemo WONDERLIFT Corsets also will make a place of their own, furnishing a different service and appealing to other millions of women who do not require the Self-Reducing service.

There are basic differences between the Nemo WONDERLIFT Corsets and the Nemo SELF-REDUCING Corsets. Examples of each are pictured above.

WONDERLIFT
For women of every figure, from slight to extra-full. The Wonderlift Bandlet uplifts, supports and holds in place the vital abdominal organs, thus preventing, relieving and often curing the ills peculiar to women. This corset is a distinct boon and blessing to all womankind.

No. 555—For tall full figures; high, full bust and back; medium skirt. Fine white coutil; sizes 24 to 36—$5.00.

No. 554—Same, but for short full figures—$5.00.

No. 556—For slender and medium figures, in sizes from 20 up. Of fine, light strong coutil—$5.00.

SELF-REDUCING
Made expressly for stout women, to reduce the size and weight of the figure and support the abdomen. The Self-Reducing Idea has been developed into such a variety of models that every stout woman, no matter how difficult her figure, can be correctly corseted. For example:

No. 322—For average stout figures; medium bust and skirt; elastic Lasticure back. No. 326, same, for taller figures—$3.00.

No. 344—For full figure of medium height; has "invisible" Self-Reducing Straps. No. 345, same, for taller full figures—$3.00.

RED SOX EVEN UP SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The Boston Americans won Saturday's game in the ninth inning. Pres. Wilson saw the champions of the American league turn back the Philadelphia club by a score of two to one in the second game of the series. The crowd of 20,306 people saw George Foster turn back the National league pennant winners from the plate and then to put a fitting cap on the climax of his game Paskert drove in the winning run in the ninth inning with a hot single to center. The Boston Red Sox made 16 hits but Mayor Baker kept them fairly well mated.

President Wilson was given an ovation as he left the field. The official figures of receipts and attendance: Total 20,306; receipts, $52.18; National commission share, $5.12; 50c; players, $28,655.66.

First Inning
Boston: President Wilson threw out the ball to Pitcher Mayer. The ball was then returned by Umpire Haggerty. President Wilson, however, protested second strike claiming ball too high. Hooper walked, Mayer's curve breaking wide of the plate. Scott fouled out to Luderus, trying to bunt. Mayer tried to pick Hooper off first. Ball two was a pitchout, but Hooper out-guessed Mayer and stayed in. Speaker struck a terrific liner to right for a base, Hooper going to third. Speaker out stealing. Burns to Niehoff, but on the return throw to the plate Burns dropped the ball and Hooper was safe, scoring Boston's first run. Hoblitzel singled to center. Hoblitzel out stealing. Burns to Niehoff.

Second Inning
Boston: Umpire Rigler went over to Boston players' bench and ordered a moving picture man away. Lewis fanned, Mayer's underhand ball baffling the Boston batsman. Gardner singled to center. The crowd shouted for a home run. Cravath struck out, missing a fast one for the third strike. Foster had a hushel of speed and a quick drop. Luderus also struck out. Scott threw out Whitted at first. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Third Inning
Boston: Foster struck out, Burns to Luderus, Burns dropping the third strike. Hooper fanned. Scott fanned. Mayer was given a big hand as he walked to the home bench. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Fourth Inning
Boston: Speaker flied out to Bancroft. Hoblitzel out to Luderus, unassisted. Lewis got a single over second, which Niehoff was just able to knock down. Lewis outgassed Mayer on his pitchout. Gardner out on a fly to Whitted, who had to make a hard run for the foul line to make the catch. No runs; one hit; no errors.

Fifth Inning
Boston: Barry out, Scott to Luderus. It was a smart stop by Scott and President Wilson clapped his hands. Thomas out to Luderus. Foster got a double against the right field fence. It was the first extra base hit of the series. Hooper walked. He was promptly passed. Scott flied out to Whitted. No runs; one hit; no errors.

Sixth Inning
Boston: Speaker flied out to Bancroft. Hoblitzel flied out to Niehoff. On the second strike, Lewis hit on a wide curve. Lewis fanned. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Seventh Inning
Boston: Gardner flied out to Whitted. Barry singled sharply to left. Thomas forced Barry at second, Mayer to Bancroft to Niehoff. Foster singled to left, Thomas going to second. Janvrin ran for Thomas. Hooper scratched an infield single, filling the bases. Niehoff batted for Scott. Haggerty popped out to Luderus. No runs; three hits; no errors.

Eighth Inning
Boston: Speaker out, Luderus to Mayer. Hoblitzel flied out to Cravath. Bancroft threw out Lewis at first. Bancroft speared the ball with his gloved hand as it was bounding over the second bag and then made a line throw to first. It was a sparkling play. No runs; no hits; no errors.

Ninth Inning
Boston: Gardner singled to left. Barry flied out to Paskert. Janvrin out to Luderus on a close play. Gardner went to second. Gardner scored on Foster's single to center and second too late to get Belleville. Marcotte shot the ball to first and Dion by making a pretty catch of a bad throw got Lyons at first. Jenkins struck out.

Fifth Inning
In Lawrence's half, both of the Marcottes struck out. Abrams hit across second base and Gallagher made a big league stop and threw him out at first.

Sixth Inning
O'Dea got a scratch hit and went to first base on S. Green's bad throw to first. Haggerty hit in front of the plate and Monahan, making a bluff to throw to first, fooled O'Dea, who started for home and O'Dea was out. Belleville hit a hot grounder to Abrams, who threw him out at first, and Haggerty was thrown out for a double play.

Seventh Inning
Devlin fanned. Lyons hit to M. Marcotte and went out at first. Jenkins singled to center but was caught trying to steal second.

Eighth Inning
Once more the South Ends got three on bases and failed to score. Green flied to Riley. McGreevey got an infield hit and Gallagher was hit by a pitched ball. O'Dea struck out. At this point Dowd went in to run for McGreevey and Scott went to bat for Haggerty. He got hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Belleville went out on a line drive to McGreevey.

Ninth Inning

TWO SPIRITED SCENES IN FIRST GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES, AND PHILLIES' STERLING TWIRLER

each inning from the first to the eighth—but when men were on base he was invincible. Only once during the game did the Red Sox threaten to humiliate the great Alex. in the eighth inning, when they scored their lone tally. Dode Paskert saved the game in this period by a wonderful catch of Gardner's bid for a home run. Alexander's teammates, though they only worked Shore for five hits, four of which were of the scratch variety, claimed the scoring runs thrice—once in the fourth and twice in the eighth. Two errors beat Shore. He was himself guilty of one of them, and the other was charged to Everett Scott, in the short field. Both were of omission, and they seemed to have an effect on the playing of the whole team.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

A movement is now on foot to organize the hotel and restaurant employees. Organizer Durnin has the work in charge.

Loomfixers' union will hold a very important meeting in Carpenters' hall, Runels building, tonight.

James Sims, overseer of the tinner room at the Farwell Bleachery, Lawrence, Mass., has severed his connection with that concern.

Martin Dacey, the prominent restaurant man, will be a prominent figure at the coming dancing party to be conducted by the Fairmount campers.

The Fall River Iron Works, the big Borden mills, have a capacity of 176,000,000 yards annually, or about 100,000 miles of cloth.

Arthur N. Sheldon, a textile engineer of Providence, R. I., wants the textile schools of the country placed on a par with the universities.

Patrick Flannery of the Bigelow, Hartford Carpet Co. states that he will throw a bombshell into the meeting of the Four of Clubs tonight with a very important announcement.

Patrick Sullivan, who resigned his position as overseer of wet finishing at the Merrimack Woolen Co., some time ago, has accepted a similar position with the Allen Woolen mills in Rochester, N. Y.

A huge loading platform is to be built for the American Steam Gauge and Valve Co. at a cost of $2,500. The American Steam Gauge and Valve Co. will shortly occupy the old Patterson rubber plant and will manufacture shrinkable shells.

The representation from the U. S. Cartridge company's special police force emerged triumphant over the clerk's team in the bowling match staged on a local alley last Friday night. Officer Ginnell shone for the victors with a high single and high total to his credit.

Frank "Son" Egan, a well known Lowell boy, has been appointed a local inspector of the Bethlehem Steel company, which is having some of its product manufactured at the U. S. Cartridge company.

As was indicated in The Sun over five months ago the Bigelow-Hartford company's business in this city is practically gone and the last of the machinery will be transferred either to Clinton or Thompsonville within a few weeks.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon, of the United Textile Workers, conferred with representatives of the Nashua Manufacturing company strikers' committee on Saturday. Mr. McMahon is of the opinion that the strike will be of short duration.

Thomas Morrison, the new secretary of the Trades & Labor council has been a member of a labor organization for a number of years. For the past few years he has been engaged as assistant to Secretary Charles E. Anderson and therefore is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office he has been elected to.

In the election of William Hunt as custodian of the union headquarters in Middle street, the body has pleased the members. Mr. Hunt is a hardworking and painstaking official and is fully deserving of the position.

Several labor meetings will be held tonight on account of tomorrow being a holiday, while others will be allowed to slip over for another week.

Many of the local mill and factory employees will enjoy the holiday tomorrow by attending the fourth game of the world's series in the club. Quite a number of men have secured tickets but those less fortunate will have to buck the line with the rest of the rooters.

The City Bowling league will start its schedule Wednesday evening of this week. "Kempton," the husky fireman, will again be seen in the lineup of one of the teams and according to the statements of his friends, not a few records will be smashed, after he hits his proper stride.

The labor and health departments at the U. S. Cartridge Co., which have been in operation for some time have proven eminently satisfactory. An up-to-date restaurant, which will offer reliable food at low cost, will soon be established in the new addition to the main building.

Robert Place, superintendent of the Flint mills, Fall River, Mass., has been appointed by Governor Walsh as a trustee of the Bradford-Durfee Textile school, to replace the late James E. Cunnison. The appointment meets with general satisfaction and prominent mill men say the chief executive of the state couldn't have made a better selection.

The Parkhill baseball team, composed of employees of the Parkhill Manufacturing Co., Fitchburg, Mass., has won the championship of that city by winning 12 out of 15 games. The team received the most enthusiastic and loyal support from the mill owners and employees of the mills.

The republic of Argentina is reported as having all its textile mills busy making cloths for Europe, one company alone having turned out over 6,000 yards a day. Large quantities of white blankets for hospital use, dark colored blankets for the soldiers and khaki colored blankets for the use of the officers are only a few of the articles of war that the mills of Argentina are making just now.

Francis D. Garrity, of a well known Middle street plumbing and steamfitting establishment, promised the boys a violin concert for last night, but he failed to show up with the machine although his friends waited patiently for him to make his appearance. Probably he went looking for his chum who attended one of the big shops in Boston, Saturday night.

A newspaper report commenting upon the work of Andrew Griffin, a well known mill man, says: "Supervising the work of two mills more than 100 miles apart is the unusual feat now being performed by Andrew J. Griffin of North Adams, Mass., who is regarded as one of the leading woolen and worsted manufacturers in New England. Mr. Griffin, who has been agent of the Hosiery Worsted mills in North Adams for the past five years, recently assumed the agency of the Daniels Worsted mills in West Rockland, and is now running both concerns although they are widely separated."

Retail Clerks' Union.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Retail Clerks' union was held yesterday afternoon in Carpenters' hall, Runels building, with a large gathering of members in attendance. Oswald Bertrand, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. Frank Warnock, president of the Trades and Labor council, gave a very instructive discourse on the reason why the organization should affiliate itself with the American Federation of Labor and what benefits would be derived by accomplishing such a move. Reasons why such affiliation would be of benefit through the bettering of working and financial conditions was stated by Organizer N. J. Nally, who also spoke of the results obtained by similar organizations in various parts of the country. Charles E. Anderson, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor, spoke on the formation of the federation and told how it has grown from 30,000 members to its present size, numbering nearly 2,000,000. He also endeavored to show the benefits the clerks would receive by affiliating with the main labor body. Another meeting of the organization will be held on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, at Trades and Labor hall, at which this matter will be acted upon.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

MAN WHO INVESTIGATED LABOR TROUBLES IN COLORADO IS THE SPEAKER AT GRACE CHURCH

The speaker at the Grace church Public Forum, Sunday night, was Henry A. Atkinson of Boston, who went to Colorado as a representative of church social service organizations to investigate the labor war.

It was on demand of the women the speaker said, that United States troops were sent to Colorado to restore order, and from that time on there was no violence.

The speaker maintained that the trouble in the first place was due to the undemocratic attitude of the operators, who refused to meet the men in conference and listen to their grievances. "If John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had gone to Colorado a year ago last June and done then what he has done now, they would have come together and there would have been no Ludlow massacre."

He also spoke of the attitude of the coal companies toward the laws. Colorado, he said, has the best laws of any state where there is any considerable amount of mining; but the operators ignore them. This was shown by extracts from the annual report of the state mine inspector.

Also, the coal companies have political control. The reason that Ludlow was destroyed was because the miners put out the operators in the preceding election. Whenever a situation developed, where the companies could not have what they wanted, they manipulated the political strings so that they got that thing. They show absolute disregard of the needs of humanity.

The claim has been made, he said, that the men are ignorant; that if we knew the kind of men the operators have to deal with, we would understand the situation better. They are ignorant, he admitted; but these strikes have been occurring at intervals of 10 years, right along. The demands in each case have been practically the same and have been met in the same way; and the strikers of today are the strike breakers of 10 years ago. They were brought in, not by the miners, but by the coal companies.

CARD OF THANKS

We the undersigned take this means to express our gratefulness to our kind relatives and friends who in our time of grief, helped by their kind words of consolation and their floral tributes to lighten our burden of sorrow. Each and all shall be ever remembered.

Prominent periodicals everywhere are daily exposing the harmful effects of the drug, caffeine, in coffee.

Physicians, food experts, medical writers and editors largely agree that the cumulative effect of the 2½ grains of caffeine in the average cup of coffee is responsible for the many troubles, such as sleeplessness, nervous prostration, heart palpitation, indigestion, etc., that subtly beset most regular coffee drinkers.

Some people seemingly hold up under regular coffee drinking without serious results; but modern thinkers, with respect for the fundamentals of health and longevity, are daily changing to

THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Red Sox and Phillies Meet on Braves Field, Boston—Thousands in Line Before Game

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans, meeting at Braves Field in the third game of the world series today had as a setting for their championship activities a crowd which officials predicted would prove to be the greatest paid attendance in the history of the game. The teams had changed over Sunday from the Phillies park, the smallest ball yard in the major league to the biggest grounds in the country. For two days Braves Field will be the scene of action with the resulting prospect that both financially and in the number of spectators this will be a record series. To date the attendance is behind that of last year, but the amount of money received is in advance of previous figures.

Perfect Weather
Every element of interest possible in advance was present to draw out today's tremendous throng. The weather, first consideration to many followers of baseball, was as fair as a midsummer day. Although the morning was frosty, the unclouded sun promised a touch of warmth to blunt the edge of the first autumn breeze. The forecaster's prediction that the temperature would rise about noon added to the probabilities of a typical baseball atmosphere for the post-season contest.

"Crucial" Contest Today
Red Sox and Phillies went into the third game with honors even and with the interest as keen for the re-opening of the series in this city as it was for the start at Philadelphia. By some observers today's game was termed "crucial," particularly in its bearing on the plans of Manager Moran.

The Pitchers
It was regarded as a certainty that he would be forced to send his leading pitcher, Alexander, against the Red Sox in the first game of the series on Friday, in order to gain the advantage which today's game will give the winner. Alexander defeated would mean a narrowing of Philadelphia's chances to slender proportions. Alexander again successful would give the Philadelphia manager an opportunity to seek pitching assistance tomorrow from a second string man, probably Chalmers, with the star of the staff ready to be called upon for a third game on Wednesday.

Alexander Great Attraction
Alexander's appearance alone was an attraction to the crowd but with it was coupled the semi-official word from Manager Carrigan of the Red Sox that "Dutch" Leonard, the youthful southpaw, would pitch for Boston. When in shape, Leonard has been looked upon as the best pitcher on the Red Sox staff.

His delivery contains more twists and turns to baffle batters than does that of any other of the Boston pitchers. He has not been used previously in the series for the reason, it is believed, of the possible danger that lay in the short fences at the Phillies park and the fact that eight of the nine Philadelphia batters are regarded as having an advantage over left-handed pitchers by batting right handed. Leonard is the only Philly player who bats from the left against a pitcher serving from that side.

Carrigan in Game
Manager Carrigan, however, convinced by the eight hits which his players obtained off Alexander in the first game that they had more than an even chance to defeat him, thought that Leonard would do better than hold his own on Braves Field. Here the broad reaches of the outfield give ample play to the swift feet of the Red Sox secondary defense, Lewis, Speaker and Hooper and they are depended upon to gather in many long flies that would go as hits on smaller fields. The outfield of these three men on Braves Field was considered likely to add to the helping features of the series, most of which so far have developed within the inner circle.

Final decision by Manager Carrigan to send Leonard to the pitching box was expected to bring the manager himself into the game. He has caught Leonard's delivery most of the season, and results have shown that his directions add greatly to the pitcher's efficiency.

The assignment of umpires today was expected to bring "Slick" O'Loughlin of the American league behind the plate. Klem of the National league on the base decisions, and Evans of the American league and Rigger of the National league to judge the fall of balls in the outfield.

The series to date has been marked by almost entire harmony between the players and arbitrators. A few remarks which Whitte exchanged with Umpire Klem in the opening game were followed by notice to the Philadelphia player that they had cost him $25 but the incident passed unnoticed at the time, and none similar has developed.

In Line All Night
The crowd, which it was thought, would exceed 45,000 persons by game time, had its beginnings in a little knot of people who gathered at the gates last evening. Irregular lines formed at times during the night, but a nip in the air forced many to take exercise. Some, however, seemed impervious to the weather and improvising beds out of planks, newspapers, overcoats or chairs, went to sleep on the threshold of the park. Daybreak found a group of somewhat

Once more the Buntings demonstrated the determination to win the Soccer League pennant when on Saturday at Bunting park they defeated the strong Clan McPherson team of Lawrence by a score of 2 to 1.

The visitors won the toss and the Buntings had to face the wind and sun. At 32 Referee Wilkinson started the game, Greenhalge setting the ball in motion. The Bunting forwards got well down the field but Hackney drove them back with a well placed kick. Glifford started a nice passing movement by sending the ball to Mitchell who in turn sent out a wide pass to Clegg who centered on the run. Greenhalge drove hard for a goal. Hackney cleared his lines in fine style. Not to be outdone the Buntings came back to the attack. Kelly transferring the ball to Wallace who ran around Matheson and passed the ball to Taylor who shot a good save. The Clans came away with a burst, Curry fastening on the ball and sending over a good pass to Stewart who raced past Marriott, but shot behind. From the goal kick Lowe received the ball and being tackled by gentle hands sent out a wide pass to Taylor who transferred to Taylor. But Hamilton came to the rescue and relieved with a huge kick. A fine piece of combination work started at this point. Curry rounding Kelly and swinging the ball over to Patten who put on a great spurt and sending over a nice shot but the goalie was safe as the bank of England. Bunting came back to the attack, Mitchell receiving the ball and passing it to Clegg who ran around Bmslie and sent over a perfect center. Greenhalge fastened on the ball and raced past Hamilton and he opened the scoring from the ten yards range.

Clans Get Busy
The reverse put new life into the Clans. Stewart raced past Marriott but shot wide of the goal from the goal kick. Mangman received the ball and passing on to Wendle who sent over a perfect center. Brown tied the score with a brilliant shot. From the kick-off the Buntings swarmed around the Clans goal, Wallace shooting well. Matheson placed a corner which was placed behind. From the goal kick Glifford received the ball and passed to Mitchell who swung out to Wallace. The latter ran around Hamilton and then passed the ball to Taylor, Matheson fouling Taylor. A penalty was given Bunting and Mitchell was called upon to take the kick. To everybody's dismay he shot wide. The Buntings came back to the attack by brilliant work by Clegg and Mitchell. Hackney, who was playing a great defensive game, drove them back. Half time was then called.

Marriott Injured

The second half opened in favor of the Clans Curry shooting well, but the goalie was equal to the occasion. The Bunting boys got busy and Clegg raced down the field crossing the ball to Wallace heading next the post. Lowe received the ball from the goal kick and passed on to Taylor who shot with great force. Deyrsmith made a wonderful save and also saving from Clegg, Mitchell and Greenhalge in succession which brought forth volumes of applause. Clegg got away but Hackney cleared his lines. Then the Clans came away, Curry sending out to Brown. Marriott in clearing fell and dislocated his arm and was carried off the field, suffering great pain. This was a hard blow to the Buntings who had to finish the game with a man short. The Clans pressed for some time afterward but found A. Smith as solid as a rock. The Clans then started the kick and rush game, the goalie being obliged to run out on three occasions to clear his lines. Mangman kicking the ball well up the field, Curry raced past Smith and from four yards raced past with great force but J. Smith brought off a brilliant save and was cheered to the echo. The Buntings came away through Wallace and passing on to Taylor who in turn passed the ball to Greenhalge who gave the Buntings the lead with a shot that couldn't be stopped. Greenhalge was showered with congratulations. The Clans came away on the kickoff but were driven back by Glifford who was playing great ball, at this point showing up as the best half back on the field defending and feeling his wing with beautiful passes. Clegg got away and showing a clean pair of heels, swung the ball to Taylor heading over the bar. Shortly afterward time was called and the Buntings were the winners by a score of 2 to 1. The lineup:

Buntings: J. Smith, J. Marriott, and A. Smith, H. Lowe, W. Kelly, (Capt.) W. Glifford, J. Wallace, T. J. Taylor, J. Greenhalge, W. Mitchell, S. Clegg.

Clans: Deyrsmith, Hackney, Matheson, Hamilton, Mangman, Bmslie, Wendle, Patton, Currie, Brown and Stewart.

Bunting Notes

Joe Marriott, who was injured during the game was removed to the hospital and probably will not play again this season. The club will tender him a benefit later.

The president of the New Bedford Soccer club was on the ground and at the close of the first half made an attractive proposition to Capt. Kelly of the Buntings. But Kelly decided to remain with the Buntings and the fans are greatly rejoiced to learn that the popular and clever captain is to remain with the team.

more than 100 persons, most of them boys. The opening of the day car service caused the line to grow and every car swelled the crowd. By 7 o'clock special cars were coming to the grounds in the Allston district from all directions.

10,000 Dollar Seats

Most of those who waited sought seats in the third base bleachers. Those, at a dollar each, were as good as the reserved seats at first base for which $2 was charged. There were 10,000 dollar seats. Arrangements to care for the bleacherites at 50 cents each provided for the admission of about 8000, more than half of whom were forced to stand behind a fence stretched along the farthest recess in centre field.

25,000 Reserved Seats

Although all the 25,000 reserved seats had been assigned in advance, not all had been called for when the ticket offices closed last night, and there was unexpected opportunity to get choice places at the eleventh hour. Announcement to this effect in the morning papers brought early to the field several automobile parties, members of which took turns standing in the lines. A further opportunity for positions in the grand stand was offered by the sale of about 4000 admissions, entitling the purchasers to stand in the rear spaces of the stand.

400 Policemen on Duty

These numerous provisions for the public reduced the value of such tickets as the speculators had been able to procure and the traffic in seats today was almost negligible. A few vendors were arrested by plain clothes officers, who formed part of the force of 400 policemen which Supt. Michael H. Crowley directed in various activities in and about the field.

THEY WANT NEW CHURCH

FRENCH RESIDENTS OF PAWTUCKETVILLE TO ASK CARDINAL FOR ONE

A mass meeting of the French-American residents of Pawtucketville to the interest of the establishment of a French Catholic church in the district was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street. The attendance, which was composed of men numbered about 150 and all expressed themselves in favor of the project and at the close of the meeting a committee was appointed to wait upon Cardinal O'Connell and pray him to assign one or two French Catholic clergymen to the Pawtucketville district.

The meeting was opened shortly after 2:15 o'clock by J. S. Lippe, who was later chosen chairman of the meeting. Mr. Lippe, in opening, explained the purpose of the gathering, saying many believed the time had come for the establishment of a church in that part of the city. He spoke of the census taken by a committee some two years ago, which at that time showed the district to contain about 400 families or about 1200 souls. He said since that census was taken about 100 more families moved into the locality, which brings the number of residents up to about 1500.

The election of a chairman and secretary then followed and Mr. Lippe and Joseph Sawyer were chosen to the respective positions. Mr. Sawyer in behalf of the old committee reported what had been done two years ago. He said his Finance Cardinal O'Connell was seen at that time and the question of the establishment of a church in Pawtucketville was brought to his attention. The cardinal was supplied with data concerning the number of families in the district as well as with a list of subscribers, the amount reaching about $5,000. The cardinal informed the committee he would take the matter under advisement and the committee is still awaiting his reply.

Olivia Poirier, Roderick Descheneaux, J. W. Alexander, Merit Peltier, Joseph Payette, Mr. Proulx and other spoke in favor of the project. Incidentally it was mentioned that the clergy of St. Joseph's parish would not interfere with the movement which is left to His Eminence the cardinal to decide after hearing the facts in the case. Finally it was voted to empower the committee to wait once more upon the cardinal and submit the request of the residents of Pawtucketville. The committee is composed of the following: J. S. Lippe, chairman; Joseph Sawyer, secretary; Olivia Poirier, Merit Peltier, Joseph Payette and T. H. Brassard.

Simple Way to Have Beautiful Wavy Hair

Lustrous, fluffy, wavy hair plays an important part in the scheme of beauty. A heated iron should not be used to dry the hair, for it is the cause of its destruction. The life, lustre and softness of the hair. It is far better to use plain liquid silmering, which curls the hair more effectively, more easily, and at the same time keeps it beautifully soft, "light" and elastic. It is beneficial instead of harmful, and it is such a simple thing to apply before the hair is dried, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose of drawing this down the hair from root to tip. Very different from the tiresome, fussy, odorous curling from method.

Pure silmering in liquid form may be used in any drug store and a few ounces will last a very long time. It is neither sticky, greasy, and leaves no sediment, spots or streaks. The hair will be quite manageable, no matter what the style of coiffure.

ABERDEENS IN BOSTON

Earl and Countess Given Fine Reception—Sketch of Their Work—Lecture on Ireland

Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who are being entertained for five days by committees of Boston men and women, spent an exceedingly busy day yesterday. Beginning with their arrival at 7 a. m. and ending at a late hour when the last visitors of the day departed from their reception room at the Copley-Plaza.

The committee that greeted them was made up mostly of Irish-Americans anxious to show their gratitude to the distinguished couple for their anthropic service to Ireland.

The committee which escorted the distinguished visitors from the South station to the hotel comprised P. A. O'Connell, chairman, and J. W. Reardon, secretary of the general committee; Joseph A. Donnelly, chairman of the reception committee; ex-Asst.-Dist.-Atty. Michael J. Dwyer and Timothy J. Falvey.

The earl and countess attended morning service at Trinity church, conducted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann. After the service they had a pleasant conference with Dr. Mann, and the earl complimented the rector upon his "interesting and eloquent sermon."

Lady Aberdeen said that in the various cities she is to visit in this country her chief interest will be the acquisition of information in regard to the "child welfare" movement, a branch of which in Ireland has received much attention from her for the last 10 or 12 years, as has also the movement for the eradication of tuberculosis.

The result in Ireland has been a great reduction of infant mortality, and within the last seven years a drop of 50 a week in the total death rate of both infants and adults. The British government is now giving financial aid to the child welfare movement, features of which are mothers' clubs and pure milk depots.

Though averse to discussing the war, Lord Aberdeen spoke of the distinction which many Irishmen have won in it, saying that in Ireland has received much attention from her for the last 10 or 12 years, as has also the movement for the eradication of tuberculosis.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If Peevish, Feverish and Sick, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile, and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

At 7 p. m. a banquet will be tendered the visitors at the Copley-Plaza, a reception being held during the preceding half-hour. Other guests will be Gov. Walsh, Mayor Curley, Cardinal O'Connell, President Lowell of Harvard and President MacLaurin of Tech.

A feature of the visit hitherto unannounced is an address to the students at Harvard to be delivered by Lord Aberdeen on Friday. Next week Lord and Lady Aberdeen are to be in Toronto, where the countess will attend a conference of the national council of women, of which the Duchess of Connaught is honorary president and Lady Aberdeen advisory president.

Lord Aberdeen is the seventh earl of that name, the owner of an estate of 65,000 acres in Aberdeenshire, Scotland. He was born in 1847, son of a British prime minister, was lord lieutenant of Ireland in 1895, governor-general of Canada from 1897 to 1905 and again lord lieutenant of Ireland for 10 years ending last February. He has been lord lieutenant of Aberdeenshire for 35 years.

Lady Aberdeen was Isabel Maria Marjoribanks, daughter of Baron Tweedmouth. Her brother, the present baron, is the husband of a sister of the present Duke of Marlborough. She was married to Lord Aberdeen in 1871.

To Lecture on Ireland

His first formal appearance as a speaker will be his lecture in Tremont Temple Wednesday evening on "The Reminiscences of a Vicarage." Lady Aberdeen will also speak at this meeting upon the topic, "Ireland, Onward and Upward." Lady Aberdeen has been an ardent advocate of home rule for Ireland for 20 years.

Incidental to their visit to this country is a series of interesting lectures commending them to the good offices of friends in this country to Ireland.

John E. Redmond wrote under date of Sept. 17:

"Dear Lady Aberdeen: 'I have received your letter of the 15th inst. and I am rejoiced to hear that you are about to visit America and Canada in the interest of your public health movement, which has undoubtedly done a great deal of good in Ireland.'"

"Especially I commend that portion of your work which deals with infant mortality. I need not say I wish you every success in your mission and I feel sure that all my friends in the United States will give you their assistance."

Cardinal Logue writing from Armagh before the departure of the countess, said: "My Dear Lady Aberdeen—I have great pleasure in testifying, with gratitude, to the good work which you have done on behalf of our people during the whole period of the Marjoribanks-Aberdeens visit. You have been indefatigable in your efforts to promote every philanthropic project; but your fight against tuberculosis through the 'Women's Health Association' and otherwise, and the success which you have achieved in that important work merit special gratitude."

"Even when your official connection with the country has ceased, for the time at least, you have not relaxed your efforts or lost your interest in promoting the success of the important movement which owes so much of its progress to your zeal and ceaseless labor."

IN POLICE COURT

Larceny From Pollard Co.'s Store—House Broken Into

Claiming that on last Saturday he made his first visit to a big department store since coming to this country and that he did not know how to make a purchase, Peter Nasutwitz stoutly denied that he was guilty of stealing one hat valued at 38 cents from the A. G. Bellard Co. when arrested before Associate Justice Fisher in the local court this forenoon.

The evidence offered by the government, through Prosecuting Officer Downey, was too convincing, however, and Peter was ordered to contribute a $10 note for his misdemeanor.

A clerk in the Pollard store testified that about noon on Saturday last, the defendant entered the basement of the store and stepped up to the hat counter. He selected a "model 1915" derby and putting it on his head, threw his old cap on the floor and started to walk up the stairs. A tag hanging from the back of the new hat proved too conspicuous and the clerk followed Peter and apprehended him half way up the stairs.

Testifying in his own behalf, the defendant said that he had not been in this country long and was not accustomed to the system of the big stores. He said when he picked up the hat he planned to go to the office and deposit a one dollar bill and get back two pennies. He could not explain why he started for the exit or the reason for dropping his cap on the floor and a finding of guilty was made.

Another alleged "shoplifter" was arrested in the Pollard store Saturday in the person of Vincent Veira, accused of stealing one shirt valued at 50 cents. After Vincent had pleaded guilty, Inspector Walsh told the court that the defendant lifted a shirt from a counter during the rush hours Saturday night but was caught in the act by a floor walker and taken to the police station. When asked his reason for committing the theft, Veira said he was drunk and did not realize what he was doing. He, too, was fined $10.

Accused of breaking and entering the dwelling of Elizabeth A. Parker on Varney street last Tuesday with intent to commit larceny, Frederick A. Groves, aged 17, was called before the court today. He pleaded guilty. Deputy Downey stated that two juveniles implicated in the break would be arraigned in the juvenile court Friday, and asked to have Groves' case continued until that date for disposition. This was agreed to by the court.

Alleged Larceny

Frank McGuinness of Boston was called on continuance charged with breaking and entering the camp of Emanuel Erickson at Pinehurst park, Billerica, and stealing six books, one wrench and two bits. He was represented today by George F. Toye, who waived examination in the local court. McGuinness was held in $300 for the grand jury. A warrant has also been issued for the arrest of McGuinness' companion, who, it is claimed, is in the Canadian army at the present time.

Nicholas Lemetrippe and Marion Burns, charged with a statutory offense, pleaded not guilty and had their cases continued to Saturday for trial. The woman was represented by Lawyer Toye.

The usual long list of Monday morning drunks greeted the court today, 12 being in the dock while a similar number was released by Probation Officer Shattery. In five cases suspended sentences were imposed. Benjamin Simpson, a locomotive engineer who was before the court Saturday, was arrested hanging around the depot Saturday night. After being warned that a man with his occupation should be the last in the world to touch liquor, he was sent to jail for 10 days to "sober up." In the other six cases small fines were ordered.

TEUTONS ATTACKING TO SOUTH OF BELGRADE

All the Austro-German forces gathered on the Danube front for the invasion of Serbia have crossed that river and the Teutons are attacking to the south of Belgrade, which they captured late last week, the Berlin war office announced today.

The Serbians are not expected by military observers in London to make a decided stand north of the mountains near Kraguyevatz about 50 miles south of Belgrade. These form an admirable defensive line, as was shown during the Austrian invasion last year.

The Teutonic occupation of Belgrade was made good after two days of desperate fighting in the streets of the city, according to descriptions telegraphed to Budapest. It is declared in these that the Serbians are retreating only step by step.

8900 Germans Dead

The Germans left dead estimated at between 7000 and 8000 in number in front of the allied lines after their ineffective assaults of the last few days in the vicinity of Loos, in northern France, according to today's statement of the French war office. It alludes to the outcome of the fighting as "a grave and costly check" to the Germans.

Artillery Engagements

Heavy artillery engagements north of La Scarpe and in the Champagne are the only activities on the western front mentioned in the official statement from Paris.

Greek Parliament Meets

Most important attaches to the meeting today of the Greek parliament, at which the new cabinet's declaration of future policy in connection with the war is expected. The alleged secret treaty between Germany and Bulgaria also is likely to be a subject of debate. The German legation at Athens denies the existence of such a treaty.

King Constantine III

King Constantine of Greece again is confined to his room, according to advices from Berlin.

Germans Destroy Belgrade

Paris gets reports that three-quarters of Belgrade, which now is in Teutonic hands, was destroyed by the shell fire of the Austrians and Germans whose drive into Serbia now is in full swing.

Allies at Saloniki

It is hinted in an Athens despatch that a much larger allied force than had been reported constitutes the expedition being landed at Saloniki for service at Serbia.

Bulgarians Digging Trenches

Reports from Bucharest are that Bulgarian troops are digging trenches near the Rumanian frontier and that artillery also has been brought up.

BRAYES FIELD, Boston, Oct. 11.—

The third game of the 1915 world's series was fought here this afternoon over the wonderful diamond and the wide green reaches of the largest and most beautiful baseball park in the world. It was a fine setting for the great battle that was to decide whether the Boston Red Sox or the desperately fighting Phillies should have the "jump" by taking the odd contest.

The chance from the tight little Philly park in the City of Brotherly Love to this wonder field was most striking. It seemed that the entire Philadelphia plant could be placed within the foul lines here and there would still be space left to keep Cravath's home runs in the lot.

It was a wonder day too, with not a cloud in the sky. An Indian summer sun by noon had driven away the chill in the early morning air. The waters of the historic Charles river, running beyond the park rippled in a lazy autumn breeze.

Ideal Playing Conditions

Never were conditions more ideal for a contest between the titled athletes of the two big baseball leagues, and the outpouring of the explosive human force early gave promise of a record breaking throng. Always one of the most enthusiastic ball towns in the country, Boston was all but "daffy" in a delirium of joy today over the prospect of a game that was expected to be a turning point in the great series that began in Philadelphia last Friday and was interrupted there on Saturday evening with honors even.

Alexander for Phillies

No little of the anticipatory excitement today was due to the fact that Grover Cleveland Alexander was to make his second start and attempt to haul the slugging Sox back for another defeat. The whole faith of the Phillies was wrapped up in "Alex" today and they confidently expected that last Friday's indifferent game had really just served to put "Alex" on edge for today and that he would prove far more effective for having had the experience of facing the red hoed warriors from Boston. On the other hand the Sox were just as confident that having once looked over all Alexander had to offer they no longer had any fear of him and were prepared to give his side-lung slants and fast breaking curves a "ride" to all parts of the field.

Leonard for Phillies

Manager Carrigan's early morning selection for pitcher was "Dutch" Leonard, the star pitcher of the American league. "Dutch" was anxious to log on his wife and sister against the hope of the Phillies and with these two master craftsmen in the box a half-raised pitching duel was looked forward to.

The Sox had all the advantage that goes with the home crowd and there were more than double the usual supporters on hand to cheer them than the Phillies could crowd into their yard on Broad street.

But the playing field itself was stronger to the Sox than to the Phillies, this home of the Braves having been selected in place of the American league park, because of its superior accommodations.

NASHUA STRIKE

Little Change in the Situation - Militia is Ready for Call

The strike situation at the plants of the Nashua Manufacturing Co. and the Jackson Manufacturing Co. seems to have undergone a decided change within the past few days and instead of the lawlessness which prevailed during the early part of last week, everything is now quiet and about everybody in the Gate city looks for an early settlement of the differences between the mill officials and their employees.

Lunch Cart Closed

Some excitement was caused late Saturday night when a number of strikers demanded that Harold Eaton, who conducts a lunch cart in West Pearl street, close up his place of business. Supplies, it is claimed have been carried from the lunch cart to the men working inside the plants for the past few days and the strikers had "spotted" him. He closed up when ordered to do so and no damage was done to the cart.

Militia Still on Guard

The companies of militia which were called out Friday are still under arms to be on hand in case of emergency. Saturday night the mill yards and walls were brilliantly lighted by powerful arc lights which were strung up during the day to make it impossible for anyone to enter and damage the property without detection either by the police or the regularly employed watchmen at the mills.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Carroll, of 30 Washington street are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

Archibald L. Lavallee, of 11 Gate street, has returned from a pleasant two months' trip to Canada.

STOLEN P. O. ORDERS PASSED BY THIEVES

Notifications have been sent to Postmaster John F. Meehan from the inspectors' department of the U. S. postal service requesting him to warn the business men and merchants of this city against accepting money orders stolen from postoffices in this section of the country. It is known that money order blanks stolen from New Jersey have been filled out and passed in Boston and that the culprits have recently been very near Lowell. Blanks have also been stolen from a New Hampshire postoffice recently and it is probable that the person who now holds the orders will attempt to use them soon. The money order stamps and type were also taken.

Money order blanks 2569 to 2800, inclusive, were stolen from the postoffice at Leonard, N. J., on Sept. 9. A young man representing himself as Arthur C. Cox of the National Law and Reporting agency of Chicago, Ill., passed several of these stolen orders in Boston last Thursday and from information secured by the postal inspectors he is still in this vicinity. He cashed two money orders in a Boston jewelry store, buying a birthday gift which he claimed was for a lady friend. He also purchased a ticket for San Francisco tendering two money orders and securing $38.25. His method was to have the money orders made out so that there would be some amount due him after the purchase had been made.

Two more orders stolen from the New Jersey office were cashed at the Bristol hotel, Washington, D. C. Here the young man presented a business card bearing the name of M. J. Wazman of New York, on the back of which was written a letter of introduction. In each case the name of A. A. Hardy was used as the remitter.

When in Washington the much wanted man wore a U. S. marine khaki uniform, regulation hat, brown leggings and tan shoes. With the money order cashed in Washington he bought a blue suit and has since been seen wearing a grey suit. He is described as being about 32 years old, five feet nine inches in height, dark hair and complexion and is said to be a good talker. He has the appearance of a salesman or clerk. The warnings have been sent out by J. T. Cortelyou of Philadelphia inspector in charge, and Inspector S. H. Morse of Boston.

It is especially requested that the merchants and merchants' association take notice.

Nothing has been reported as yet relative to the money orders stolen from New Hampshire. On October 3, the postoffice at Eaton Centre was robbed and among other things money orders 365 to 600 found missing. Inspectors state that he is positive the thief or thieves will attempt to cash the orders soon and the cooperation of the public is asked to apprehend the parties.

Yes, it will be well for one to be careful while sauntering in the woods tomorrow. All hunters are not careful hunters and the woods will be full of them—such as they are. Watch out!

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE DOES BUSKING BUSINESS ON HUNTERS' LICENSES FOR THE HOLIDAY

This was a busy day for the clerks in the city clerk's office, and all the fellows who wanted to know what it was all about had to do was to "stick around" and hear what the callers were asking for. We did that little thing and found out that they were hunters looking for licenses, for tomorrow will be a holiday and the law will be off on a whole lot of game, including the ruffed grouse, woodcock, quail, pheasants, hares and rabbits and gray squirrels. Yes, it will be well for one to be careful while sauntering in the woods tomorrow. All hunters are not careful hunters and the woods will be full of them—such as they are. Watch out!

Large Congregations at All the Services—Knights of Columbus at St. Michael's

As usual at the Catholic churches there were large congregations at all the hourly masses from seven o'clock till eleven. But the 9 o'clock and 10 o'clock masses seemed to bring out the majority of the young people. The vespers services in the evening were also largely attended, the October devotions increasing the interest.

Knights of Columbus
The annual communion of the members of the fourth degree Knights of Columbus was held yesterday morning at St. Michael's church, the church service being followed by a breakfast and post prandial exercises at the well appointed quarters of the organization in Anne street.

The members gathered at their quarters at 7 o'clock and marched to the church in a body to attend the 8 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the chaplain of the fourth degree, Rev. Francis J. Mullin, who also delivered a forceful sermon on the significance of Columbus day.

At the close of the mass the Knights returned to their club building, where a dainty breakfast was served, about 100 members being seated around the festive board. Following the meal Faithful Navigator Thomas J. O'Donnell welcomed the members and delivered a short address. Others who addressed the gathering were Rev. Francis J. Mullin, chaplain; Grand Knight Joseph Roarke, District Deputy William F. Thornton, Robert J. Thomas, Hugh J. Molloy and others.

At the 8 o'clock mass in the upper church the members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion in a body, while at the same time in the lower chapel the members of the Children's sodality also received communion, this mass being celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw.

St. Patrick's
About 350 members of the Holy Name society attended the 7 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning in a body and received communion, the celebrant of the mass being Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien. The members of the Immaculate Conception sodality also received communion at this mass and Rev. John J. Kerrigan assisted the celebrant of the mass in giving communion.

Immaculate Conception
At the 7:30 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning the members of the senior branch of the Holy Name society and those of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. James McCarlin, O.M.I., who was assisted in giving communion by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I.

St. Peter's
The members of the Holy Name society of St. Peter's church made their quarterly communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday, the celebrant being the chaplain, Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher, pastor, who also delivered a brief sermon. He was assisted in giving communion by Rev. P. L. Crayton.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening a business meeting was held in the lower chapel with President Bernard D. Ward in the chair. Considerable business was transacted and arrangements were made for a smoker to be held some time this month, while the annual dance and concert was informally discussed. Following the business meeting a religious service was held with Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher as the officiating clergyman, who congratulated the members for the fine showing made at the morning service. The service closed with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Sacred Heart
The celebrant of the parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was Rev. Henry Burns, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while the sermon was delivered by the pastor, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O.M.I.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass the members of the Holy Name society received their monthly communion. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., who was assisted in giving communion by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. and Rev. James McDermott, O.M.I., both of the Sacred Heart church, are out on mission work.

St. Columba's
Rev. T. W. Duckley was the celebrant of the 7 o'clock mass at St. Columba's church yesterday and at this mass the members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. The parish mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John A. Degan, who also delivered the sermon, which was an eloquent discourse on "Faith."

A whist party under the auspices of the Holy Name society will be held Tuesday evening in the parish hall and on account of this event the October devotions will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings. The altar boys are making plans for a whist party to be held soon and they expect a large attendance.

St. Margaret's
The members of the Holy Name society of St. Margaret's church held their monthly communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. C. J. Golligan. On Thursday evening a rehearsal for the coming minstrel entertainment to be held at the Highland club hall in the latter part of November will be held and all interested are requested to be present.

Miss Helen F. Chaso has again been appointed musical director of grand opera in the New York public schools.

PRINCE OF WALES SHOT

PARIS REPORTS THAT JEALOUS HUSBAND ATTACKED SON OF KING GEORGE AND QUEEN MARY

A Paris report says that the Prince of Wales, eldest son of King George and Queen Mary, is suffering from a bullet wound in the arm, inflicted by a French corporal who was jealous of his wife. The story goes that the woman was an attendant at an inn frequented by the prince and other British and French officers, and that the corporal shot the prince and then turned the weapon on himself when he saw his wife waiting upon the officers. The corporal was badly wounded, but the prince who is exonerated from blame in the matter, was only slightly hurt. Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, was born in 1894.

Lowell High Failed to Score Though Heathcock Made Great Play Saturday

The Lowell high went to Malden for its annual game Saturday and received a trouncing, the score being 41 to 0. The home team excelled in all departments and won with ease. Arthur Lynch, Lowell's full-back, received an injury that forced him to retire but it is believed he will be able to play in tomorrow's game.

Coach Conway used every man in his squad of 25 during the game and among the subs who showed up well was Desmond, who substituted for Lynch. Heathcock, who has been playing quarterback since Capt. Roane was injured made a fine showing. He was the only one who threatened the home team's goal line throughout the game and lost out by going out of bounds after a spectacular run the entire length of the field planning the ball behind Malden's uprights.

Haverhill Observes 275th Anniversary with a Two Days' Celebration

Haverhill, Oct. 11.—A two days' celebration of the settlement of Haverhill 275 years ago was begun yesterday with special services in the churches and a meeting in city hall at which Governor Walsh and Mayor Albert L. Bartlett assisted.

An interesting feature of the observance was the receipt of an illuminated address from the city council of Haverhill, England, for which the city was named. The address was read to the city hall gathering by Horace M. Sargent, clerk of the district court, who presided at the meeting.

Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the principal speaker at a religious service held by the churches jointly last night. Mr. Boynton was formerly a pastor here.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 4:30 a. m.—Prince Frederic of Thurn and Taxis died in a Russian hospital, according to a Petrograd despatch to the Post after having been severely wounded in an encounter with Russian raiders in the Vilna salient.

A despatch from Amsterdam Sept. 24, said the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger had announced that Prince Frederic had been killed while fighting in the Dniester region.

Cologne Gazette Says England Wishes to Divert Attention from Violation of Greek Neutrality

BERLIN, (By wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.) Oct. 11.—"The Cologne Gazette refers to the accusations of Lord Cromer and the Marquis of Crewe in the house of lords, that German consular officials encouraged the Turkish population to attack Armenians," says the Overseas News agency.

"The newspaper asserts that the purpose of these unfounded assertions is to divert the attention of neutrals from the violation of Greek neutrality and, since the Belgian question is no longer novel enough, turns to new accusations."

KIPLING'S SON MISSING

PARENTS ARE HOPEFUL THAT HE SUFFERED NO MORE SERIOUS FATE THAN CAPTURE

LONDON, Oct. 11, 8:59 a. m.—Rudyard Kipling has received no further news of his 19-year-old son, who was wounded and reported missing in the north of France. He was only slightly wounded when last seen and his parents are hopeful that he suffered no more serious fate than being taken prisoner by the Germans. Mr. Kipling sent to the Associated Press today the following message:

"I should be obliged if you would make public in America the fact that up to date my son John is reported wounded and missing, not wounded and believed killed, as stated in the press a few days ago."

Columbians, good time for everybody.

NEW NOTE TO ENGLAND

PRES. WILSON STUDIED REPLY PREPARED BY SEC. LANSING—TO GO FORWARD AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Wilson today studied the long note prepared by Secretary Lansing answering the several notes received in the last few months from Great Britain on the subject of interference with American trade. The note, which has been delayed largely because the president wanted to keep it apart from the controversy with Germany is now expected to go forward within a few days.

Although virtually complete it may require some time for further revision by the president and state department officials, as it covers the entire subject of contraband as dealt with by the British admiralty before the so-called orders in council were issued and denations since then.

The case of the American meat packers is covered in a broad general way in the same note, although specific cases are being dealt with in separate communications.

CHEERS AND SMILES TELL PRESIDENT PUBLIC APPROVES OF HIS ENGAGEMENT

PRESIDENT WILSON and MRS. GALT in New York Oct. 9. (Copyright by American Press Association)

For the first time since the announcement of their engagement President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt appeared in public together in New York, driving about the city and attending the theatre. From the time the president and Mrs. Galt arrived at the Pennsylvania station until the end of the city's entertainment, crowds pressed about them to see the woman who will soon be the first lady of the land. With the crowds, the policemen and secret service agents everywhere present, the visit of the president and his bride-to-be took on the character of a public demonstration. When they went for an automobile ride their car was followed by ten others. When on foot they were never able to move until a vanguard of secret service men had opened a way through throngs of interested people. But, although both the president and Mrs. Galt sought to avoid publicity as much as possible, they never seemed to resent the interest and enthusiasm of the public. On one or two occasions, Mrs. Galt acknowledged the cheering with bows and smiles, and several times Mr. Wilson doffed his hat to the crowds. The people, on their part, showed more enthusiasm for their president, perhaps, than at any previous informal public appearance. Cheering, hand-clapping and shouts greeted him whenever he was seen. The picture shows Mrs. Galt and the president leaving a New York hotel.

of the United States to grant recognition to the party led by Gen. Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico. It became known yesterday that some of the South American governments, long before Saturday's conference had authorized their diplomatic representatives to favor the recognition of Gen. Carranza in the Pan-American deliberations. Pres. Wilson has received from Sec. Lansing a report of the proceedings of the final conference, but several days ago he indicated to the secretary his acquiescence in the plan proposed. The form in which recognition is to be accorded has not been decided, but it may be done by formal notification to Eliseo Arredondo, authorized representative here of the Carranza government. Extension of recognition is expected within a week. This will result in the immediate order of an embargo on arms against factions opposed to the Carranza government, a step which will materially weaken the resources of the Villa element, which intends to continue the fight in Mexico.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo gave out a statement last night in behalf of the Villa faction, declaring that while it was a source of satisfaction that the United States has shown its sympathy with the Mexican constitutional revolution against Huerta by recognizing a revolutionary faction, nevertheless it was intended to demonstrate by further military operations that the Carranza party's supremacy was temporary.

George C. Carothers, American consular agent, telegraphed the state department the substance of a long interview he had had with Gen. Villa at Juarez in which the latter explained, in line with utterances to the press last night, that he intended to continue fighting Carranza.

No mention was made of withdrawing protection to foreigners as reported in press dispatches, but officials realize that the legal responsibility for protection of foreigners rests always with the recognized government for all parts of the country, whether in rebellion or not.

Americans for this reason were recently advised to withdraw from northern Mexico, but many of them have failed to heed the state department's advice. The Washington government during the Taft administration took the position, however, that even when a recognized government existed in Mexico City, the leaders of rebellious factions were personally responsible for the acts of their followers, and gave warning to that effect. This precedent probably will be followed in the event of difficulties now in Northern Mexico.

Although the documents presented to Sec. Lansing and the Pan-American conference by Eliseo Arredondo on behalf of Gen. Carranza, in which the decision to recognize the Carranza party was based, have not been made public, it became known that the first chief had given explicit assurances with reference to the protection of foreigners' claims, amnesty for political offences and the treatment of the clergy.

WELCOMED BY CARRANZA

News of Coming Recognition, He Says, Will Morally Strengthen Constitutional Cause. VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 11.—General Carranza received with great pleasure the news that the Pan-American conference at Washington had decided to recommend recognition of the party led by him as the de facto government in Mexico, although he pointed out that he had received no official notification to this effect. Telegrams from Carranza agents at Washington brought the news, and the first chief received the congratulations of his associates at constitutional headquarters. The Washington telegrams were made in the morning and

Efficiency, Advancement, Success DEMAND THAT A MAN KEEP CLOSE WATCH UPON HIMSELF

A harmful habit is a drawback. One of the greatest losses in life is that which follows victory over a habit. The active principle of tobacco is nicotine, seemingly innocuous to some and seriously poisonous to others, particularly when used to excess. For the man who knows that his nerves, heart, eyes, stomach, blood, etc., are being injured by addiction to tobacco, pipe, cigarettes, chewing, snuff or cigars, I have a cheering and helpful book to send gratis upon request.

ARE YOU ENSLAVED?

If your own intelligence proves you are being injured by tobacco, don't delay in getting rid of it. It is interesting and will convince you how the habit may be safely, quickly, easily and completely conquered. A post card will bring it. Legions of former tobacco addicts have described the remarkable benefits in being freed from the habit; tranquil nerves, improved health, new ambition, increased efficiency, etc. Address Edward J. INDIAN SUMMER

All except those who are spiritually blind cannot but observe that Nature has lavished beauty all around us at the present time—beauty of such grandeur and infinite variety that he who walks abroad can easily forget the woes of the warring world and revel in the grandeur of the autumnal wonderland. Byron in his ecstatic praise of the lands of the east said that all but the spirit of man is divine in their tropical loveliness but here even the spirit of man must take on a tinge of the glory that is so potent to lure us from city ways into roads where are spread out a glamor greater than that of the Arabian tales.

Beauty makes her home in all lands, but she is especial partial to our American New England at the time of the Indian summer. In no other country is there such a variety of color, such atmospheric clearness, such tenderness of outline in the time between the promise of the fall and the cheerlessness of winter. The annual repetition of the wonderful show blunts our perception to some extent, but those who come from other lands are moved to wonder and admiration by the woods of New England in October.

Just as the palette of the painter is powerless to portray the richness of the colors and the subtleties of the light and shade effects, so words fail to reflect the glamor of the season. Where a few weeks ago the trees stood in ranks of unbroken green, held of jeweled loveliness light up the landscape as though the rainbows had fallen to earth. The elms are a pale gold with a suggestion of the delicate green that is gone; the oaks are a warm brown; chestnuts and beeches are crimson and purple and the maples blaze like the burning bush of Moses in scarlet and vermilion. The light that filters through is colored by the glow of the branches and every delicate little breeze sends down a fairy message from the loveliness overhead. Where the leaves have fallen, patterns of delicate tapestry have arranged themselves in rare richness, and the leaves that have been robbed of their beauty by air and moisture whirl like ghost legions over the cold earth. The beauty of autumn is a rare beauty, but it speaks of the bare branches, the icy streams and the long stretches of gray meadows.

The charm of Indian summer does not lie only in the light and loveliness of autumn leaves. It has another appeal, less esthetic perhaps, but not the less human. It has the appeal of the orchard, the homely corn fields where the moon makes long shadows, the ripened Halloween pumpkin, the grape clusters and the elder mill. It tells of garden, orchard and farm profusion, the full cellar, the pungent odors of kitchen preparations for the winter table, the cellar shelves and the honest American plans for the months ahead. It whispers of the husking bees, pop corn, the silo and the blazing logs. It carries a peculiar atmosphere of New England country life with its zest, its social intercourse, its contentment, its enjoyment of the fruits of patience and labor.

Those who would thoroughly enjoy tomorrow ought to plan for a walk in the country. Indian summer calls us from office, factory and tenement block, calls us to the paths where the pheasants and partridges thrill the heart of the huntsman and where there are beauties that are "too pure for the touch of a word." While the rest of the world makes deadly plans to annihilate a national enemy, let us go forth and revel in the glories that are for all who care to see and feel. It is the time of Indian summer which no other land but ours enjoys but for which the Nature lovers of all other lands well may envy us.

COLUMBUS DAY

Since the various societies more especially interested in the observance of Columbus day prefer one large celebration to many lesser celebrations, it so happens that the scene of the commemorative events shifts from one New England city to another annually. This year Lawrence has the honor, and many members of the Knights of Columbus and other organizations will journey to the down-river city to take part in the occasion and to share in the inspiration of the day. It is only a few years since the day became a state holiday, but already it has taken on a permanent aspect as though Massachusetts had been observing it from the beginning.

The appeal of Columbus day is broad and strong. It takes us back to a distant time before the stirring events of Concord and Lexington, a time when the discovery of the new world thrilled the great nations of the period with a veritable intoxication. This new world was indeed the El Dorado, the fabled land of richness and happiness. As seen by the great voyager himself it was a benighted land to which should be carried the message of Christianity and civilization. He came not in the lust of territorial conquest or to add to the then bright laurels of Spain, but to plant the cross in the wilderness. Nations have risen and fallen since then; Spain has lost its bright place as one of the foremost powers, and the land of the Indian has developed into a great and mighty nation.

It is but fitting that we should turn

aside from the ways of trade for one day to honor the memory of the great voyager. He was in many ways typical of what we like to think is the spirit of modern America. Persevering, courageous, zealous for the right as he saw it, he was not thwarted by obstacles nor cast down by misfortune. His cry was ever "Onward" in spite of skepticism, treason in his followers and the ingratitude of the great for whom he had done so much. His later days were clouded by suffering and others reaped the rewards that should have come to him, but time has vindicated his purpose and his achievements. We have many stories to inspire our children, but when we tell them of Washington, Lincoln and the other great ones, we ought to speak also with reverence and admiration of the great Christopher Columbus.

KEEP UP GOOD WORK

Our creditable Fashion Week will have fulfilled its purpose if it does not leave behind some positive indication of its success. It is all very well to decorate our streets, to dress up our store windows, to mark down prices and to attract suburbanites, but if the agitation does not awaken the spirit of loyalty and enterprise, it will have failed in its essential ends. The merchants and the civic bodies who cooperated have done their part nobly and it remains for the citizens to do the remainder. There is no denying that, last week, Lowell looked the part of a busy and thriving city. There was a great deal of enthusiasm apparent and considerable enterprise. Most of this can be kept alive permanently if we foster a proper community spirit and develop local pride until we are ready to defend the good name of Lowell in every practical manner. We cannot have thriving stores unless we patronize them and if we give to other cities the love and loyalty we owe to our own city, Lowell shall be the loser as well as everybody in it. Even though the flags are down, therefore, and the special displays dismantled, let us boom Lowell, trade in Lowell, and keep Lowell to the forefront. We have learned the lesson of civic enterprise; let us apply it until the next local agitation.

OUR BASEBALL SERVICE

The Lowell fans are not slow to realize where they are getting good service as was shown by the large and enthusiastic crowds in front of The Sun building during the first games of the series. Speed and accuracy were the watchword and The Sun system was the last word in efficiency. The games were covered by the trained sporting writers of the Associated Press, the greatest baseball experts in the world, and every play was flashed over a special wire into the Sun office, and given to the crowd in short order by means of the quick and clear megaphone announcements. No service could be more prompt, more accurate or more efficient—a fact which local rooters know from experience. Finally as soon as the last word flashes over the special wire, the Sun extra is on its way to the street and copies are being sold by the newsboys before the crowd has dispersed. Come to the square afterwards during the games, listen to the announcements and get the baseball extra a few minutes after the announcement that the game is over. This will prove to your satisfaction that the Sun baseball service during the world's series is unsurpassed and in these parts unequalled.

PRESIDENT CARRANZA?

During the recent deliberations of the pan-American conference the conviction grew throughout the country that order could be restored only by the recognition of some strong Mexican leader by this country. The next question was to find the strongest and then to give him the necessary encouragement. This was attempted, and it is now hinted strongly that in a short time Washington will recognize Carranza as president of Mexico. The first leader to be so honored since the death of the unfortunate Madero. During the last year, Carranza has grown in power while Villa has weakened, and Carranza on the whole has been the more reliable. It is said that the president-to-be promises protection to foreigners and their property, amnesty to political prisoners and religious freedom to all. If he is sincere and able to carry out his pledges, no more can be expected at the present time. The government indirectly aided Villa as against Huerta but now Villa is discarded on account of his outrages. Had Huerta been recognized he could have restored peace. He was the only strong man who has appeared in Mexico since the days of Diaz.

AN IRREGULAR ORDER

Owing to an error of the municipal council in passing an order for compensation in the case of John Kenney who lost an arm and a leg in the accident at the vocational school, the money voted for the purpose cannot be paid until the legislature passes a new enabling act. Permission had been given for payment, but the municipal council voted the money to the boy's mother instead of to himself, and so owing to a technicality there will be delay in the settlement of the case. Errors of this nature may be more or less unavoidable but one cannot help thinking that this particular instance is almost inexcusable.

The selling of tags for the victims of the war in Lithuania was another reminder of the spreading waves of misery that flow in its wake. We have heard and responded to calls from Belgium, from Poland, from Armenia and from other sections and if the fire in the Balkans spreads we shall hear cries from many other small powers. Behind the curt war reports is a scene of desolation that can neither be described nor realized. War is waste in a very terrible sense—a waste of life, property and human happiness. We might pour out our millions like water but we could not make much of an impression on the mass of misery that remains where the blasting fires have passed.

The civics department of the Women's club has invited to speak before the Lowell public next Thursday an expert from Springfield who will tell of the plans adopted there for municipal recreation and the use of the schools as social centers. The subject is of timely interest, and under proper supervision and with the proper directing spirit, the school buildings might be more availed of to the advantage of the people.

Those who have fruit that they cannot use and do not intend to have should get in touch with families that might make good use of it, and to whom it would be a boon. With the high cost of living and the widespread suffering, it is shameful to see apples and other fruits rotting on the ground in some sections.

From the comments of the street crowds who listen to candidates, it would seem that the voters are from Missouri this year; they are tired of promises that end in a puff of smoke.

Columbus discovered the country; is it not time that you discovered it?

International Marriage
Henry P. Davidson of the Morgan banking firm was talking about international marriages.

"Well," he said, "I know of an international marriage that failed, thank goodness, to come off. The girl was the daughter of a Paix Rock millionaire. The man was a count, a Spanish count. The count was absent-minded. That was his undoing. The girl's father gave a dinner for him in the Paix Rock castle overlooking Saint Rock, and at the dinner the count got up to a light cigarette and then, by Jove, he started to remove the plates. The guests watched him in an open-mouthed silence. His napkin slung over his arm, he had got nearly all the plates removed when his million-dollar host started his gently. 'Wake up, George. You're not waiting in the beehive now, you know. You're pretending you're a count in Paix Rock. Wake up, man, for gracious sake.'"

Philly It On
He had been on a hunting expedition for several days in the backwoods roughing it rather severely, and on taking a seat in a railway carriage, returning homeward he looked as begrimed and weather-beaten a trapper as ever brought his skins into settlement, says the Cleveland Leader.

He happened to find a seat next to a young lady—evidently belonging to Boston—who, after taking stock of him for a few minutes, remarked: "Don't you find an utterly passionate sympathy with nature's most intricate aspirations among the sky-topping beetles of the forest, and the horizon-touching forests, my good man?"

"Oh, yes," replied the apparent backwoodsman, "and I am also frequently drawn into an exaltation of rapt soulfulness and beatific lucidescence in the contemplation of the contiguity when my horse stumbles."

"Indeed," said the young lady, much surprised. "I had no idea that the lower classes feel like that."

Depew Started Something
"Last time I was traveling in the south," ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew said, "I had to put up overnight at a second-rate hotel in western Georgia. I said to the clerk, when I entered: 'Where shall I autograph?' 'Autograph?' said the clerk. 'Yes, sign my name, you know.' 'Oh, right here.' As I was signing my name in the register I came three roughly clothed, unshorn fellows immediately recognizable as 'Georgia Crackers.' One of the men advanced to the desk.

"'Will you autograph?' asked the clerk, his face aglow with the pleasure that came from the consciousness of intellectual superiority. "'Certainly,' said the 'Georgia Cracker,' his face no less radiant than that of the clerk; 'mine's rye.' 'There was no escape for the clerk and he treated with good grace as he could command and the circumstances. Next morning I said to him: 'That was too bad, the way you got caught last night.' 'Well, I suppose I shouldn't complain,' he replied; 'but the next time I speak a foreign language in my own country, I'll know what I am talking about.'"

Away
I cannot say, and I will not say that he is dead—he is just away!

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land. And let us dreaming how very fair It needs must be, since he lingers there. And you—of you, who the wildest yearn For the old-time step and the glad return—Think of him faring on, as dear In the love of There as the love of Here; And loyal still, as gave the blows Of his warrior-strength to his countenance, And mild and gentle, as he was brave, When the sweetest love of his life he gave.

To simple things: Where the violets grew Blue as the eyes they were likened to. The touches of his hands have strayed As reverently as his lips have prayed; When the little brownstreak that harshly chafed, Was used to him as the mocking-bird; And he nipped as much as a man in pain A writhing honey-bee wet with rain.

Think of him still as the same, I say; He is not dead—he is just away! —James Whitcomb Riley.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Woburn Boy Killed—

Nashua Car Wrecked Near Country Club

WOBURN, Oct. 11.—Daniel McDevitt, 13-year-old son of William McDevitt of 22 Main street, was struck by an automobile while playing with his 3-year-old sister near their home last evening about 7:30 and died half an hour later at the Choate Memorial hospital from internal injuries.

The lad started to run across the street directly in the path of the machine. His sister's screams after the accident aroused the neighbors and passersby.

The machine was owned by John H. Bates and driven by Daniel McGilvary, a demonstrator in the Bates garage. The driver, after the collision, stopped within a few feet and carried the unconscious boy to the hospital. Later he surrendered himself at the Central police station and was held in $2000, which was furnished by his employer. The children's parents were calling at the time of the accident.

ONE PASSENGER HURT
STEAMER'S STATEROOM SMASHED IN—TENNESSEE STRUCK GLANCING BLOW BY SCHOONER

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Nearly 250 passengers who were transferred from the Bay State line steamer Tennessee after her collision Saturday night in Long Island Sound off Fishers Island with the schooner Samuel S. Thorp were brought here yesterday aboard the steamer Concord of the Colonial line.

The Tennessee, with a ragged gap 45 feet long in her side, came into port a few hours later. The Tennessee was bound from Providence to New York. She was under the command of Capt. N. Y. who had sustained internal injuries, was removed to a hospital. Several other passengers received minor hurts. They were occupants of the seven staterooms demolished by the collision.

Passengers told of panicky conditions aboard the Tennessee after the schooner rammed her prow into their boat slightly forward of amidships; but said that Capt. George D. Enos calmed the women and children by telling them aid was close at hand. He then sent out wireless calls, to which the Concord was first to respond. The transfer of passengers was effected without accident.

The Tennessee's freight and saloon decks were stove in and the funnel damaged, but she was able to proceed to New York under her own steam.

Robert J. Noble, general manager of the Bay State line, said the schooner, eastbound, suddenly luffed up in the wind and struck the Tennessee a hard glancing blow.

Capt. Pearce of the Thorp Says His Lights Were Visible and Tennessee Should Have Cleared Him

NEW LONDON, Oct. 11.—Capt. Pearce of the three-masted schooner Samuel Thorp, which was in collision with the passenger steamer Tennessee, says all the light on his vessel were burning when his boat was rammed by the steamer shortly before midnight Saturday. Capt. Pearce does not understand why the Tennessee did not alter course and clear him with his signal lights properly displayed.

The Thorp is badly damaged forward above the waterline and Capt. Pearce is waiting orders from the owners before having repairs made and proceeding to her destination, New York port. News, with a load of 200 tons from New York.

SUITS THAT ARE NOT COMMONPLACE

If a man wishes to express his individuality in dress the opportunity is here for him to do so.

In addition to the exclusive styles of Rogers-Peel's and "Society Brand" there are many new and exclusive fabrics.

"Forefathers' Cloth" an English fabric brought out by Rogers-Peel, reproduces the substantial character and colorings, (olive green and butternut brown) of the Puritan cloths of 1620.

There are Piping Rock flannels, (winter weights) Donegal homespuns from Ireland, Harris Island tweeds made on hand looms in Scotland, Imperial stripes and plain colored fabrics made up specially for us in dark brown, hunter's green and dark blue. These are but a few of the new things that we alone have.

Such suits we show in very small numbers—but two or three of a kind—they not only look good, they are good, as good as the best fabrics and the best workmanship can make them.

Fitted to your satisfaction by our tailors, these exclusive and special suits enable a man to dress with distinction and with the assurance that his appearance will never be commonplace—Prices are moderate beginning at $20.00.

Our suit stock, however, is not limited to those we mention, new models and new weaves are here for men and young men from $10.00 and upwards.

The machine was driven by Parker Trowbridge of Worcester, who was accompanied by his father, Dr. E. H. Trowbridge, and party of Worcester acquaintances.

Trowbridge told the police the girl was playing in the street and when the car approached she started to cross but fell. Her arm went under one of the wheels.

THE ART OF WEARING JEWELRY

Old-fashioned settings, unless used with great discretion and with certain historically correct gowns, are one of the chief features in aging the wearer's face and figure. The effect is one for grandmother, unless the idea is only for quaintness, and then every detail must coincide with the jewelry, even to the mode of dressing the hair.

Large, heavy brooches and ornaments are another means of gaining uncalculated age, and it is a mistake most commonly made. Bold, striking pieces have their place in modern appropriate jewelry for the young lady and middle-aged woman, and discreetly used are extremely effective, but it must be realized that there is nothing "youthful" about solid, heavy pieces; no matter how handsome or attractive they may be they are not for the person who wishes to appear young—she will be no younger than her jewelry makes her.

Earrings add to the age; no matter how young or how old the person is who wears them they invariably have the same tendency. Bracelets, on the contrary, will give youthful roundness to the arm, provided the right shape and size are chosen and fitted to the individual arm. Hair ornaments may be used to either add to the age or the reverse. High standing combs, aigrettes and tiaras have the tendency to add to the wearer's age, as they also add dignity or dashing style, while low bands worn across the forehead will make the face look fuller and more youthful. The pieces worn close about the face—hair ornaments, earrings, neck bands and necklaces—have a greater influence in this direction than any of the other jewelry, and consequently extra care should be given to the choosing and wearing of them.

For the white-haired matron there is always the jewelry especially designed for her. Everyone knows the range which is growing and changing only slightly as her own features age, as they vary with the seasons. The line is conservative, of course, and the staple gems and settings, onyx, amethyst, lapis, jet, jade, crystal and the precious gems with mountings of platinum, dull gold and gray finished silver are always ready for the selection, but enameled pieces should not be neglected, for they are decidedly becoming to gray hair and most suitable with their pastel shades and deep dense colors for wear with the matron's favorite maroon, mauve, steel gray, sepia and midnight blue gowns.

Beauty Types and Becoming Jewelry

When it comes to choosing becoming jewelry for the various types of women to having it suit their individual style and racial features, the field is almost unlimited and quite absorbing in artistic interest. This phase of the subject of appropriate and becoming jewelry is a study in itself and the different branches of the theme can only be touched upon here. To take the matter in its broadest aspect consider the great divergence in the jewelry worn by the women in the world's climatic divisions, as the northern European, Asiatic and tropical jewelry, and then consider more closely the jewelry typical of the different nationalities. The Scandinavian women wear a certain style and type of jewelry, and it will be found that it is the most kind most becoming to the flaxen-

haired, broad-shouldered woman wherever she may be found in the world. The smaller, dark-haired, black-eyed woman cannot wear this jewelry with half the same good effect. She must have something more suited to her type and, whether she comes from America or southern France, her jewelry will be built on the same fundamental lines and contain the same gems, if it is to be most appropriate.

The ash-haired, Gibson type of American, the red-haired, snow-complexioned amazon, the slim Botticelli maiden and the broad-shouldered athletic girl, each is to be considered as demanding a specific type and style in jewelry, and then again each class is subdivided and the choice made according to the individual characteristics and needs.

The coloring of eyes, hair and skin, the stature and figure, the features of the face and the shape of the head, the shape of the nose, the shape of the arms and hands, even the carriage and mode of walking may be taken into consideration in relation to finding and deciding upon the best suited jewelry. The deeper the subject is gone into the better the latent possibilities in becoming jewelry is appreciated, for the making or wearing of a costume may rest with the smallest and most apparently insignificant piece of jewelry. How much more important it is, therefore, to give care to the choosing of the larger, more conspicuous jewelry, than to the complete sets of jewelry when they play so large a part in the completed costumes.

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

CARING FOR GRAY HAIR

The only time when gray hair is unattractive is when it is improperly cared for; when it is streaked with yellow, and to be frantically frank, when it isn't clean. Gray hair should have a regular fortnightly shampoo. For this warm water and a milk white soap should be used and the strands rubbed between the hands until every trace of oil has been cut loose by the lather. Following the soap washing there should be a rinsing with clear warm water. Let the temperature of the rinsing water be gradually increased until it is as hot as can be borne with comfort, and then gradually lower the temperature until it is cold.

Never shampoo the hair at night as the best time is in the morning when the drying can be done beside an open window where the strands will get the benefit of fresh air and sunshine. Do the drying with warmed Turkish towels, gently rubbing the strands until every trace of moisture has disappeared. Then, very gently, comb out any tangles; don't brush them out, as if you do you may break some of the strands.

After the combing and brushing, divide the hair in parts all over the head and rub the scalp, very lightly, with pure olive oil. Use very little oil, just enough to moisten the finger tips. The next day dust the scalp with rice powder and, with a soft brush, rub the powder around until all trace of the oil has been absorbed. In between shampoos, semi-monthly shampoo, there should be a dry shampoo. This is begun by carefully combing and brushing the hair and then generously sprinkling rice powder thick on the scalp and through the strands.

Rub the powder in the scalp and through the strands until any oil has been absorbed and then cleanse the hair of the powder by another careful combing and brushing. This treatment, regularly used, will keep gray hair fresh looking, silvery and fluffy. And that means it will keep it attractive.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS:

ABOUT THE LOANING OF BOOKS

"I am never going to loan a book again," said Marjorie determinedly. "I wanted a certain volume today and, after long thought, remembered that I had loaned it months ago to Grace and she had never returned it."

"You should have a book place," said Marie. "I am sure your friend did not mean to keep your book, but probably forgot to return it. Before lending a book, write your name and the title outside. Put down in a note book to whom it is loaned and never be so foolish as not to ask for it if it is not returned within a reasonable time."

There is almost as much free masonry shown toward other people's books as towards one's own. Books borrowed from circulating libraries, too, are often decorated along their margins with comments, apropos and otherwise, written by various readers. And library volumes are not the only ones abused in this way. It cannot be denied that books loaned to personal friends are often returned to their owners, not only undertinted and lead penciled, but dog eared and soiled as to the cover.

To a book lover such treatment of favorite volumes results in almost physical pain and, in time, ends in a refusal to loan books at all. It spoils all one's pleasure to find another person's comments written on the margin of some special passage which the owner of the book has enjoyed. Nor does it help to buy a new copy even if one feels able to afford it, because often one's enjoyment of some story has more to do with the donor or the special edition one has had for a long time, than with the author's plot.

Just so one feels when a book is returned in had condition if it is brought back at all, which very often is not the case, even when one has to ask that it be returned. In the first place many people open a book carelessly and then they let it lie open with the pages flattened. Then the hands are not always clean or they are employed in eating candy, perhaps, and finger marks are shown on the formerly spotless pages."

LADY LOOKABOUT

The Lowell Teachers' organization, which has already made its influence felt in the city, is planning a season of unusual activity. Early in November, Mrs. Kiddle, who needs no introduction to Lowell audiences, will entertain with a dramatic reading of Israel Zangwill's four-act drama, "The Melting Pot." A few tickets are available for the friends of the members. Miss Allen, the new president of the organization, is receiving the hearty cooperation of the members in forming special classes for the teachers, and all are looking forward to a season of pleasure and profit.

Chin Strap Hats

The narrow chin straps of patent leather or velvet seen on some of the new hats, and which closely resemble the elastic bands worn by children, are most becoming to young faces. The woman no longer young makes a great mistake when she adopts this fashion, for nothing so accentuates approaching age as the garb of extreme youth. This is true of any article of dress associated exclusively with the youthful.

When the more mature woman persists in clinging to the fashions of young girls, her pretense at youth is indeed pathetic.

I know a woman of past middle age. She is petite and has clung tenaciously to the styles favored by very young girls. Approaching the woman from the rear, one would feel certain that he was looking at a young girl, but on overtaking her and catching a glimpse of her face with the lines of care and character which come with the years, one gets an unpleasant shock.

Just when the woman is growing accustomed to the alack-a-hic hair with the simple little knot which rested anywhere from the top of the head to the nape of the neck, some unkind style-maker pushes upon us the hat which turns up abruptly in the back, and insistently calls attention to the quantity of hair we have not got.

The result may easily be seen. Hairdressers are introducing all sorts of new puffs and curls, and, like puppets, we profess to admire them, and truly they are indeed fascinating. I was shown a cluster of curls a few days ago, which, tucked in beside the forehead, made a little knot, added just the right touch that was wanted, and the abruptly-turned-up-in-the-back hat immediately became adorable. Aren't we the funny things!

The Suffragists

Despite the happy optimism which pervades the ranks of the suffragists, President Wilson's announcement that he is going to vote for suffrage, must have caused no little surprise. That he has so declared himself, and without reservation of any kind, is indeed the biggest boost suffrage could receive at this time, or at any time. President Wilson has proved himself a man of unusually conservative principle; his foresight and wisdom have succeeded in steering our country out of the path-way of what has more than once seemed certain war. Surely the attitude of such a man, holding as he does the confidence of a nation, must carry great weight when in favor of a movement involving all that the enfranchisement of women does, and one in perfectly safe in assuming that he has made a mistake.

White Way Effects

For actual decorative value on the Lowell thoroughfares, nothing can exceed the lights of the great white way. Apart from their beauty when unadorned, they offer unusual opportunities for decoration. Full advantage was taken of these during the recent week when they figured so prominently in Fashion Week. Several times since their installation they have added a festive air to the streets, and all which invites pedestrians to their neighborhood, and which must bring substantial returns to the property owners and storekeepers, and to easily offset the increase in assessed valuation.

Special Courses of Study

It is at this season of the year when vacations are over and all have returned to work with renewed vigor, that the mind turns to thoughts of improvement and study. Many persons avail themselves of the opportunities offered in the various institutions of learning to take special courses, some along the lines of their own occupation, others to follow a pet ambition while still others seek only mental recreation. The opportunities for taking special courses in Lowell are very few. Apart from the Textile school, where excellent evening courses are offered to those engaged in the textile industries, there is no place where a person may satisfy his longing for study in special branches. This may be due to our close proximity to Boston, where one may indulge his desire for study to his heart's content, but I am inclined to believe that in work of this kind there is no place where he must be broken down before our young men and women can find at home that which they are now compelled to seek in Boston. It would seem that a city of over 100,000 persons could offer universally extension courses to those who along the lines of their own occupation, others to follow a pet ambition while still others seek only mental recreation. The opportunities for taking special courses in Lowell are very few. Apart from the Textile school, where excellent evening courses are offered to those engaged in the textile industries, there is no place where a person may satisfy his longing for study in special branches. This may be due to our close proximity to Boston, where one may indulge his desire for study to his heart's content, but I am inclined to believe that in work of this kind there is no place where he must be broken down before our young men and women can find at home that which they are now compelled to seek in Boston. It would seem that a city of over 100,000 persons could offer universally extension courses to those who along the lines of their own occupation, others to follow a pet ambition while still others seek only mental recreation. HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 11.—A gift of $15,000 to Dartmouth college from J. E. Johnson of Philadelphia, a member of the class of 1866, was announced at the Dartmouth night celebration. The money is to be used as an endowment fund for the maintenance of a swimming pool and the encouragement of a winter carnival at the college. Two hundred alumni attended the celebration.

FOUR TIMES IN WORLD'S SERIES GAME WHEN BIG CROWD HELD ITS BREATH

Four of the most interesting scenes in the first game of the world's series between the Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Red Sox, played in Philadelphia, Oct. 8, and won by the Phillies by the score of 3 to 1, are shown in the accompanying photographs: 1, Lewis of the Red Sox, caught between second and third; Barry safe at second, second inning; 2, Speaker of the Red Sox, safe at second on Hoblitzel's out, eighth inning; 3, Luderus of the Phillies at bat, second inning; 4, Luderus caught stealing, eighth inning.

NOTED ATHLETES ARRIVE

KYRONEN AND KOLEHMAINEN ARRIVED IN TOWN LAST NIGHT FOR TOMORROW'S BIG RACE

Viljar Kyronen, Hannes Kolehmainen, their managers, and Fred Humphries of the Bunting club, visited The Sun office this morning and shook hands with the sporting editor, incidentally showing by their presence that they will be on hand at the great athletic event at the Bunting club, tomorrow afternoon.

Both men cleaned up a few prizes at the Scandinavian track meet in New York, Saturday afternoon, and immediately after the meet left for Lowell and arrived in town last evening, both men being in fine shape.

They will be tendered a reception this evening at the New American hotel. The pair are friendly disposed toward each other personally but there is a national rivalry between the two that assures a real race whenever they meet.

In addition to the ten mile run for the championship of America, in which they are to participate there will be seven other races, including the 100 yards, 120 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards run, 850 yards run and the one mile. Joe Carlson and Jim Loreadas will wrestle best two in three at 145 pounds and there will be extra attractions, including the announcement of the score of the world's series baseball game by innings.

The street railway company will furnish extra cars throughout the afternoon.

WHITE SOX WIN SERIES
AMERICAN LEAGUE CAPTURE CHICAGO CITY CHAMPIONSHIP FROM CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The Chicago American league team won the championship of Chicago, four games to one, from its National league opponents by winning yesterday's game, 11 to 3.

Lavender, who shut out the American leaguers in the second game, was hit hard yesterday and with a great fielding gave the White Sox their victory. Pierce succeeded Lavender, but retired in favor of Standridge. Blackburn started the assault with a double in the fifth. Four more singles, some loose fielding, two bases on balls and Murphy's double netted two runs and clinched the game and the title of city champions for the American league.

SMASH SHOW WINDOW
Storebreakers at Boston Frightened Away, However, Without Having Obtained Any Loot

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Store breakers who planned to loot the show window of Puckham & Smith, opticians and dealers in photographic supplies at 13-15 Bromfield street, were frightened away about 10 o'clock last evening after they had broken one of the windows in the store. They had wrapped a brick in a newspaper and hurled it through the window.

This set off the burglar alarm, but when Patrolmen Burns and Williams of that company reached the store the would-be thieves were gone, but the policemen found the brick. Nothing appeared to have been taken.

each inning from the first to the eighth, but when men were on base he was invincible. Only once during the game did the Red Sox threaten to humble the great Alex. In the eighth inning, when they scored their lone tally, Dode Paskert saved the game in this period by a wonderful catch of Gardner's bid for a home run. Alexander's teammates, though they only worked shore for five hits, fear of which were of a scratch variety, changed the scoring game three—once in the fourth and twice in the eighth. Two errors beat Shore. He was himself guilty of one of them, and the other was charged to Everett Scott, in the short field. Both were of omission, and they seemed to have no effect on the playing of the whole team. Upper illustration shows Harper at bat and view of the crowd a minute after Umpire Klem called "play ball." Lower scene, George Whitted of the Phillies falls attempt to catch him napping off first in the fourth inning. Alexander is also shown, wearing his winning smile.

RED SOX WIN LEADS TO DEATH

Camden, N. J., Man Suffering From Heart Trouble Dies Suddenly on Learning Result

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 11.—William Street, 22 years old, of 810 Howard street, had been ill for some time, being a sufferer from valvular disease of the heart. When his physician, Dr. John P. Lewis, called yesterday he carried a morning paper in his hand as he entered the sick room.

Street asked to see it. Dr. Lewis reluctantly handed him the paper. After glancing at the sporting page the sick man handed the journal back to the doctor, remarking, "I only wanted to see the score of the game yesterday. I see the Phillies lost."

He then lay down again and died.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

A movement is now on foot to organize the hotel and restaurant employees. Organizer Duran has the work in charge.

Loomfixers' union will hold a very important meeting in Carpenter's hall, Runels building, tonight.

James Sims, overseer of the tent room at the Farwell Bleachery, Lawrence, Mass., has severed his connection with that concern.

Martin Dacey, the prominent restaurant man, will be a prominent figure at the coming dancing party to be conducted by the Fairmount campers.

The Fall River Iron Works, the big Borden mills, have a capacity of 176,000,000 yards annually, or about 100,000 miles of cloth.

Arthur N. Sheldon, a textile engineer of Providence, R. I., wants the textile schools of the country placed on a par with the universities.

Patrick Flannery of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co. states that he will throw a bombshell into the meeting of the Four of Clubs tonight with a very important announcement.

Patrick Sullivan, who resigned his position as overseer of wet finishing at the Merrimack Woolen Co., some time ago, has accepted a similar position with the Allen Woolen mills in Rochester, N. Y.

A huge loading platform is to be built for the American Steam Gauge and Valve Co., at a cost of $2,000. The American Steam Gauge and Valve Co. will shortly occupy the old Patterson rubber plant and will manufacture shrinkproof shells.

The representation from the U. S. Cartridge company's special police force emerged triumphant over the clerk's team in the bowling match staged on a local alley last Friday night. Officer Ginnell alone for the victors with a high single and high total to his credit.

Frank "Son" Egan, a well known Lowell inspector, has been appointed a local inspector of the Bethlehem Steel company, which is having some of its product manufactured at the U. S. Cartridge company.

As was indicated in The Sun over five months ago the Bigelow-Hartford company's business in this city is practically gone and the last of the machinery will be transferred there to Clinton or Thompsonville within a few weeks.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon, of the United Textile Workers, conferred with representatives of the Nashua Manufacturing company strikers' committee on Saturday. Mr. McMahon is of the opinion that the strike will be of short duration.

Thomas Morrison, the new secretary of the Trades and Labor council has been a member of a labor organization for a number of years. For the past few years he has been engaged as assistant to Secretary Charles E. Anderson and therefore is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office he has been elected to.

In the election of William Hunt as custodian of the union headquarters in Middle street, the body has pleased the members. Mr. Hunt is a hardworking and painstaking official and is fully deserving of the position.

Several labor meetings will be held tonight on account of tomorrow being a holiday, while others will be allowed to slip over for another week.

Many of the local mill and factory employees will enjoy the holiday tomorrow by attending the fourth game of the world's series in the Hub. Quite a number of men have secured tickets but those less fortunate will have to buck the line with the rest of the rooters.

The City Bowling league will start its schedule Wednesday evening of this week. "Kempton," the husky fireman, will again be seen in the lineup of one of the teams and according to the statements of his friends, not a few records will be smashed after he hits his proper stride.

The labor and health departments at the U. S. Cartridge Co., which have been in operation for some time have proven eminently satisfactory. An up-to-date restaurant, which will offer reliable food at low cost, will soon be established in the new addition to the main building.

Robert Place, superintendent of the Flint mills, Fall River, Mass., has been appointed by Governor Walsh as a trustee of the Bradford-Durfee Textile school, to replace the late James B. Cunnison. The appointment meets with general satisfaction and prominent mill men say the chief executive of the state couldn't have made a better selection.

The Parkhill baseball team, composed of employees of the Parkhill Manufacturing Co., Fitchburg, Mass., has won the championship of that city by winning 10 out of 19 games. The team received the most enthusiastic and loyal support from the mill owners and employees of the mills.

The republic of Argentina is reported as having all its textile mills busy making cloths for Europe, one company alone having turned out over 6,000 yards a day. Large quantities of white blankets for hospital use, dark colored blankets for the soldiers and khaki colored blankets for the use of the officers are only a few of the articles of war that the mills of Argentina are making just now.

Francis D. Garrity, of a well known Middle street plumbing and steamfittering establishment, promised the boys a violinola concert for last night, but he failed to show up with the machine although his friends waited patiently for him to make his appearance. Probably he went looking for his chum who attended one of the big shops in Boston, Saturday night.

A newspaper report commenting upon the work of Andrew Griffin, a well known mill man, says: "Supervising the work of two mills more than 100 miles apart is the unusual feat now being performed by Andrew F. Griffin of North Adams, Mass., who is regarded as one of the leading woolen and worsted manufacturers in New England. Mr. Griffin, who has been agent of the Hoosac Worsted mills in North Adams for the past five years, recently assumed the agency of the Daniels Worsted mills in West Rockland, and is now running both concerns although they are widely separated."

Retail Clerks' Union

was held yesterday afternoon in Carpenter's hall, Runels building, with a large gathering of members in attendance. Oswald Bertrand, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. Frank Warnock, president of the Trades and Labor council, gave a very instructive discourse on the reason why the organization should affiliate itself with the American Federation of Labor and what benefits would be derived by accomplishing such a move. Reasons why such affiliation would be of benefit through the bettering of working and financial conditions was stated by Organizer N. J. Nally, who also spoke of the results obtained by similar organizations in various parts of the country. Charles E. Anderson, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor, spoke on the formation of the federation and told how it has grown from 30,000 members to its present size, numbering nearly 3,000,000. He also endeavored to show the benefits the clerks would receive by affiliating with the main labor body. Another meeting of the organization will be held on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, at Trades and Labor hall, at which this matter will be acted upon.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

MAN WHO INVESTIGATED LABOR TROUBLES IN COLORADO IS THE SPEAKER AT GRACE CHURCH

The speaker at the Grace church Public Forum, Sunday night, was Henry A. Atkinson of Boston, who went to Colorado as a representative of church social service organizations to investigate the labor war.

It was on demand of the women the speaker said, that United States troops were sent to Colorado to restore order, and from that time on there was no violence.

The speaker maintained that the trouble in the first place was due to the undemocratic attitude of the operators, who refused to meet the men in conference and listen to their grievances. "If John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had gone to Colorado a year ago last June and done then what he has done now, they would have come together and there would have been no Ludlow massacre."

He also spoke of the attitude of the coal companies toward the laws. Colorado, he said, has the best laws of any state where there is any considerable amount of mining; but the operators ignore them. This was shown by extracts from the annual report of the state mine inspector.

Also, the coal companies have political control. The reason that Ludlow was destroyed was because the miners put out the operators in the preceding election. Whenever a situation developed, where the companies could not have what they wanted, they manipulated the political strings so that they got that thing. They show absolute disregard of the needs of humanity.

The claim has been made, he said, that the men are ignorant; that if we knew the kind of men the operators have to deal with, we would understand the situation better. They are ignorant, he admitted; but these strikes have been occurring, at intervals of 10 years, right along. The demands in each case have been practically the same and have been met in the same way; and the strikers of today are the strike breakers of 10 years ago. They were brought in, not by the miners, but by the coal companies.

Prominent periodicals everywhere are daily exposing the harmful effects of the drug, caffeine, in coffee.

Physicians, food experts, medical writers and editors largely agree that the cumulative effect of the 2½ grains of caffeine in the average cup of coffee is responsible for the many troubles, such as sleeplessness, nervous prostration, heart palpitation, indigestion, etc., that subtly beset most regular coffee drinkers.

Some people seemingly hold up under regular coffee drinking without serious results; but modern thinkers, with respect for the fundamentals of health and longevity, are daily changing to

THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Red Sox and Phillies Meet on Braves Field, Boston—Thousands in Line Before Game

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans, meeting at Braves Field in the third game of the world series today had a setting for their championship activities a crowd which officials predicted would prove to be the greatest paid attendance in annals of baseball. The teams had changed over Sunday from the Phillies park, the smallest ball yard in the major league to the biggest grounds in the country. For two days Braves Field will be the scene of action with the resulting prospect that both financially and in the number of spectators this will be a record series. To date the attendance is behind that of last year, but the amount of money received is in advance of previous figures.

Perfect Weather
Every element of interest possible in advance was present to draw out today's tremendous throng. The weather, first consideration to many followers of baseball, was as fair as a midsummer day. Although the morning was frosty, the unclouded sun promised a touch of warmth to blunt the edge of the light autumn breeze. The forecaster's prediction that the temperature would rise about noon added to the probabilities of a typical baseball atmosphere for the post-season contest.

"Crucial" Contest Today
Red Sox and Phillies went into the third game with honors even and with the interest as keen for the re-opening of the series in this city as it was for the start at Philadelphia. By some observers today's game was termed "crucial," particularly in its bearing on the plans of Manager Moran.

The Pitchers
It was regarded as a certainty that he would be forced to send his leading pitcher, Alexander, against the Red Sox in the first game here, as he did in the first game of the series on Friday. In order to gain the advantage which today's game will give the winner, Alexander defeated would mean a narrowing of Philadelphia's chances to slender proportions. Alexander again successful would give the Philadelphia manager an opportunity to seek pitching assistance tomorrow from a second string man, probably Chalmers, with the star of the staff ready to be called upon for a third game on Wednesday.

Alexander Great Attraction
Alexander's appearance alone was an attraction to the crowd but with it was coupled the semi-official word from Manager Carrigan of the Red Sox that "Dutch" Leonard, the youthful south-paw, would pitch for Boston. When in shape, Leonard has been looked upon as the best pitcher on the Red Sox staff.

His delivery contains more twists and turns to baffle batsmen than does that of any other of the Boston twirlers. He has not been used previously in the series for the reason, it is believed, of the possible danger that lay in the short fences at the Phillies park and the fact that eight of the nine Philadelphia batsmen are regarded as having an advantage over left-handed pitchers by batting right handed. Leonard is the only Philly player who bats from the left against a pitcher serving from that side.

Carrigan in Game
Manager Carrigan, however, convinced by the eight hits which his players obtained off Alexander in the first game that they had more than an even chance to defeat him, thought that Leonard would do better than hold his own on Braves Field. Here the broad reaches of the outfield give ample play to the swift feet of the Red Sox secondary defense, Lewis, Speaker and Hooper and they are depended upon to gather in many long flies that would go as hits on smaller fields. The outfield of these three men on Braves Field was considered likely to add to the fielding features of the series, most of which so far have developed within the inner circle.

Final decision by Manager Carrigan to send Leonard to the pitching box was expected to bring the manager himself into the game. He has caught Leonard's delivery most of the season, and results have shown that his directions add greatly to the pitcher's efficiency.

The assignment of umpires today was expected to bring "Silk" O'Loughlin of the American league behind the plate. Klem, of the National league on the base decisions, and Evans of the American league and Rigler of the National league to judge the fall of balls in the outfield.

The series to date has been marked by almost entire harmony between the players and arbitrators. A few remarks which Whittier exchanged with Umpire Klem in the opening game were followed by notice to the Philadelphia player that they had cost him $26 but the incident passed unnoticed at the time, and none similar has developed.

In Line All Night
The crowd, which it was thought would exceed 45,000 persons by game time, had its beginnings in a little knot of people who gathered at the gates last evening. Irregular lines formed at times during the night, but a nip in the air forced many to take exercise. Some, however, seemed impervious to the weather and improvising beds out of planks, newspapers, overcoats or chairs, went to sleep on the threshold of the park.

Daybreak found a group of somewhat more than 100 persons, most of them boys. The opening of the day car service caused the line to grow and every car swelled the crowd. By 7 o'clock special cars were coming to the grounds in the Allston district from all directions.

10,000 Dollar Seats
Most of those who waited sought seats in the third base bleachers. Those, at a dollar each, were as good as the reserved seats at first base for which $2 was charged. There were 10,000 dollar seats. Arrangements to care for the bleacherites at 50 cents each provided for the admission of about 8000, more than half of whom were forced to stand behind a fence stretched along the farthest recess in center field.

25,000 Reserved Seats
Although all the 25,000 reserved seats had been assigned in advance, not all had been called for when the ticket offices closed last night, and there was unexpected opportunity to get choice places at this effect in the morning papers brought early to the field several automobile parties, members of which took turns standing in the lines. A further opportunity for positions in the grand stand was offered by the sale of about 4000 admissions, entitling the purchasers to stand in the rear spaces of the stand.

400 Policemen on Duty
These numerous provisions for the public reduced the value of such tickets as the speculators had been able to procure and the traffic in seats today was almost negligible. A few vendors were arrested by plain clothes officers, who formed part of the force of 400 policemen which Supt. Michael H. Crowley directed in various activities in and about the field.

City Solons Met and Then Went to the Ball Game
The municipal council met this morning ostensibly to approve bills and incidentally to consider whatever other business the city clerk might have to offer. The solons cut the meeting short because they wanted to go to the ball game in Boston. The business of the meeting was strictly routine and nothing in the nature of a controversy was stirred into.

The following members of express matter for the Manchester & Concord Express Co. were appointed: Henry J. Sullivan, W. Harriman, A. Lafluer, H. Chaplin, T. Corbett, L. Pozzini and William O'Neill.

THE U. S. BUNTING SOCCER TEAM

Once more the Buntings demonstrated the determination to win the Soccer league pennant when on Saturday at Bunting park they defeated the strong Clan McPherson team of Lawrence by a score of 2 to 1.

The visitors won the toss and the Buntings had to face the wind and sun. At 3:22 Referee Wilkinson started the game, Greenhalge kicking the ball in motion. The Bunting forward was well down the field but Hackney drove them back with a well placed kick. Gifford started a nice passing movement by sending the ball to Mitchell who in turn sent out a good pass to Clegg who centered on the run. Greenhalge drove hard for a goal. Hackney cleared his lines in fine style. Not to be outdone the Buntings came back to the attack. Kelly transferring the ball to Wallace who ran around Matheson and passed the ball to Taylor who shot hard for a goal. Deyrsmith bring off a good save. The Clans came away with a burst. Curry shooting well, but the goal was equal to the occasion. The Bunting boys got busy and Clegg raced down the field crossing the ball to Wallace heading past the goal. Lowe received the ball from the post kick and passed on to Taylor who shot with great force. Deyrsmith made a wonderful save and also saving from Clegg. Mitchell and Greenhalge in succession which brought forth volumes of applause. Clegg got away but Hackney cleared his lines. Then the Clans came away, Curry sending out to Brown. Marriott in clearing fell and dislocated his arm and was carried off the field, suffering great pain. This was a hard blow to the Buntings who had to finish the game with a man short. The Clans pressed for some time afterward but they found A. Smith as solid as a rock. The Clans then started the kick and rush game, the goal being obliged to run out on three occasions to clear his lines. Mangman kicking the ball well up the field, Curry raced past Smith and from four yards range shot with great force but J. Smith brought off a brilliant save and was awarded the echo. The Bunting came away through Wallace and passing on to Taylor who in turn passed the ball to Greenhalge who gave the Buntings the lead with a shot that couldn't be stopped. Greenhalge was showered with congratulations. The Clans came way on the kickoff but were driven back by Gifford who was playing great ball, at this period, showing up as the best half back on the field defending and feeling his wing with beautiful passes. Clegg got away and showing a clean pair of heels, swung the ball to Taylor heading over the bar. Shortly afterward time was called and the Buntings were the winners by a score of 2 to 1. The lineup:

Buntings: J. Smith, J. Marriott, and A. Smith, H. Lowe, W. Kelly, (Capt.) W. Gifford, J. Wallace, T. J. Taylor, J. Greenhalge, W. Mitchell, S. Clegg.

Clans: Deyrsmith, Hackney, Matheson, Hamilton, Mangman, Emble, Wendle, Patton, Currie, Brown and Stewart.

Hunting Notes
Joe Marriott, who was injured during the game was removed to the hospital and probably will not play again this season. The club will tender him a benefit later.

The president of the New Bedford Soccer club was on the ground and at the close of the first half made an attractive proposition to Capt. Kelly of the Buntings. But Kelly decided to remain with the Buntings and the fans are greatly rejoiced to learn that the popular and clever captain is to remain with the team.

with a brilliant shot. From the kickoff the Buntings swarmed around the Clans goal. Wallace, shooting well, Matheson placed a corner which was placed behind. From the goal kick Gifford received the ball and passed to Mitchell who swung out to Wallace. The latter ran around Hamilton and then passed the ball to Taylor. Matheson fouling Taylor, a penalty was given. Bunting and Mitchell was called upon to take the kick. To everybody's dismay he shot wide. The Buntings came back to the attack by brilliant work by Clegg and Mitchell. Hackney, who was playing a great defensive game, drove them back. Half time was then called.

THEY WANT NEW CHURCH

FRENCH RESIDENTS OF PAWTUCKETVILLE TO ASK CARDINAL FOR ONE

A mass meeting of the French American residents of Pawtucketville in the interest of the establishment of a French Catholic church in the district was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street. The attendance, which was composed of men numbered about 150 and all expressed themselves in favor of the project and at the close of the meeting a committee was appointed to wait upon Cardinal O'Connell and pray him to assign one or two French Catholic clergymen to the Pawtucketville district.

The meeting was opened shortly after 2:15 o'clock by J. S. Lippe, who was later chosen chairman of the meeting. Mr. Lippe, in opening, explained the purpose of the gathering, saying many believed the time had come for the establishment of a church in that part of the city. He spoke of the census taken by a committee some two years ago, which at that time showed the district to contain about 400 families or about 1200 souls. He said since that census was taken about 100 more families moved into the locality, which brings the number of residents up to about 1500.

The election of a chairman and secretary then followed and Mr. Lippe and Josephat Sawyer were chosen to the respective positions. Mr. Sawyer in behalf of the old committee reported what had been done two years ago. He said His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell was seen at that time and the question of the establishment of a church in Pawtucketville was brought to his attention. The cardinal was supplied with data concerning the number of families in the district as well as with a list of subscribers, the amount reaching about $5,000. The cardinal informed the committee he would take the matter under advisement and the committee is still awaiting his reply.

Oliva Poirier, Roderick Descheneaux, J. W. Alexander, Meril Peltier, Joseph Payette, Mr. Proulx and other spoke in favor of the project. Incidentally it was mentioned that the clergy of St. Joseph's parish would not interfere with the movement which is left to His Eminence the cardinal to decide after hearing the facts in the case. Finally it was voted to empower the committee to wait once more upon the cardinal and submit the request of the residents of Pawtucketville. The committee is composed of the following: J. S. Lippe, chairman; Josephat Sawyer, secretary; Oliva Poirier, Meril Peltier, Joseph Payette and T. H. Brassard.

Simple Way to Have Beautiful Wavy Hair

Lustrous, fluffy, wavy hair plays an important part in the scheme of beauty. A heated iron should not be used to destroy the life, lustre and softness of the hair. It is far better to use plain liquid hair cream, which curls the hair more effectively, more lastingly, and at the same time keeps it beautifully soft, "light" and glossy. It is beneficial instead of harmful, and it is such a simple thing to apply the liquid before retiring using a clean tooth brush for the purpose of drawing this down the hair from root to tip. The hair, freed from dirt, dandruff, and odor, curls into soft, wavy ringlets. Pure hair cream in liquid form may be found in any drug store and it is a simple thing to use. It is not sticky, nor greasy and leaves no sediment, spots or streaks. The hair will be quite manageable, no matter what the style of coiffure.

ABERDEENS IN BOSTON MILK TRANSPORTATION

COUNTESS OF ABERDEEN

Earl and Countess Given Fine Reception—Sketch of Their Work—Lecture on Ireland

Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who are being entertained for five days by committees of Boston and New England, spent an exceedingly busy day yesterday, beginning with their arrival at 7 a. m. and ending at a late hour when the last visitors of the day departed from their reception room at the Copple-Plaza.

The committee that greeted them was made up mostly of Irish-Americans anxious to show their gratitude to the distinguished couple for philanthropic service to Ireland.

The committee which escorted the distinguished visitors from the South station to the hotel comprised P. A. O'Connell, chairman, and J. W. Reardon, secretary of the general committee; Joseph A. Donnell, chairman of the reception committee; ex-Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael J. Dwyer and Timothy J. Falvey.

The earl and countess attended morning service at Trinity church, conducted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Alexander Munro. After the service they had a pleasant conference with Dr. Mann, and the earl complimented the rector upon his "interesting and eloquent sermon."

Lady Aberdeen said that in the various cities she is to visit in this country her chief interest will be the acquisition of information in regard to the "child welfare" movement, a branch of which in Ireland has received much attention from her for the last 10 or 12 years, as has also the movement for the eradication of tuberculosis.

The result in Ireland has been a great reduction of infant mortality, and within the last seven years a drop of 50 a week in the total death rate of both infants and adults. The British government is now giving financial aid to the child welfare movement, features of which are mothers' clubs and pure milk depots.

Though averse to discussing the war, Lord Aberdeen spoke of the distinction which many Irishmen have won in it, saying that a number of them have won the Victoria Cross. A number of his own staff have particularly distinguished themselves, he declared.

He spoke with gratitude of the floral offering received by him and the countess yesterday.

At 7 p. m. a banquet will be tendered the visitors at the Copple-Plaza, a reception being held during the preceding half-hour. Other guests will be Gov. Walsh, Mayor Curley, Cardinal O'Connell, President Lowell of Harvard and President MacLaren of Tech.

A feature of the visit hitherto unannounced is an address to the students at Harvard to be delivered by Lord Aberdeen on Friday. Next week Lord and Lady Aberdeen are to be in Toronto, where the countess will attend a conference of the national council of women, of which the Duchess of Connaught is honorary president and Lady Aberdeen advisory president.

Lord Aberdeen is the seventh earl of that name, the owner of an estate of 55,000 acres in Aberdeenshire, Scotland. He was born in 1847, son of a British prime minister, was lord lieutenant of Ireland in 1886, governor-general of Canada from 1893 to 1898 and again lord lieutenant of Ireland for 10 years ending last February. He has been lord lieutenant of Aberdeenshire for 35 years.

Lady Aberdeen was Isobel Maria Marjoribanks, daughter of Baron Temple, her brother, the present baron, is the husband of a sister of the present Duke of Marlborough. She was married to Lord Aberdeen in 1877.

To Lecture on Ireland

His first formal appearance as a speaker will be his lecture in Tremont temple Wednesday evening on "The Reminiscences of a Viceroy." Lady Aberdeen will also speak at this meeting upon the topic, "Ireland, Onward and Upward." Lady Aberdeen has been an ardent advocate of home rule for Ireland for 20 years.

Incidental to their visit to this country is a series of interesting lectures commending them to the good offices of friends in this country of Irish leaders. John E. Redmond wrote under date of Sept. 17:

"Dear Lady Aberdeen: 'I have received your letter of the 15th inst. and I am rejoiced to hear that you are about to visit America and Canada in the interest of your public health movement, which has undoubtedly done a great deal of good in Ireland. 'Especially I commend that portion of your work which deals with infant mortality. I need not say I wish you every success in your mission and I feel sure that all my friends in the United States will give you their assistance.'"

Tribute by Cardinal Logue

Cardinal Logue writing from Ara Coeli, Armagh before the departure of the countess, said: "My Dear Lady Aberdeen—I have great pleasure in learning that you are about to visit America and Canada in the interest of your public health movement, which has undoubtedly done a great deal of good in Ireland. 'Especially I commend that portion of your work which deals with infant mortality. I need not say I wish you every success in your mission and I feel sure that all my friends in the United States will give you their assistance.'"

"Even when your official connection with the country has ceased, for the time at least, you have not relaxed your efforts or lost your interest in promoting the success of the important movement which owes so much of its progress to your zeal and ceaseless labor."

IN POLICE COURT

Larceny From Pollard Co.'s Store—House Broken Into

Claiming that on last Saturday he made his first visit to a big department store since coming to this country and that he did not know how to make a purchase, Peter Nasutewicz stoutly denied that he was guilty of stealing one hat valued at 38 cents from the A. G. Pollard Co. when arraigned before Associate Justice Fisher in the local court this forenoon. The evidence offered by the Government, through Prosecuting Officer Downey, was too convincing, however, and Peter was ordered to contribute a $10 note for his misdemeanor.

A clerk in the Pollard store testified that about noon on Saturday last, the defendant entered the basement of the store and stepped up to the hat counter. He selected a "model 1913" derby and putting it on his head, threw his old cap on the floor and started to walk up the stairs. A tag hanging from the back of the new hat proved too conspicuous and the clerk followed Peter and apprehended him half way up the stairs.

Testifying in his own behalf, the defendant said that he had not been in this country long and was not accustomed to the system of the big stores. He said when he picked up the hat he planned to go to the office and deposit a one dollar bill and get back two pennies. He could not explain why he started for the exit or the reason for dropping his cap on the floor and a finding of guilty was made.

Another alleged "shoplifter" was arrested in the Pollard store Saturday in the person of Vincent Velra, accused of stealing one shirt valued at 50 cents. After Vincent had pleaded guilty, Inspector Walsh told the court that the defendant lifted a shirt from

All the Austro-German forces gathered on the Danube front for the invasion of Serbia have crossed that river and the Teutons are attacking to the south of Belgrade, which they captured late last week, the Berlin war office announced today.

The Serbians are not expected by military observers in London to make a decided stand north of the mountains near Kraguyevatz about 50 miles south of Belgrade. These form an admirable defensive line, as was shown during the Austrian invasion last year.

The Teutonic occupation of Belgrade was made good after two days of desperate fighting in the streets of the city, according to descriptions telegraphed to Budapest. It is declared in these that the Serbians are retreating only step by step.

8900 Germans Dead

The Germans left dead estimated at between 5000 and 5500 in number in front of the allied lines after their ineffective assaults of the last few days in the vicinity of Loos, in northern France, according to today's statement of the French war office. It alludes to the outcome of the fighting as "a grave and costly check" to the Germans.

Artillery Engagements

Heavy artillery engagements north of La Scarpe and in the Champagne are the only activities on the western front mentioned in the official statement from Paris.

Greek Parliament Meets

Meeting importance attaches to the meeting today of the Greek parliament, at which the new cabinets declaration of future policy in connection with the war is expected. The alleged secret treaty between Germany and Bulgaria also is likely to be a subject of debate. The German legation at Athens denies the existence of such a treaty.

King Constantine III

King Constantine of Greece again is ill and confined to his room, according to advices through Berlin.

Germans Destroy Belgrade

Paris gets reports that three-quarters of Belgrade, which now is in Teutonic hands, was destroyed by the shell fire of the Austrians and Germans whose drive into Serbia now is in full swing.

Allies at Saloniki

It is hinted in an Athens despatch that a much larger allied force than had been reported constitutes the expedition being landed at Saloniki for service at Serbia.

Bulgarians Digging Trenches

Reports from Bucharest are that Bulgarian troops are digging trenches near the Rumanian frontier and that artillery also has been brought up.

TEUTON MEETS STUBBORN RESISTANCE AT SERBIAN ADVANCE DEFENSES

LONDON, Oct. 11, 1:05 p. m.—The Austro-German armies which, with the help of their giant 305 millimetre guns, crossed the Danube and Save rivers and occupied Belgrade, are meeting with stubborn resistance at the Serbian advance defenses, but have not yet come in contact with the main Serbian forces.

The Serbians plan of campaign depends considerably upon the amount of assistance they will receive from allied troops, but it is not believed that they will attempt, in any event, to make a decided stand north of the mountain range near Kraguyevatz, which they already have proved to be a line offering superb facilities for defense.

LEONARD STAR PORTSIDER OF THE RED SOX WHO OUTPITCHED THE GREAT ALEXANDER IN TODAY'S GAME

STOLEN P. O. ORDERS PASSED BY THIEVES

Notifications have been sent to Postmaster John F. Meehan from the inspectors' department of the U. S. postal service requesting him to warn the business men and merchants of this city against accepting money orders stolen from postoffices in this section of the country. It is known that money order blanks stolen from New Jersey have been filled out and passed in Boston and that the culprits have recently been very near Lowell. Blanks have also been stolen from a New Hampshire postoffice recently and it is probable that the person who now holds the orders will attempt to use them soon. The money order stamps and type were also taken.

Money order blanks 2599 to 2600, inclusive, were stolen from the postoffice at Leonard, N. J., on Sept. 9. A young man representing himself as Arthur C. Cox of the National Law and Reporting agency of Chicago, Ill., passed several of the stolen orders in Boston last Thursday and from information secured by the postal inspectors he is still in this vicinity. He cashed two money orders in a Boston jewelry store, buying a birthday gift which he claimed was for a lady friend. He also purchased a ticket for San Francisco tendering two money orders and securing $35.25. His method was to have the money orders made out so that there would be some amount due him after the purchase had been made.

Two more orders stolen from the New Jersey office were cashed at the Driscoll hotel, Washington, D. C. Here the young man presented a business card bearing the name of M. J. Wadsworth of New York, on the back of which was written a letter of introduction. In each case the name of A. A. Hardy was used as the remitter.

When in Washington the much wanted man wore a U. S. marine khaki uniform, regulation hat, brown leggings and tan shoes. With the money order cashed in Washington he bought a blue suit and has since been seen wearing a grey suit. He is described as being about 32 years old, five feet nine inches in height, dark hair and complexion and is said to be a good talker. He has the appearance of a salesman or clerk. The warnings have been sent out by J. T. Cortelyou of Philadelphia, inspector in charge, and Inspector S. H. Morris of Boston.

It is especially requested that the merchants and merchants' associations take notice.

Nothing has been reported as yet relative to the money orders stolen from New Hampshire. On October 3, the postoffice at Eaton Centre was robbed and among other things money orders 565 to 600 found missing. Inspector Morse states that he is positive the thief or thieves will attempt to cash the orders soon and the cooperation of the public is asked to apprehend the parties.

looked over all Alexander had to offer they no longer had any fear of him and were prepared to give his side-flying slants and fast breaking curves a "ride" to all parts of the field.

Leonard Carrigan's Selection

Manager Carrigan's early morning selection for pitcher was "Dutch" Leonard, the star pitcher of the American league. "Dutch" was anxious to match his wits and skill against the hope of the Phillies and with these two master craftsmen in the box a hair-raising pitching duel was looked forward to.

The Sox had all the advantage that goes with the home crowd and there were more than double the loyal supporters on hand to cheer them than the Phillies could crowd into their yard on Broad street.

But the playing field itself was stranger to the Sox than to the Phillies, this home of the Braves having been selected in place of the American league park, because of its superior accommodations.

THE HEINZ ELECTRIC CO.

It was stated at the plant of the Heinz Electric company, in Lawrence street this afternoon that the company is very busy turning out magnetos for foreign and domestic buyers. It was emphatically denied that the company is manufacturing anything pertaining to munitions. It was also announced that just as soon as experienced help can be obtained the company will start a two eight-hour shift schedule. The orders on hand are exceptionally large and will keep the plant operating at capacity for some time to come.

NO BURGLARS FOUND

Several officers after much knocking at the door of the J. L. Chalfoux store last night succeeded in discovering that the night watchman was making his rounds of the store. Information via the Lowell fall that there was a call from the store at a late hour led to the suspicion that burglars were inside, but after much turmoil a squad of officers found that the watchman was attending to his business.

FINE SETTING FOR BATTLE

BRAVES FIELD, Boston, Oct. 11.—The third game of the 1915 world's series was fought here this afternoon over the wonderful diamond and the wide green reaches of the largest and most beautiful baseball park in the world. It was a fine setting for the great battle that was to decide whether the Boston Red Sox or the desperately fighting Phillies should have the "jump" by taking the odd contest.

The change from the tight little Philly park in the City of Brotherly Love to this wonder field was most striking. It seemed that the entire Philadelphia plant could be placed within the foul lines here and there would still be space left to keep Cravath's home runs in the lot.

It was a wonder day, too, with not a cloud in the sky. An Indian summer sun by noon had driven away the chill in the early morning air. The waters of the historic Charles river, running beyond the park rippled in a lazy autumn breeze.

Excellent Playing Conditions

Never were conditions more ideal for a contest between the titled athletes of the two big baseball leagues, and the outpouring of the explosive Boston fans early gave promise of a record-breaking throng. Always one of the most enthusiastic ball towns in the country, Boston was all but "daffy" in a delirium of joy today over the prospect of a game that was expected to be a turning point in the great series that began in Philadelphia last Friday and was interrupted there on Saturday evening with honors even.

Alexander for Phillies

No little of the anticipatory excitement today was due to the fact that Grover Cleveland Alexander was to make his second start and attempt to hurl the slugging Sox back for another defeat. The whole faith of the Phillies was wrapped up in "Alex" today and they confidently expected that last Friday's indifferent game had really just served to put "Alex" on edge for today and that he would prove far more effective for having had the experience of facing the red hosed warriors from Boston. On the other hand the Sox were just as confident that having once

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The governments of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala remained to be heard from today in approval of the action of the United States government in deciding to recognize the Carranza government in Mexico. The countries which participated in the Pan-American peace conference through their diplomatic representatives—Argentina, Chile and Brazil—already have sanctioned the work of the conference. The approval of the first named governments is expected momentarily.

The next step to be taken by the United States will be determination of the form in which recognition shall be accorded. It is expected to be extended this week, possibly through formal notification to Elisco Arredondo, Carranza's official agent here. Prohibition of shipment of arms to factions opposed to Carranza government then will follow.

Although an arms embargo will materially weaken the resources of the Villa element, M. Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister of the convention government in a formal statement given out here announces that the struggle will be continued in Mexico. Similar advices have been received by the state department from American Consul Agent Carruthers following an interview with Villa.

SECRETARY OF MASSACHUSETTS TOTAL ABSTINENCE SOCIETY DELIVERS SEVERAL ADDRESSES

Rev. Warren P. Landers, secretary of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, addressed the Sunday schools of St. Anne's Episcopal, First Trinitarian and Worthen Street Baptist churches yesterday. He also spoke at the Highland M. E. church and in the afternoon he addressed a public rally at the Y. M. C. A. on which occasion his topic was "Christ and Drink." He said in part:

The mystery of evil is summoning man's supreme strength. The dominance of physical and material struggle is evident from the amount of space devoted to the average paper and magazine to reports and articles dealing with military exploits and industrial conflicts. But the measure of alcohol furnishes no small part of man's battle. Who has a sufficient program of victory? Christ's words, "No man can serve two masters" indicate in outline the way of success. Mr. Landers drew from the character and teaching of Jesus as applied to the complex life of this country, lessons of abstinence, a strong facing against the drink traffic and the culture of compassion for those caught by heritage, acquired appetite or surroundings. The church needs so much a changed program as a more emphatic interpretation of the spirit of its founder, who held and practiced both formation and reformation, a complete expression of the divine love.

CLUES TO TRAIN BANDITS

Federal Officials at Clarkburg, W. Va., Now Believe Robbers Did Not Escape Across Ohio River

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 11.—Fresh clues to the men who on Friday morning held up and robbed Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 1 at Central station were discovered yesterday near the scene of the robbery by E. W. Athey, United States deputy marshal of Martinsburg, who returned here today and conferred with other federal officers. One of the officers said later that the new information completely upsets the theory that the bandits escaped across the Ohio river.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—German cannon, mortars, bomb-throwers and aeroplanes captured in the recent battle of Champagne were placed on exhibition today at the Hotel Invalides. All day long vast crowds, eager to see the trophies of war, made their way to the exhibition.

The scene was set impressively in the grand court of honor at the entrance to the Hotel Invalides, with its hundreds of great cannons captured during the Napoleonic campaigns and with the statue of the great general looking down on these latest additions.

It is estimated that 200,000 persons made their way into the court. When the gates closed at sundown thousands of persons were waiting to gain admittance, forming a line a mile long.

The German guns on exhibition included 11 field pieces, 23 large bore mortars, two 6-inch cannon, five large bomb-throwers, 20 small cannon and 30 trench guns.

A large force of soldiers and police held back the crowds of sightseers who were brought from the hospitals and had the first opportunity to see the trophies they helped to capture. Then the public was admitted.

The crowd pressed into the court in a great wave. Widows in mourning, maimed soldiers and children joined in the expressions of patriotic enthusiasm.

Some of the cannon showed the effects of battle. Their wheels were covered with the white clay of Champagne. Many of the trunnions were wreathed off by the French artillery's fire. Four of the large field guns were still loaded, and were surrounded by a special guard of artillerymen to prevent accident.

All sections and classes of Paris contributed to the vast assemblage. The scene resembled that which followed the announcement of the French victory in Champagne.

CUTS THROAT IN CELL

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Edward L. Skinner, 21 years old, who was serving a three to five-year sentence in the State Prison, Charlestown, for felonious assault, committed suicide at 6:05 last evening in his cell by cutting his throat with a razor.

He was found lying on the floor of his cell with the razor beside him by Officer B. H. Hill, who had just gone on duty and started on his tour of inspection of the cells in the west wing of the prison.

Skinner's cell was the first on the second floor in the west wing, and as Officer Hill entered into the cell he saw Skinner lying in a pool of blood and breathing with difficulty. He notified Acting Warden William Hendry and Skinner was removed to the hospital.

A hurried call was sent for Dr. Daniel J. Hurley of Charlestown, the assistant prison physician, and Dr. Joseph M. Loughlin of Dorchester, the prison physician.

When Skinner reached the hospital it was apparent he was lifeless. Medical Examiner Macbeth was notified. Following his examination of the body he ordered it removed to the North Grove street morgue.

Skinner was committed from Taunton, Nov. 18, 1914. He served almost 11 months of his sentence and during

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Irritability, over-sensitiveness, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, dizziness—these are symptoms of nervous exhaustion, neurasthenia. Very often the patient feels best and brightest at night. Rest seems to bring no refreshment. This distressing condition is caused by worry, overwork, and worry invite the disorder.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, giving a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet leave you in the best of health. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, is corrected by these tonic pills. Your own doctor tells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes chronic.

This useful book, "Causes of the Nervous System and What to Eat to Keep It Healthy," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this page.

FEDERAL OF HARRY GRANT

Services in Cambridge for Auto Race Victim Who Died of Injuries Sustained in New York

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the chapel at Mt. Auburn cemetery for Harry F. Grant, the automobile racing man who died last week in the Conny Island hospital of injuries sustained Sept. 27, on the Philadelphia Bay Speedway, when his motor car caught fire as he was trying to overtake the Astor cup race. The chapel was crowded with friends and relatives, and there was a large display of floral offerings.

Rev. Raymond Calkins, pastor of the First Church (Congregational), Cambridge, officiated, and a quartet sang several selections. The pallbearers were George W. Buntin, Herbert Rogers, Fred Small, George Moore, Harry Barry and Charles Hall, classmates of Mr. Grant in Rindge Manual Training school, from which he was graduated in 1913. Burial was at Mt. Auburn in the family lot.

Paris Believes Teutons Are Trying Balkan Tack Because Elsewhere Operations Are Failing

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Diplomatic and other official quarters believe that operations in the Balkans have assumed new and important significance. The Austro-German drive to the southeast is regarded as sequel to the French successes in the Champagne and the manner in which the Russians have prevented envelopment of their armies. Germany and Austria, according to this view, are compelled to seek a new field of effort toward the accomplishment of decisive results, as well as for the attempt to break through the enveloping ring of the Allies.

It is maintained that the Allies, having demonstrated their power of resistance in all directions except in the southeast, Germany is now passing her forces against the one remaining point where she may be able to break through the encircling wall.

This is believed to be a chief reason for the extent of the Austro-German movement to force a way to Constantinople and the routes leading to the Orient, as well as for the counter-

FELL INTO CANAL

Fortunately the Water Had Been Drawn Off and Boy Sustained Only Good Ducking

But for the fact that the water had been drawn off in the Western canal yesterday, as is customary on Sunday, Fred Smith, 11 years, of 32 Common street, might have been another victim of Lowell's waters. The lad and several companions were playing on the bank of the canal near the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets when Smith lost his balance and toppled over the wall into the canal. Fortunately the water was very low and the boy succeeded in walking to shore although he received a good ducking. A scalp laceration sustained in the fall was treated at the Lowell hospital.

PRINCE OF WALES SHOT

PARIS REPORTS THAT JEALOUS HUSBAND ATTACKED SON OF KING GEORGE AND QUEEN MARY

A Paris report says that the Prince of Wales, eldest son of King George and Queen Mary, is suffering from a bullet wound in the arm, inflicted by a French corporal, who was jealous of his wife. The story goes that the woman was an attendant at an inn frequented by the prince and other British and French officers, and that the corporal shot the prince and then turned the weapon on himself when he saw his wife waiting upon the officers. The corporal was badly wounded, but the prince who is exonerated from blame in the matter, was only slightly hurt. Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, was born in 1894.

HAVERHILL OBSERVES 275TH ANNIVERSARY WITH A TWO DAYS' CELEBRATION

HAVERHILL, Oct. 11.—A two days' celebration of the settlement of Haverhill 275 years ago was begun yesterday with special services in the churches and a meeting in city hall at which Governor Walsh and Mayor Albert L. Bartlett assisted.

An interesting feature of the observance was the receipt of an illuminated address from the city council of Haverhill, England, for which the city was named. The address was read to the city hall gathering by Horace M. Sargent, clerk of the district court, who presided at the meeting.

Rev. Dr. Neenish, Boynton, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the principal speaker at a religious service held by the churches jointly last night. Mr. Boynton was formerly a pastor here.

KIPLING'S SON MISSING

PARENTS ARE HOPEFUL THAT HE SUFFERED NO MORE SERIOUS FATE THAN CAPTURE

LONDON, Oct. 11, 8:50 a. m.—Rudyard Kipling has received no further news of his 12-year-old son, who was wounded and reported missing in the north of France. He was only slightly wounded when last seen and his parents are hopeful that he suffered no more serious fate than being taken prisoner by the Germans. Mr. Kipling sent to the Associated Press today the following message:

"I should be obliged if you would make public in America the fact that up to date my son John is reported wounded and missing, not wounded and believed killed, as stated in the press a few days ago."

Columbina, good time for everybody.

NEW NOTE TO ENGLAND

PRES. WILSON STUDIED REPLY PREPARED BY SEC. LANSING—TO GO FORWARD AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Wilson today studied the long note prepared by Secretary Lansing answering the several notes received in the last few months from Great Britain on the subject of interference with American trade. The note, which has been delayed largely because the president wanted to keep it apart from the controversy with Germany is now expected to go forward within a few days.

Although virtually complete it may require some time for further revision by the president and state department officials, as it covers the entire subject of contraband as dealt with by the British admiralty before the so-called orders in council were issued and detentions since then.

The case of the American meat packers is covered in a broad general way in the same note, although specific cases are being dealt with in separate communications.

CHEERS AND SMILES TELL PRESIDENT PUBLIC APPROVES OF HIS ENGAGEMENT

PRESIDENT WILSON and MRS. GALT in New York Oct. 9. © 1915 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

For the first time since the announcement of their engagement President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt appeared in public together in New York, driving about the city and attending the theatre. From the time the president and Mrs. Galt arrived at the Pennsylvania station until the end of the city's entertainment, crowds pressed about them to see the woman who will soon be "the first lady of the land." With the crowds, the policemen and secret service agents everywhere present, the visit of the president and his bride-to-be took on the character of a public demonstration. When they went for an automobile ride their car was followed by ten others. When on foot they were never able to move until a vanguard of secret service men had opened a way through throngs of interested people. But although both the president and Mrs. Galt sought to avoid publicity as much as possible, they never seemed to resent the interest and enthusiasm of the public.

On one or two occasions, Mrs. Galt acknowledged the cheering, with bows and smiles, and several times Mr. Wilson doffed his hat to the crowds. The people, on their part, showed more enthusiasm for their president, perhaps than at any previous informal public appearance. Cheering, handclapping and shouts greeted him whenever he was seen. The picture shows

Mrs. Galt and the president leaving a New York hotel.

Continued

of the United States to grant recognition to the party led by Gen. Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico.

It became known yesterday that some of the South American governments, long before Saturday's conference had authorized their diplomatic representatives to favor the recognition of Gen. Carranza in the Pan-American deliberations.

Pres. Wilson has received from Sec.
Lansing a report of the proceedings of the final conference, but several days ago he indicated to the secretary his acquiescence in the plan proposed.

The form in which recognition is to be accorded has not been decided, but it may be done by formal notification to Blasco Arrendondo, authorized representative here of the Carranza government. Extension of recognition is expected within a week.

This will result in the immediate order of an embargo on arms against factions opposed to the Carranza government, a step which will materially weaken the resources of the Villa element, which intends to continue the fight in Mexico.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo gave out a statement last night in behalf of the Villa faction, declaring that while it was a source of satisfaction that the United States has shown its sympathy with the Mexican constitutional revolution against Huerta by recognizing a revolutionary faction, nevertheless it was intended to demonstrate by further military operations that the Carranza party's supremacy was temporary.

George C. Carothers, American consular agent, telegraphed the state department the substance of a long interview he had had with Gen. Villa at Juarez in which the latter explained, in line with utterances to the press last night, that he intended to continue fighting Carranza.

No mention was made of withdrawing protection to foreigners as reported in press dispatches, but officials realize that the legal responsibility for protection of foreigners rests always with the recognized government for all parts of the country, whether in rebellion or not.

Americans for this reason were recently advised to withdraw from northern Mexico, but many of them have failed to heed the state department's advice. The Washington government during the last administration took the position, however, that even when a recognized government existed in Mexico City, the leaders of rebellious factions were personally responsible for the acts of their followers, and gave warning to that effect.

This precedent probably will be followed in the event of difficulties now in Northern Mexico.

Although the documents presented to
Sec. Lansing and the Pan-American conference by Blasco Arrendondo on behalf of Gen. Carranza, on which the decision to recognize the Carranza party was based, have not been made public, it became known that the first chief had given explicit assurances with reference to the protection of foreigners' claims, amnesty for political offenders and the treatment of the clergy.

He promises among the first concerns of his government attention to the settlement of the land question, an equitable system of taxation, development of an educational system and to secure a regular election by a federal congress.

News of Coming Recognition, He Says, Will Morally Strengthen Constitutional Cause

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 11.—General
Carranza received with great pleasure the news that the Pan-American

THOUGHT HE WAS BURGLAR

Rev. Byron Holley, Rector of New Orleans Church, Killed Son of Prominent Railroad Man

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 11.—The Rev. Byron Holley, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, one of the most fashionable congregations in the city, early today shot and killed Lansing Pearsall, son of a prominent railroad man here. Dr. Holley told the police he shot Pearsall thinking he was a burglar.

About 6 o'clock Dr. Holley telephoned police headquarters that he had shot a man in the rectory study. The minister told the police that while in his office he heard someone in his study adjoining. Taking a pistol he stepped into the study and saw a man near the door.

"The intruder did not answer my questions to who he was and what he wanted," Dr. Holley said, "and when I ordered him out he made a motion as if to draw a weapon. I fired and the man fell."

Several hours later the man was identified as the morgue by Nathan G. Pearsall, claim agent of the Texas & Pacific railroad, as his son Lansing, 22 years old. No reason for the young man's presence in the rectory could be given by his parents or friends. Dr. Holley said he never had seen Pearsall before.

Tobacco?

Efficiency, Advancement, Success
DEMAND THAT A MAN KEEP CLOSE WATCH UPON HIMSELF

A harmful habit is a drawback. One of the greatest joys in life is that which follows victory over a habit. The active principle of tobacco is nicotine, seemingly innocuous to others, particularly when used to excess. For the man who knows that his nerves, heart, eyes, stomach, blood, etc., are being injured by addiction to tobacco, pipe, cigarettes, chewing, snuff, or cigars, I have a cheering and helpful book to send gratis upon request.

ARE YOU ENSLAVED?

If your own intelligence proves you are being injured by tobacco, don't delay in getting my book. It is fascinating and will convince you how the habit may be safely, quickly, easily and completely conquered. Post card will bring it. Legions of former tobacco addicts have described the remarkable benefits in being freed from the habit; tranquil nerves, improved health, new ambition, increased efficiency, etc. Address: Edward J. INDIAN SUMMER

All except those who are spiritually blind cannot but observe that Nature has lavished beauty all around us at the present time—beauty of such grandeur and infinite variety that he who walks abroad can easily forget the woes of the warring world and revel in the grandeur of the autumnal wonderland. Byron in his classic praise of the lands of the east said that all but the spirit of man is divine in their tropical loveliness but here even the spirit of man must take on a tinge of the glory that is so potent to lure us from city ways into roads where are spread out a glamor greater than that of the Arabian tales.

Beauty makes her home in all lands, but she is especially partial to our American New England at the time of the Indian summer. In no other country is there such a variety of color, such atmospheric clearness, such tenderness of outline in the time between the promise of the fall and the cheerlessness of winter. The annual repetition of the wonderful show blunts our perception to some extent, but those who come from other lands are moved to wonder and admiration by the woods of New England in October.

Just as the palette of the painter is powerless to portray the richness of the colors and the subtleties of the light and shade effects, so words fail to reflect the glamor of the season. Where a few weeks ago the trees stood in ranks of unbroken green, belts of jeweled loveliness light up the landscape as though the rainbows had fallen to earth. The elms are a pale gold with a suggestion of the delicate green that is gone; the oaks are a warm brown; chestnuts and beeches are crimson and purple and the maples blaze like the burning bush of Moses in scarlet and vermilion. The light that filters through is colored by the glow of the branches and every delicate little breeze sends down a fairy message from the loveliness overhead. Where the leaves have fallen, patterns of delicate tapestry have arranged themselves in rare richness, and the leaves that have been robbed of their beauty by air and moisture whirl like ghost legions over the cold earth. The beauty of autumn is a rare beauty, but it speaks of the bare branches, the icy streams and the long stretches of gray meadows.

The charm of Indian summer does not lie only in the light and loveliness of autumn leaves. It has another appeal, less esthetic perhaps, but not the less human. It has the appeal of the orchard, the homely corn fields where the moon makes long shadows, the ripened Halloween pumpkin, the grape clusters and the cider mill. It tells of garden, orchard and farm profusion, the full cellar, the pungent odors of kitchen preparations for the winter table, the cellar shelves and the honest American plans for the months ahead. It whispers of the husking bees, pop corn, the silo and the blazing logs. It carries a peculiar atmosphere of New England country life with its zest, its social intercourse, its contentment, its enjoyment of the fruits of patience and labor.

Those who would thoroughly enjoy tomorrow ought to plan for a walk in the country. Indian summer calls us from office, factory and tenement block, calls us to the paths where the pheasants and partridges thrill the heart of the huntsman and where there are beauties that are "too pure for the touch of a word." While the rest of the world makes deadly plans to annihilate a national enemy, let us go forth and revel in the glories that are for all who care to see and feel. It is the time of Indian summer which no other land but ours enjoys but for which the Nature lovers of all other lands well may envy us.

COLUMBUS DAY

Since the various societies more especially interested in the observance of Columbus day prefer one large celebration to many lesser celebrations, it so happens that the scene of the commemorative events shifts from one New England city to another annually. This year Lawrence has the honor, and many members of the Knights of Columbus and other organizations will journey to the down-river city to take part in the occasion and to share in the inspiration of the day. It is only a few years since the day became a state holiday, but already it has taken on a permanent aspect as though Massachusetts had been observing it from the beginning.

The appeal of Columbus day is broad and strong. It takes us back to a distant time before the stirring events of Concord and Lexington, a time when the discovery of the new world thrilled the great nations of the period with a veritable intoxication. This new world was indeed the El Dorado, the fabled land of richness and happiness. As seen by the great voyager himself it was a bright land to which should be carried the message of Christianity and civilization. He came not in the lust of territorial conquest or to add to the bright laurels of Spain, but to plant the cross in the wilderness. Nations have risen and fallen since then; Spain has lost its bright place as one of the foremost powers, and the land of the Indian has developed into a great and mighty nation.

It is but fitting that we should turn

aside from the ways of trade for one day to honor the memory of the great voyager. He was in many ways typical of what we like to think is the spirit of modern America. Persevering, courageous, zealous for the right as he saw it, he was not thwarted by obstacles nor cast down by misfortune. His cry was ever "Onward" in spite of skepticism, treason in his followers and the ingratitude of the great for whom he had done so much. His later days were clouded by suffering and others reaped the rewards that should have come to him, but time has vindicated his purpose and his achievements. We have many stories to inspire our children, but when we tell them of Washington, Lincoln and the other great ones, we ought to speak also with reverence and admiration of the great Christopher Columbus.

KEEP UP GOOD WORK

Our creditable Fashion Week will have failed of its purpose if it does not leave behind some positive indication of its success. It is all very well to decorate our streets, to dress up our store windows, to mark down prices and to attract suburbanites, but if the agitation does not awaken the spirit of loyalty and enterprise, it will have failed in its essential ends. The merchants and the civic bodies who cooperated have done their part nobly and it remains for the citizens to do the remainder. There is no denying that, last week, Lowell looked the part of a busy and thriving city. There was a great deal of enthusiasm apparent and considerable enterprise. Most of this can be kept alive permanently if we foster a proper community spirit and develop local pride until we are ready to defend the good name of Lowell in every practical manner. We cannot have thriving stores unless we patronize them and if we give to other cities the love and loyalty we owe to our own city, Lowell shall be the loser as well as everybody in it. Even though the flags are down, therefore, and the special displays dismantled, let us keep Lowell, trade in Lowell, and boom Lowell to the forefront. We have learned the lesson of civic enterprise; let us apply it until the next local agitation.

OUR BASEBALL SERVICE

The Lowell fans are not slow to realize where they are getting good service as was shown by the large and enthusiastic crowds in front of The Sun building during the first games of the series. Speed and accuracy were the watchword and The Sun system was the last word in efficiency. The games were covered by the trained sporting writers of the Associated Press, the greatest baseball experts in the world, and every play was flashed over a special wire into the Sun office, and given to the crowd in short order by means of the quick and clear megaphone announcements. No service could be more prompt, more accurate or more efficient—a fact which local rooters know from experience. Finally as soon as the last word flashes over the special wire, the Sun extra is on its way to the street and copies are being sold by the newsboys before the crowd has dispersed. Come to the square afterwards during the games, listen to the announcements and get the baseball extra a few minutes after the announcement that the game is over. This will prove to your satisfaction that the Sun baseball service during the world's series is unsurpassed and in these parts unequalled.

PRESIDENT CARRANZA

During the recent deliberations of the pan-American conference the conviction grew throughout the country that order could be restored only by the recognition of some strong Mexican leader by this country. The next question was to find the strongest and then to give him the necessary encouragement. This was attempted, and it is now hinted strongly that in a short time Washington will recognize Carranza as president of Mexico, the first leader to be so honored since the death of the unfortunate Madero. During the last year, Carranza has grown in power while Villa has weakened, and Carranza on the whole has been the more reliable. It is said that the president-to-be promises protection to foreigners and their property, amnesty to political prisoners and religious freedom to all. If he is sincere and able to carry out his pledges, no more can be expected at the present time. The government indirectly aided Villa as against Huerta but now Villa is discarded on account of his weakness. Had Huerta been recognized he could have restored peace. He was the only strong man who has appeared in Mexico since the days of Diaz.

AN IRREGULAR ORDER

Owing to an error of the municipal council in passing an order for compensation in the case of John Kelley who lost an arm and a leg in the accident at the vocational school, the money voted for the purpose cannot be paid until the legislature passes a new enabling act. Permission had been given for payment, but the municipal council voted the money to the boy's mother instead of to himself, and so owing to a technicality there will be delay in the settlement of the case. Errors of this nature may be more or less unavoidable but one cannot help thinking that this particular instance is almost inexcusable.

The selling of tags for the victims of the war in Lithuania was another reminder of the spreading waves of misery that flow in its wake. We have heard and responded to calls from Belgium, from Poland, from Armenia and from other sections and if the fire in the Balkans spreads we shall hear cries from many other small powers. Behind the curt war reports is a scene of desolation that can neither be described nor realized. War is waste in a very terrible sense—a waste of life, property and human happiness. We might pour out our millions like water but we could not make much of an impression on the mass of misery that remains where the blasting fires have passed.

The civics department of the Women's club has invited to speak before the Lowell public next Thursday an expert from Springfield who will tell of the plans adopted there for municipal recreation and the use of the schools as social centres. The subject is of timely interest, and under proper supervision and with the proper directing spirit, the school buildings might be more available to the advantage of the people.

Those who have fruit that they cannot use and do not intend to save should get in touch with families that might make good use of it, and to whom it would be a boon. With the high cost of living and the widespread suffering, it is shameful to see apples and other fruits rotting on the ground in some sections.

From the comments of the street crowds who listen to candidates, it would seem that the voters are from Missouri this year; they are tired of promises that end in a puff of smoke.

Columbus discovered the country; is it not time that you discovered it?

So many cats were captured that it was necessary to hire a house, where they were either fed to stockiness and

International Marriage

Henry P. Davidson of the Morgan banking firm was talking about international marriages.

"Well," he said, "I know of an international marriage that failed, that goodness, to come off. The girl was the daughter of a Paint Rock millionaire. The man was a count, a Spanish count. The count was absent-minded. That was his undoing. The girl's father gave a dinner for him in the Paint Rock castle overlooking Paint Rock, and at the dinner's end the count got up to a light a cigarette and then, by Jove, he started to remove the plates. The guests watched him in an open-mouthed silence. His napkin slung over his arm, he had got nearly all the plates removed when his millionaire host said to him gently: 'Wake up, George. You're not waiting in the beauty now, you know. You're pretending you're a count in Paint Rock. Wake up, man, for gracious sake!'"

Piling It On

He had been on a hunting expedition for several days in the backwoods, roughing it rather severely, and on taking a seat in a railway carriage, returning homeward he looked as begrimed and weather-beaten a trapper as ever brought his skins into settlement, says the Cleveland Leader.

He happened to find a seat next to a young lady—evidently belonging to Boston—who, after taking stock of him for a few minutes, remarked:

"Don't you find an utterly passionate sympathy with nature's most intricate aspirations among the sky-toppling mountains and the sea-dragging horizon-touching forests, my good man?"

"Oh, yes," replied the apparent backwoodsman, "and I am also frequently drawn into an exaltation of rapid soulfulness and beatific incandescence by the infinitesimal contiguity when my horse stumbles."

"Indeed," said the young lady, much surprised. "I had no idea that the lower classes felt like that."

Dewey Started Something

"Last time I was traveling in the south," ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew said, "I had to put up overnight at a second-rate hotel in Western Georgia. I said to the clerk, when I entered: 'Where shall I autograph?'"

"Autograph?" said the clerk.

"Yes, right here," said the senator, pointing to the register in which three roughly clothed, unshorn fellows immediately recognizable as 'Georgia Crackers,' one of the men advanced to the desk.

"Will you autograph?" asked the clerk, his face aglow with the pleasure that comes from the consciousness of intellectual superiority.

"Certainly," said the 'Georgia Cracker,' his face no less radiant than that of the clerk; "mine's rye."

"There was no escape for the clerk and he treated with as good grace as he could, commencing to sign the document. Next morning I said to him: 'That was too bad, the way you got caught last night.'"

"Well, I suppose I shouldn't complain," he replied; "but the next time I speak a foreign language in my own country I'll know what I am talking about."

Away

I cannot say, and I will not say that he is dead—he is just away!

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, he has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you'll say, who the wildest yearn for the old-time step and the glad return.

Think of him faring on, as dear in the love of There as the love of Here.

And loyal still, as gave the blows of his warrior-strength to his country's foes.

Mild and just as he was brave, When the sweetest love of his life he gave.

To simple things: Where the violets grew, Blue as the eyes they were likened to.

The tones of his hands have played; When the little brownish rust, harshly chirped.

Was due to him, as the mocking-bird, And he pined as much as a man in pain.

A writhing honey-bee wet with rain. Think of him still as the same, I say; He is not dead—he is just away!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Woburn Boy Killed—

Nashua Car Wrecked

WOBURN, Oct. 11.—Daniel McDevitt, 13-year-old son of William McDevitt, 22 Main street, was struck by an automobile while playing with his 3-year-old sister near their home last evening about 7:30 and died half an hour later at the Choate Memorial hospital from internal injuries.

The lad started to run across the street directly in the path of the machine. His sister's screams after the accident aroused the neighbors and passersby.

The machine was owned by John H. Bates and driven by Daniel McGilvary, a demonstrator in the Bates garage. The driver, after the collision, stopped within a few feet and carried the unconscious boy to the hospital. Later he surrendered himself at the Central police station and was held in $2000, which was furnished by his employer.

The children's parents were calling at the time of the accident.

STEAMER'S STATEROOM SMASHED

IN-TENNESSEE STRUCK GLANCING BLOW BY SCHOONER

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Nearly 250 passengers who were transferred from the Bay State line steamer Tennessee after her collision Saturday night in Long Island Sound off Fishers Island with the schooner Samuel S. Thorp were brought here yesterday aboard the steamer Concord of the Colonial line.

The Tennessee, with a ragged gap 45 feet long in her side, came into port a few hours later. The Tennessee was bound from Providence to New York.

Robert Keating of Woodhaven, N. Y., who had sustained internal injuries, was removed to a hospital. Several other passengers received minor hurts. They were occupants of the seven staterooms demolished by the collision.

Passengers told of panicky conditions aboard the Tennessee after the Thorp rammed her prow into their boat, sent them forward of amidships, but said that Capt. George D. Enos calmed the women and children by telling them aid was close at hand. He then sent out wireless calls, to which the Concord was first to respond. The transfer of passengers was effected without accident.

The Tennessee's freight and saloon decks were stove in and the funnel damaged, but she was able to proceed to New York under her own steam.

Robert J. Noble, general manager of the Bay State line, said the schooner, captured suddenly buffed up in the wind and struck the Tennessee a hard glancing blow.

Capt. Pearce of the Thorp Says His Lights Were Visible and Tennessee Should Have Cleared Him

NEW LONDON, Oct. 11.—Capt. Pearce of the three-masted schooner Samuel Thorp, which was in collision with the passenger steamer Tennessee, says all the light on his vessel were burning when his boat was rammed by the steamer shortly before midnight Saturday. Capt. Pearce does not understand why the Tennessee did not sheer off and clear him with his signal lights before the collision.

The Thorp is badly damaged forward above the waterline and Capt. Pearce is waiting orders from the owners before having repairs made at a port of call to her destination, Newburyport, Mass., with her load of 500 coal from Newport News.

SUITS THAT ARE NOT COMMONPLACE

If a man wishes to express his individuality in dress the opportunity is here for him to do so.

In addition to the exclusive styles of Rogers-Peet's and "Society Brand" there are many new and exclusive fabrics.

"Forefathers' Cloth" an English fabric brought out by Rogers-Peet, reproduces the substantial character and colorings, (olive green and butternut brown) of the Puritan cloths of 1620.

There are Piping Rock flannels, (winter weights) Donegal homespuns from Ireland, Harris Island tweeds made on hand looms in Scotland, Imperial stripes and plain colored fabrics made up specially for us in dark brown, hunter's green and dark blue. These are but a few of the new things that we alone have.

Such suits we show in very small numbers—but two or three of a kind—they not only look good, they are good, as good as the best fabrics and the best workmanship can make them.

Fitted to your satisfaction by our tailors, these exclusive and special suits enable a man to dress with distinction and with the assurance that his appearance will never be commonplace—Prices are moderate beginning at $20.00.

Our suit stock, however, is not limited to those we mention, new models and new weaves are here for men and young men from $10.00 and upwards.

THE ART OF WEARING JEWELRY

Old-fashioned settings, unless used with great discretion and with certain historical correct goings, are one of the chief features in aging the wearer's face and figure. The effect is one for grandmother, unless the idea is only for quaintness, and then every detail must coincide with the jewelry, even to the mode of dressing the hair.

Large, heavy brooches and ornaments are another means of gaining uncalculated age, and it is a mistake most commonly made. Bold, striking pieces have their place in modern appropriate jewelry for the young lady and middle-aged woman, and discreetly used are extremely effective, but it must be realized that there is nothing "youthfulizing" about solid, heavy pieces; no matter how handsome or attractive they may be they are not for the person who wishes to appear young—she will be no younger than her jewelry makes her.

Earrings add to the age; no matter how young or how old the person is who wears them they invariably have the same tendency. Bracelets, on the contrary, will give youthful roundness to the arm, provided the right shape and size are chosen and fitted to the individual arm. Hair ornaments may be used to either add to the age or the reverse. High standing combs, aigrettes and tiaras have the tendency to add to the wearer's age, as they also add dignity or dashing style, while low bands worn across the forehead will make the face look fuller and more youthful. The pieces worn close about the face—hair ornaments, earrings, neck bands and necklaces—have a greater influence in this direction than any of the other jewels and consequently extra care should be given to the choosing and wearing of them.

For the white-haired matron there is always the jewelry especially designed for her. Everyone knows the range which is growing and changing only slightly as her gown fashions and styles vary with the seasons. The line is conservative, of course, and the staple gems and settings—diamonds, pearls, jade, crystal and the precious gems with mountings of platinum, dull gold and gray finished silver—are always ready for the selection, but enameled pieces should not be neglected, for they are decidedly becoming to gray hair and most suitable with the pastel shades and deep dense colors for wear with the matron's favorite maroon, mauve, steel gray, siena and midnight blue gowns.

Beauty Types and Becoming Jewelry

When it comes to choosing becoming jewelry for the various types of women to having it suit their individual style and racial features, the field is almost unlimited and quite absorbing in artistic interest. This phase of the subject of appropriate and becoming jewelry is a study in itself, and the different branches of the theme can only be touched upon here. To take the matter in its broadest aspect consider the great divergence in the jewels worn by the women in the world's climatic divisions, as the northern European, Asiatic and tropical jewelry, and then consider more closely the jewelry typical of the different nationalities. The Scandinavian women wear a certain style and type of jewelry, and it will be found that it is in the long run the kind most becoming to the flaxen-

haired, broad-shouldered woman wherever she may be found in the world. The smaller, dark-haired, black-eyed woman cannot wear this jewelry with half the same good effect. She must have something more suited to her type and, whether she comes from America or southern France, her jewelry will be built on the same fundamental lines and contain the same gems, if it is to be most appropriate. The ash-blond, Gibson type of American, the red-haired snow-complexioned amazon, the slim Botticelli maiden and the broad-shouldered athlete girl, each is to be considered as demanding a specific type and style in jewelry, and then again each class is subdivided and the choice made according to the individual characteristics and needs.

The coloring of eyes, hair and skin,

the stature and figure, the features of the face and the shape of the head, the shape and the proportions of the arms and hands, even the carriage and mode of walking may be taken into consideration in relation to finding and deciding upon the best suited jewelry. The deeper the subject is gone into the better the latent possibilities in becoming jewelry is appreciated, for the making or marring of a costume may rest with the smallest and most apparently insignificant piece of jewelry. How much more important it is, therefore, to give care to the choosing of the larger, more conspicuous jewels, and to complete sets of jewelry when they play so large a part in the completed costumes.

CARING FOR GRAY HAIR

The only time when gray hair is unattractive is when it is improperly cared for; when it is streaked with yellow, and to be frankly frank, when it isn't clean. Gray hair should have a regular fortnightly shampoo. For this warm water and a milk white soap should be used and the strands rubbed between the hands until every trace of oil has been cut loose by the lather. Following the soap washing there should be a rinsing with clear warm water. The temperature of the rinsing water be gradually increased until it is as hot as can be borne with comfort, and then gradually lower the temperature until it is cold.

Never shampoo the hair at night as the best time is in the morning when the drying can be done beside an open window where the strands will get the benefit of fresh air and sunshine. Do the drying with warmed Turkish towels, gently rubbing the strands until every trace of moisture has disappeared. Then, very gently, comb out.

any tangles; don't brush them out, as if you do you may break some of the strands.

After the combing and brushing, separate the hair in parts all over the head and rub the scalp, very lightly, with pure olive oil. Use very little oil, just enough to moisten the finger tips. The next day dust the scalp with rice powder and, with a soft brush, rub the powder around until all trace of the oil has been absorbed. In between these semi-monthly shampoos there should be a dry shampoo. This is begun by carefully combing and brushing the hair and then generously sprinkling rice powder thick on the scalp and through the strands.

Rub the powder in the scalp and through the strands until any oil has been absorbed and then cleanse the hair of the powder by another careful combing and brushing. This treatment, regularly used, will keep gray hair fresh looking, silvery and fluffy. And that means it will keep it attractive.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS:

ABOUT THE LOANING OF BOOKS

"I am never going to loan a book again," said Marjorie determinedly, "I wanted a certain volume today and, after long thought, remembered that I had loaned it to Grace and she had never returned it."

"You should have a book place," said Marie. "I am sure your friend did not mean to keep your book, but probably does not remember from whom she borrowed it. Before lending a book, cover it with brown paper and write your name and the title outside. Put down in a note book to whom it is loaned and never be so foolish as not to ask for it if it is not returned within a reasonable time."

"There is almost as much free masonry shown toward other people's books as toward one's own," murmured the French maid, who, circulating libraries, too, are often decorated along their margins with comments and approvals, written by various readers. And library volumes are not the only ones abused in this way. It cannot be denied that books loaned to personal friends are often returned to their owners, not only underlined and lead penciled, but dog eared and soiled as to the cover.

"To a book lover such treatment of favorite volumes results in almost physical pain, and, in time, ends in a complete loss of interest in the book. A book loaned to a friend is often the owner's enjoyment of some story has more to do with the donor or the special edition one has had for a long time, than with the author's plot."

"Just so one feels when a book is returned in bad condition if it is brought back at all, which very often is not the case, even when one has to ask many times for it. One can be careless and then they let it go. The hands are not always clean or they are employed in eating candy, perhaps and finger marks are shown on the formerly spotless pages."

LADY LOOKABOUT

The Lowell Teachers' organization, which has already made its influence felt in the city, is planning a season of unusual activity. Early in November, Mrs. Kidder, who needs no introduction to Lowell audiences, will entertain with a dramatic reading of Israel Zangwill's four-act drama, "The Melting Pot." A few tickets are available for the friends of the members. Miss Allen, the new president of the organization, is receiving the hearty cooperation of the members in forming special classes for the teachers, and all are looking forward to a season of pleasure and profit.

Chin Strap Hats

The narrow chin straps of patent leather or velvet seen on some of the new hats, and which closely resemble the elastic bands worn by children, are most becoming to young faces, but the woman no longer young makes a great mistake when she adopts this fashion for nothing so accentuates approaching age as the garb of extreme youth. This is true of any article of dress associated exclusively with the youthful. When the more mature woman persists in clinging to the fashions of young girls, her pretense at youth is indeed pathetic.

I know a woman of past middle age. She is petite and has clung tenaciously to the styles favored by very young girls. Approaching this woman from the rear, one would feel certain that he was looking at a young girl, but on overtaking her and catching a glimpse of her face with the lines of care and character which come with the years, one gets an unpleasant shock.

Just when we were growing accustomed to the slicked-back hair with the simple little knot which rested anywhere from the top of the head to the nape of the neck, some unkindly style-maker pushes upon us the hat which turns up abruptly in the back, and insistently calls attention to the quantity of hair we have not got. The result may easily be foreseen. Hatfashioners are introducing all sorts of little puffs and curls, and the abruptness, the profusion to admire them, and truly they are indeed fascinating. I was shown a cluster of curls a few days ago, which, tucked in beside the forehead, was as much added just the touch that was wanted, and the abruptness turned-up-in-the-back hat immediately became adorable. Aren't we the funny things!

The Suffragette

Despite the happy optimism which pervades the ranks of the suffragists, President Wilson's announcement that he is going to vote for suffrage, must have caused no little surprise. That he has so declared himself, and without reservation of any kind, is indeed the biggest boost suffrage could receive at this time or at any time. President Wilson has proved himself a man of unusually conservative principles, his foresight and wisdom have succeeded in steering our country out of the path-way of what has more than once seemed certain warfare. Surely the attitude of such a man, holding as he does the confidence of a nation, must carry great weight when in favor of a movement involving all that the enfranchisement of women does, and one is perfectly safe in assuming that he has made a mistake.

White Way Effects

For actual decorative value on the Lowell thoroughfare, nothing can exceed the lights of the great white way. Apart from their beauty when unadorned, they offer unusual opportunities for decoration. Full advantage was taken of these during the past week when they figured so prominently in Fashion Week. Since then, their installation they have added a festive air to the streets, and which invites pedestrians to their neighborhood, and which must bring substantial returns to the property owners and storekeepers, and so easily offset the increase in assessed valuation.

Special Courses of Study

It is at this season of the year when vacations are over and all have returned to work with renewed vigor, that the mind turns to thoughts of improvement and study. Many persons avail themselves of the opportunities offered in the various institutions of learning to take special courses, some along the lines of their daily occupation, others to follow a new ambition, while still others seek a mental recreation. The opportunities for taking special courses in Lowell are very few. Apart from the Textile school, where excellent evening courses are offered to those interested in the textile industries, there is no place where a person may satisfy his craving for study in special branches. This may be due to our close proximity to Boston, where one may indulge his desire for study to his heart's content, but I am inclined to believe that in work of this kind there is an apathy here which must be broken down by our young men and women can find at home that which they are now compelled to seek in Boston. It would seem that a city of over 100,000 persons could offer university extension courses to those who desire them. To be sure the expense of these courses as offered in Boston is very high, but the expense of a round trip twice a week is added, and consideration given to the time spent en route each time, the taking of one of these courses becomes an expense and a hardship. Yet even with these difficulties, it is surprising to note the number who go down from Lowell to avail themselves of these courses on Saturdays and evenings. Surely a combined effort on the part of these students should accomplish much toward establishing the desired courses in their home city.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook is a blessing in disguise in these times of high cost of living, for she is so very careful of every kind of left-overs and sees that absolutely nothing goes to waste. She tells me that she has a covered crock in which she keeps her sour milk. She keeps adding to it even if only a teaspoon and always has enough on hand to make gingerbread, biscuit, cornbread and griddle cakes.

All pieces of dried cheese, no matter what kind, she grates and puts in a covered glass jar to use in au gratin dishes. Whenever she has a ham bone she greatly improves the flavor of her pea soup by boiling it with the peas, and even a spoonful of leftover vegetables goes into a mixed salad or to make a vegetable soup with the addition of a little macaroni. She says that the great secret of re-heating baked meats is not to heat them too long as it makes them tough. Leftover meats are much more palatable if highly seasoned.

Olives may be ground in a vegetable chopper, and mashed to a paste and creamed into butter. Capers are chopped and creamed with butter, and either of these can be used on broiled chops or beefsteaks, as sandwich butters, or on green peas or string beans to improve their flavor.

Cook makes the most delicious potato rolls you ever tasted, at least, so we think. This is her recipe:

One cup of flour, one cup of warm mashed potatoes, three-fourths of a cup of lard, one cup of scalded milk, two well-beaten eggs, one half cup of sugar, one half teaspoon of salt, one cake of compressed yeast and one half cup of lukewarm water.

Mix the lard with the flour, potatoes, sugar and salt. Add the eggs well beaten, the milk and the yeast cake dissolved in the water. Let rise for two hours, then add six cups of flour, and let rise for one and a half hours. Knead, roll out and cut with a biscuit cutter, and fold over like Parker House rolls. Lay on a buttered baking tin and let rise for one and a half hours, and let rise for one and a half hours. Bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

Now is the time to look over the house and see what is necessary to do to repair the ravages of the summer sun and dust. It is a good idea, says cook, to clean the glass over pictures with a cloth wrung from hot water and dipped in alcohol. Polish them immediately until they are dry and glossy, with chamals or tissue paper. She says to rub leather chairs with a little fresh milk to prevent cracking the leather. Do this about once a week. Whiting spread on a damp dandelion cloth will remove all spots from painted wood without hurting the surface and without tiring the arm which applies it.

Often when a house has been closed all summer the iron sink becomes rusty. It can be cleaned with mutton tallow. Cover the tallow with oilcloth and leave it on overnight. The lime and tallow should then be rubbed off with an old sink brush and the sink should then be washed with a hot soda water. The lime should not be allowed to touch the hands.

To make grape jelly, cook says to wash grapes that are not overripe and take them from the stems. To each quart of grapes add one cup of water and bring them slowly to a boil. Let them cook thirty minutes. Pour them into a bag of strong muslin, not very heavy, which has been dipped into boiling water. Tie the bag so it will hang over a bowl and let the juice drip for six or eight hours or overnight.

Measure the juice and take an equal quantity of sugar. While the juice is boiling for fifteen minutes, heat the sugar in a slow oven, stirring it occasionally. Add it to the boiling juice and let it continue boiling for five minutes more. Strain it well and pour it into sterilized jelly glasses. When cold and firm seal with melted paraffin poured over the top.

WONDERLIFT SELF-REDUCING
SELF-HELP FOR ALL WOMEN FOR STOUT WOMEN

Every Nemo is an extra value simply as a corset. For the hygienic features, which are priceless, you pay nothing extra.

"I Will Keep This Corset On—Send the Old One Home!"

NO say thousands of women when fitted in a "Self-Help" Nemo Wonderlift Corset. They don't want to lose, even for a minute, the relief and supreme comfort this corset marvel instantly gives; and that's the highest form of approval.

Of the vast host of women who got acquainted with the Wonderlift during last week's "Self-Help" Exposition, it is safe to say that nine out of ten will never be satisfied to wear any other corset.

Nemo SELF-REDUCING Corsets, introduced nearly twenty years ago, have steadily gained in popularity, and now are worn by millions of women throughout the civilized world.

The Nemo WONDERLIFT Corsets also will make a place of their own, furnishing a different service and appealing to other millions of women who do not require the Self-Reducing service.

There are basic differences between the Nemo WONDERLIFT Corsets and the Nemo SELF-REDUCING Corsets. Examples of each are pictured above.

WONDERLIFT

For women of every figure, from slight to extra-full. The Wonderlift Bandlet uplifts, supports and holds in place the vital abdominal organs, thus preventing, relieving and often curing the ills peculiar to women. This corset is a distinct boon and blessing to all womankind.

No 555—For tall full figures; high, full bust and back; medium skirt. Fine white coutil; sizes 24 to 36—$5.00.

No 554—Same, but for short full figures—$5.00.

No 556—For slender and medium figures, in sizes from 20 up. Of fine, light strong coutil—$5.00.

SELF-REDUCING

Made expressly for stout women, to reduce the size and weight of the figure and support the abdomen. The Self-Reducing Idea has been developed into such a variety of models that every stout woman, no matter how difficult her figure, can be correctly corseted. For example:

No. 322—For average stout figures; medium bust and skirt; elastic Lasticure back. No. 323, same, for taller figures—$3.00.

No. 344—For full figure of medium height; has "invisible" Self-Reducing Straps. No. 345, same, for taller full figures—$3.00.

KYRONEN AND KOLEHMAINEN
FOR TOMORROW'S BIG RACE

Viktor Kyronen, Hannes Kolehmainen, their managers, and Fred Humphries of the Bunting club, visited the Sun office this morning and shook hands with the sporting editor, incidentally showing by their presence that they will be on hand at the great athletic event at the Bunting club, tomorrow afternoon.

Both men cleaned up a few prizes at the Scandinavian track meet in New York, Saturday afternoon, and immediately after the meet left for Lowell and arrived in town last evening, both men being in fine shape.

They will be tendered a reception this evening at the New American hotel. The pair are friendly disposed toward each other personally but there is a national rivalry between the two that assures a real race whenever they meet.

In addition to the ten mile run for the champion, extra America, in which they are to participate there will be seven other races, including the 100 yards, 120 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards and the one mile.

Joe Carlson and Jim Loreadas will wrestle best two in three at 145 pounds and there will be extra attractions, including the announcement of the score of the world's series baseball game by innings.

The street railway company will furnish extra cars throughout the afternoon.

EULOGIZES BISHOP CODMAN

Rev. Dr. Houghton of New York Pays High Tribute to Dead Prelate in Portland Sermon

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 11.—Rev. Dr. George Clarke Houghton of New York, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, preached yesterday at the Episcopal Cathedral church of St. Luke to a very large congregation, and paid a high tribute to Bishop Robert Codman, whose body rested in the adjoining Immanuel chapel.

Dr. Houghton officiated at the cathedral the Sunday after the death of Bishop Nealey, the predecessor of Bishop Codman.

NASHUA STRIKE

Little Change in the Situation—Militia is Ready for Call

The strike situation at the plants of the Nashua Manufacturing Co., and the Jackson Manufacturing Co., seems to have undergone a decided change within the past few days and instead of the lawlessness which prevailed during the early part of last week, everything is now quiet and about everybody in the Gate city looks for an early settlement of the differences between the mill officials and their employees.

Lunch Cart Closed

Some excitement was caused late Saturday night when a number of strikers demanded that Harold Eaton, who conducts a lunch cart in West Pearl street, close up his place of business. Supplies, it is claimed have been carried from the lunch cart to the men working inside the plants for the past few days and the strikers had "spotted" him. He closed up when ordered to do so and no damage was done to the cart.

Militia Still on Guard

The companies of militia which were called out Friday are still under arms to be on hand in case of emergency. Saturday night the mill yards and walls were brilliantly lighted by powerful arc lights which were strung up during the day to make it impossible for anyone to enter and damage the property without detection either by the police or the regularly employed watchmen at the mills.

SHARP WATCH FOR BODY

FRANCIS P. MOTLEY OF BOSTON AND HEVERLY LOST FROM PORT-LAND BOAT

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Outgoing bay fishermen were asked today to keep a sharp watch for the body of Francis P. Motley of Boston and Heverly, who was reported to have been lost from the Portland boat on Oct. 4. The disappearance of Mr. Motley was reported last night by Charles P. Curtis, a neighbor at Heverly and counsel for the Motley family.

Mr. Curtis stated that Mr. Motley had been lost at sea, but declined to state whether he fell overboard or threw himself from the boat. Motley was a graduate of Harvard in 1914 and had been sentenced to 30 days in jail for recklessly driving an automobile.

It was believed by some of his friends that the disposition of the case, which had been appealed, had affected his mind.

za government in Mexico.

more than 400,000 shares and the responder of the forenoon showed no marked diminution. Heavy realization sion yielded little. Specialties bore the brunt of the decline, Continental Can

Air Brake 1 1/4 at 14 1/4. There were many offsetting features, however, and later in the day the market turned strong.

Recent favorites among the war group, like Westinghouse, General Electric, Baldwin Locomotive and Crucible Steel, showed greater vigor in the afternoon. Heavy realization bore no prominent at marked gains. Bal-win jumped 19 points to 124 7/8.

Philadelphia "fans" on their way here from Baltimore was nearby and was summoned alongside of the Ontario.

The coast guard cutter Acushnet came from Woods Hole and transferred the passengers. The Nantucket put on before the time set for the game.

It was stated that the accident to the Ontario, which occurred when the vessel was off Cape Poge, was of a

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE DOES RUSH-

CENSES FOR THE HOLIDAY

This was a busy day for the clerks in the city clerk's office and all the fellows who wanted to know what it was all about had to do was to "stick around" and hear what the callers were asking for. We did that little thing and found out that they were hunting for licenses, for tomorrow will be a holiday and the law will be off on a whole lot of game, including the ruffed grouse, woodcock, quail, pheasants, hares and rabbits and gray squirrels. Yes, it will be well for one to be careful while sauntering in the woods tomorrow. All hunters must be careful hunters and the woods will be full of them—such as they are. Watch out!

LOWELL HUNTER THOUGHT

"MIKE" TIERNEY WAS A FOX AND FIRED AT HIM

Michael Tierney, employed at the Trull farm in Tewksbury, was accidentally shot through the hand this afternoon while plowing grapes on the farm, by a fox hunter named James P.
Carr and residing at 160 Hampshire street, this city.

According to the story told at the police station this afternoon, Carr went on a little fox hunting expedition of his own and when near the Trull farm he spotted a fox. The young man fired one shot with the result that the fox took to its heels. A few minutes later Carr saw something move in the grape vine and thinking it was the fox, he fired another shot and struck
Tierney, who was picking grapes.

The injured man was taken to St.
John's hospital, where his injury was treated, while Carr repaired to the police station, but after telling his story he was allowed to go. Mr.
Tierney's injury is not serious.

As was indicated in The Sun over five months ago the Bigelow-Hartford company's business in this city is practically gone and the last of the machinery will be transferred either to Clinton or Thompsonville within a few weeks.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon, of United Textile Workers, conferred with representatives of the Nashua Manufacturing company strikers' committee on Saturday. Mr. McMahon is of the opinion that the strike will be of short duration.

Thomas Morrison, the new secretary of the Trades & Labor council has been a member of a labor organization for a number of years. For the past few years he has been engaged as assistant to Secretary Charles E. Anderson and therefore is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office he has been elected to.

In the election of William Hunt as custodian of the union headquarters in Middle street, the body has pleased the members. Mr. Hunt is a hardworking and painstaking official and is fully deserving of the position.

Several labor meetings will be held tonight on account of tomorrow being a holiday, while others will be allowed to slip over for another week.

Many of the local mill and factory employees will enjoy the holiday tomorrow by attending the fourth game of the world's series in the Hub. Quite a number of men have secured tickets but those less fortunate will have to buck the line with the rest of the routes.

Robert Place, superintendent of the Flint mills, Fall River, Mass., has been appointed by Governor Walsh as a trustee of the Bradford-Durfee Textile school, to replace the late James E. Cunneen. The appointment meets with general satisfaction and prominent mill men say the chief executive of the state couldn't have made a better selection.

The Parkhill baseball team, composed of employees of the Parkhill Manufacturing Co., Fitchburg, Mass., has won the championship of that city by winning 15 out of 19 games. The team received the most enthusiastic and loyal support from the mill owners and employees of the mills.

The republic of Argentina is reported as having all its textile mills busy making cloths for Europe, one company alone having turned out over 6,000 yards a day. Large quantities of white blankets for hospital use, dark colored blankets for the soldiers and khaki-colored blankets for the use of the officers are only a few of the articles of war that the mills of Argentina are making just now.

Francis D. Garrity, of a well known Middle street plumbing and steamfitting establishment, promised the boys a victrola concert for last night, but he failed to show up with the machine although his friends waited patiently for him to make his appearance. Probably he went looking for his chum who attended one of the big shops in Boston, Saturday night.

A newspaper report commenting upon the work of Andrew Griffin, a well known mill man, says: "Supervising the work of two mills more than 100 miles apart is the unusual feat now being performed by Andrew P. Griffin of North Adams, Mass., who is regarded as one of the leading woolen and worsted manufacturers in New England. Mr. Griffin, who has been agent of the Hosiery Worsted mills in North Adams for the past five years, recently assumed the agency of the Daniels Worsted mills in West Rockland, and is now running both concerns although they are widely separated."

Retail Clerks' Union

was held yesterday afternoon in Carpenter's hall, Runels building, with a large gathering of members in attendance. Oswald Bertrand, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. Frank Varneck, president of the Trades and Labor council, gave a very instructive discourse on the reason why the organization should affiliate itself with the American Federation of Labor and what benefits would be derived by accomplishing such a move. Reasons why such affiliation would be of benefit through the bettering of working and financial conditions was stated by Organizer N. J. Nally, who also spoke of the results obtained by similar organizations in various parts of the country. Charles E. Anderson, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor, spoke on the formation of the federation and told how it has grown from 30,000 members to its present size, numbering nearly 3,000,000. He also endeavored to show the benefits the clerks would receive by affiliating with the main labor body. Another meeting of the organization will be held on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, at Trades and Labor hall, at which this matter will be acted upon.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

MAN WHO INVESTIGATED LABOR TROUBLES IN COLORADO IS THE SPEAKER AT GRACE CHURCH

The speaker at the Grace church Public Forum, Sunday night, was Henry A. Atkinson of Boston, who went to Colorado as a representative of church social service organizations to investigate the labor war. It was on demand of the women the speaker said, that United States troops were sent to Colorado to restore order, and from that time on there was no violence.

The speaker maintained that the trouble in the first place was due to the undemocratic attitude of the operators, who refused to meet the men in conference and listen to their grievances. "If John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had gone to Colorado a year ago last June and done then what he has done now, they would have come together and there would have been no Ludlow massacre."

He also spoke of the attitude of the coal companies toward the laws of Colorado, he said, has the best laws of any state where there is any considerable amount of mining; but the operators ignore them. This was shown by extracts from the annual report of the state mine inspector.

Also, the coal companies have political control. The reason that Ludlow was destroyed was because the miners put out the operators in the preceding election. Whenever a situation developed, where the companies could not have what they wanted, they manipulated the political strings so that they got that thing. They show absolute disregard of the needs of humanity.

The claim has been made, he said, that the men are ignorant; that if we knew the kind of men the operators have to deal with we would understand the situation better. They are ignorant, he admitted; but these strikes have been occurring at intervals of 10 years, right along. The demands in each case have been practically the same and have been met in the same way; and the strikers of today are the strike breakers of 10 years ago. They were brought in, not by the miners, but by the coal companies.

Prominent periodicals everywhere are daily exposing the harmful effects of the drug, caffeine, in coffee.

Physicians, food experts, medical writers and editors largely agree that the cumulative effect of the 2½ grains of caffeine in the average cup of coffee is responsible for the many troubles, such as sleeplessness, nervous prostration, heart palpitation, indigestion, etc., that subtly beset most regular coffee drinkers.

Some people seemingly hold up under regular coffee drinking without serious results; but modern thinkers, with respect for the fundamentals of health and longevity, are daily changing to

POSTUM

It is a pure food-drink made from wheat and a little wholesome molasses—contains no caffeine or other injurious drug.

When properly made, Postum has a flavour and aroma so much like Old Gov't Java that one is inclined to forget coffee within a very short time.

Postum comes in two forms: The original, Postum Cereal, requires thorough boiling, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum, the soluble form, is made in the cup with boiling water, 30c and 50c tins. Both kinds are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Red Sox and Phillies Meet on Braves Field, Boston—Thousands in Line Before Game

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans, meeting at Braves Field in the third game of the world series today had as a setting for their championship activities a crowd which officials predicted would prove to be the greatest paid attendance in annals of baseball. The teams had changed over Sunday from the Phillies' park, the smallest ball yard in the major league to the biggest grounds in the country. For two days Braves Field will be the scene of action with the resulting prospect that both financially and in the number of spectators this will be a record series. To date the attendance is behind that of last year, but the amount of money received is in advance of previous figures.

Perfect Weather

Every element of interest possible in advance was present to draw out today's tremendous throng. The weather, first consideration to many followers of baseball, was as fair as a midsummer day. Although the morning was frosty, the unclouded sun promised a touch of warmth to blunt the edge of the light autumn breeze. The forecasters' prediction that the temperature would rise about noon added to the probabilities of a typical baseball atmosphere for the post-season contest.

"Crucial" Contest Today

Red Sox and Phillies went into the third game with honors even and with the interest as keen for the re-opening of the series in this city as it was for the start at Philadelphia. By some observers today's game was termed "crucial," particularly in its bearing on the plans of Manager Moran.

The Pitchers

It was regarded as a certainty that he would be forced to send his leading pitcher, Alexander, against the Red Sox in the first game here, as he did in the first game of the series on Friday. In order to gain the advantage which today's game will give the winner, Alexander defeated would mean a narrowing of Philadelphia's chances to slender proportions. Alexander again successful would give the Philadelphia manager an opportunity to seek pitching assistance tomorrow from a second string man, probably Chalmers, with the star of the staff ready to be called upon for a third game on Wednesday.

Alexander Great Attraction

Alexander's appearance alone was an attraction to the crowd but with it was coupled the semi-official word from Manager Carrigan of the Red Sox that "Dutch" Leonard, the youthful south paw, would pitch for Boston. When in shape, Leonard has been looked upon as the best pitcher on the Red Sox staff.

His delivery contains more twists and turns to baffles batsmen than does that of any other of the Boston twirlers. He has not been used previously in the series for the reason, it is believed, of the possible danger that lay in the short fences at the Phillies park and the fact that eight of the nine Philadelphia batsmen are regarded as having an advantage over left-handed pitchers by batting right handed. Leonard is the only Philly player who bats from the left against a pitcher serving from that side.

Carrigan in Game

Manager Carrigan, however, convinced by the eight hits which his players obtained off Alexander in the first game that they had more than an even chance to defeat him, thought that Leonard would do better than hold his own on Braves Field. Here the broad reaches of the outfield give ample play to the swift feet of the Red Sox secondary defense, Lewis, Speaker and Hooper and they are depended upon to gather in many long flies that would go as hits on smaller fields. The outfield of these three men on Braves Field was considered likely to add to the fielding features of the series, most of which so far have developed within the inner circle.

Final decision by Manager Carrigan to send Leonard to the pitching box was expected to bring the manager himself into the game. He has caught Leonard's delivery most of the season, and results have shown that his directions add greatly to the pitcher's efficiency.

The assignment of umpires today was expected to bring "Big" O'Loughlin of the American league behind the plate. Klem of the National league on the base decisions, and Evans of the American league and Rigler of the National league to judge the fall of balls in the outfield.

The series, to date has been marked by almost entire harmony between the players and arbitrators. A few remarks which Whittier exchanged with Umpire Klem in the opening game were followed by notice to the Philadelphia player that they had cost him $25 but the incident passed unnoticed at the time, and none similar has developed.

In Line All Night

The crowd, which it was thought, would exceed 45,000 persons by game time, had its beginnings in a little knot of people who gathered at the gates last evening. Irregular lines formed at times during the night, but a nip in the air forced many to take exercise. Some, however, seemed impervious to the weather and improvising beds out of blankets, newspapers, overcoats or chairs, went to sleep on the threshold of the park.

Once more the Buntings demonstrated the determination to win the Soccer league pennant when they defeated the strong Clans McPherson team of Lawrence by a score of 2 to 1.

The visitors won the toss and the Buntings had to face the wind and sun. At 2:22 Referee Wilkinson started the game. Greenhalge setting the ball in motion. The Bunting forwards got well down the field but Hackney drove them back with a well placed kick. Clagg started a nice passing movement by sending the ball to Mitchell who in turn sent out a good pass to Clagg who centered on the run. Greenhalge cleared his lines in fine style. Not to be outdone the Buntings came back to the attack, Kelly transferring the ball to Wallace who ran around Mathieson and passed the ball to Taylor who shot hard for a goal. Deyrsmith being in motion. The Clans came away with a burst, Curry fastening on the ball and sending over a good pass to Stewart who raced past Marriott, but shot behind. From the goal kick Lowe recovered the ball and being tackled by Wendle passed on to Wallace who transferred to Taylor. But Hamilton came to the rescue and relieved with a huge kick. A fine piece of combination work started at this point, Curry rounding Kelly and swinging the ball over to Patten who put on a great sprout and sending over a nice center, sprout testing Smith with a great shot, but the goal was safe as the bank of England. Bunting came back to the attack, Mitchell receiving the ball and passing it to Clagg who ran around Emille and sent over a perfect center. Greenhalge fastened on the ball and raced past Hamilton and he sent the scoring from the ten yards range.

Clans Get Busy

The reverse put new life into the Clans. Stewart raced passed Marriott but shot wide of the goal from the goal kick. Mangman received the ball and passing on to Wendle who sent over a perfect center. Brown tied the score with a brilliant shot. From the kick-off the Buntings swarmed around the Clans. Wallace shooting well. Mathieson placed a corner which was placed behind. From the goal kick Gifford received the ball and passed to Mitchell who swung out to Wallace. The latter ran around Hamilton and then passed the ball to Taylor, Mathieson fouling Taylor. A penalty was given Bunting and Mitchell was called upon to take the kick. To everybody's dismay he shot wide. The Buntings came back to the attack by brilliant work by Clagg and Mitchell. Hackney, who was playing a great defensive game, drove them back. Half time was then called.

Bunting, 1 goal; Clans, 1 goal.

Mariott Injured

The second half opened in favor of the Clans Curry shooting well, but the goal was equal to the occasion. The Bunting boys got busy and Clagg raced down the field crossing the ball to Wallace heading past the post. Lowe recovered the ball from the goal kick and passed on to Taylor who shot with great force. Deyrsmith made a wonderful save and also saving from Clagg, Mitchell and Greenhalge in succession which brought forth volumes of applause. Clagg got away but Hackney cleared his lines. Then the Clans came away, Curry sending out to Brown. Marriott in clearing fell and dislocated his arm and was carried off the field, suffering great pain. This was a hard blow to the Buntings who had to finish the game with a man short. The Clans pressed for some time afterward but they found A. Smith as solid as a rock. The Clans then started the kick and rush game, the goal being obliged to run out on three occasions to clear his lines. Mangman kicking the ball well up the field, Curry raced past Smith and from four yards range shot with great force but A. Smith brought off a brilliant save and was cheered to the echo. The Buntings came away through Wallace and passing on to Taylor who in turn passed the ball to Greenhalge who gave the Buntings the lead with a shot that could not be stopped. Greenhalge was showered with congratulations. The Clans came way on the kickoff but were driven back by Gifford who was playing great ball, at this period, showing up as the best half back on the field defending and feeding his wing with beautiful passes. Clagg got away and showing a clean pair of heels, swung the ball to Taylor heading over the bar. Shortly afterward time was called and the Buntings were the winners by a score of 2 to 1. The lineup:

Buntings: J. Smith, J. Marriott, and A. Smith, H. Lowe, W. Kelly, (Capt.) W. Gifford, J. Wallace, T. J. Taylor, J. Greenhalge, W. Mitchell, S. Clagg. Clans: Deyrsmith, Hackney, Mathieson, Hamilton, Mangman, Emille, Wendle, Patton, Currie, Brown and Stewart.

Bunting Notes

Joe Marriott, who was injured during the game was removed to the hospital and probably will not play again this season. The club will tender him a benefit later.

The president of the New Bedford Soccer club was on the ground and at the close of the first half made an attractive proposition to Capt. Kelly of the Buntings. But Kelly declined, to remain with the Buntings and the fans are greatly rejoiced to learn that the popular and clever captain is to remain with the team.

more than 100 persons, most of them boys. The opening of the day for the vice caused the line to grow and every car swelled the crowd. By 7 o'clock special cars were coming to the grounds in the Allston district from all directions.

10,000 Dollar Seats

Most of those who waited sought seats in the third base bleachers. Those, at a dollar each, were as good as the reserved seats at first base, for which $2 was charged. There were 10,000 dollar seats. Arrangements to care for the bleacherites at 50 cents each provided for the admission of about 8000, more than half of whom were forced to stand behind a fence stretched along the farthest recess in centre field.

25,000 Reserved Seats

Although all the 25,000 reserved seats had been assigned in advance, not all had been called for when the ticket offices closed last night, and there was unexpected opportunity to get choice places at the eleventh hour. Announcement to this effect in the morning papers brought early to the field several automobile parties, members of which took turns standing in the lines. A further opportunity for positions in the grand stand was offered by the sale of about 4000 admissions, entitling the purchasers to stand in the rear spaces of the stand.

400 Policemen on Duty

These numerous provisions for the public reduced the value of such tickets as the speculators had been able to procure and the traffic in seats today was almost negligible. A few vendors were arrested by plain clothes officers, who formed part of the force of 400 policemen which Supt. Michael H. Crowley directed in various activities in and about the field.

THEY WANT NEW CHURCH

FRENCH RESIDENTS OF PAWTUCKETVILLE TO ASK CARDINAL FOR ONE

A mass meeting of the French-American residents of Pawtucketville in the interest of the establishment of a French Catholic church in the district was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street. The attendance, which was composed of men numbered about 150 and all expressed themselves in favor of the project and at the close of the meeting a committee was appointed to wait upon Cardinal O'Connell and pray him to assign one or two French Catholic clergymen to the Pawtucketville district.

The meeting was opened shortly after 2:15 o'clock by J. S. Lippe, who was later chosen chairman of the meeting. Mr. Lippe, in opening, explained the purpose of the gathering, saying many believed the time had come for the establishment of a church in that part of the city. He spoke of the census taken by a committee some two years ago, which at that time showed the district to contain about 400 families or about 1200 souls. He said since that census was taken about 100 more families moved into the locality, which brings the number of residents up to about 1500.

The election of a chairman and secretary then followed and Mr. Lippe and Joseph Sawyer were chosen to the respective positions. Mr. Sawyer in behalf of the old committee reported what had been done two years ago. He said His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell was seen at that time and the question of the establishment of a church in Pawtucketville was brought to his attention. The cardinal was supplied with data concerning the number of families in the district as well as with a list of subscribers, the amount reaching about $5,000. The cardinal informed the committee he would take the matter under advisement and the committee is still awaiting his reply.

Olivia Poirier, Frederick Descheneaux, J. W. Alexander, Merrill Pettier, Joseph Payette, Mr. Proulx and other spoke in favor of the project. Incidentally it was mentioned that the clergy of St. Joseph's parish would not interfere with the movement which is left to His Eminence the cardinal to decide after hearing the facts in the case. Finally it was voted to empower the committee to wait once more upon the cardinal and submit the request of the residents of Pawtucketville. The committee is composed of the following: J. S. Lippe, chairman; Joseph Sawyer, secretary; Olivia Poirier, Merrill Pettier, Joseph Payette and T. H. Brassard.

Simple Way to Have Beautiful Wavy Hair

Lustrous, soft, wavy hair plays an important part in the scheme of beauty. A healthy scalp is the basis for it. The desired wavy effect, for it destroys the life, lustre and brilliancy of the hair. It is far better to use plain liquid salicylic acid than to use any other. It is more effective, more lasting, and at the same time keeps it beautifully soft, "light" and glossy. It is beneficial instead of harmful, and it is easy to use. We think to apply the liquid before retiring, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose of drawing this down the hair from root to tip. Very soon the hair becomes fluffy, soft, and free from the greasy, sticky, odoriferous condition of the hair.

Pure salicylic acid in liquid form may be found in any drug store and is sold in ounces will last a long time. It does not soil, nor greasy and leaves no sediment, spots or streaks. The hair will be quite manageable, no matter what the style of coiffure.

ABERDEENS IN BOSTON

Earl and Countess Given Fine Reception—Sketch of Their Work—Lecture on Ireland

Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who are being entertained for five days by committees of Boston men and women, spent an exceedingly busy day yesterday, beginning with their arrival at 7 a. m. and ending at a late hour when the last visitors of the day departed from their reception room at the Copley-Plaza.

The committee which greeted them was made up mostly of Irish-Americans anxious to show their gratitude to the distinguished couple for philanthropic service to Ireland.

The committee which greeted the distinguished visitors from the South station to the hotel comprised P. A. O'Connell, chairman, and J. W. Reardon, secretary of the general committee; Joseph A. Dennison, chairman of the reception committee; ex-Assist. Dist. Atty. Michael J. Dwyer and Timothy J. Faveley.

The earl and countess attended morning services at Trinity church, conducted by the rector, Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann. After the service they had a pleasant conference with Dr. Mann, and the earl complimented the rector upon his "interesting and eloquent sermon."

Lady Aberdeen said that in the various cities she is to visit in this country her chief interest will be the acquisition of information in regard to the "child welfare" movement, a branch of which in Ireland has received much attention from her for the last 10 or 12 years, as has also the movement for the eradication of tuberculosis.

The result in Ireland has been a great reduction of infant mortality, and within the last seven years a drop of 50 a week in the total death rate of both infants and adults. The British government is now giving financial aid to the child welfare movement, features of which are mothers' clubs and pure milk donors.

Though adverse to discussing the war, Lord Aberdeen spoke of the distinction which many Irishmen have won in it, saying that a number of them have won the Victoria Cross. A number of his own staff have particularly been commended, he declared.

He spoke with gratitude of the efforts being made by him and the countess yesterday.

Incidental to their visit to this country is a series of interesting lectures commending them to the good offices of friends in this country of Irish leaders. John E. Redmond wrote under date of Sept. 17:

"Dear Lady Aberdeen: I have received your letter of the 15th inst. and I am rejoiced to hear that you are about to visit America and Canada in the interest of your public health movement, which has undoubtedly done a great deal of good in Ireland."

"Especially I commend that portion of your work which deals with infant mortality. I need not say I wish you every success in your mission and I am sure that all my friends in the United States will give you their assistance."

Trinited by Cardinal Logue
Cardinal Logue writing from Arc Coeli, Arragh, before the departure of the countess, said: "My Dear Lady Aberdeen—I have great pleasure in testifying, with gratitude, to the good work which you have done on behalf of our people during the whole period of the Marquis of Aberdeen's viceroyalty. You have been indefatigable in your efforts to promote every philanthropic project, but your fight against tuberculosis through the 'Woman's Health association' and otherwise, and the success which you have achieved in that important work merit special gratitude."

"Even when your official connection with the country has ceased, for the time at least, you have not relaxed your efforts or lost your interest in promoting the success of the important movement which owes so much of its progress to your zeal and ceaseless labor."

IN POLICE COURT

Larceny From Pollard Co.'s Store—House Broken Into

Claiming that on last Saturday he made his first visit to a big department store since coming to this country and that he did not know how to make a purchase, Peter Nasutwitz stoutly denied that he was guilty of stealing one hat valued at 35 cents from the C. Pollard Co. when arrested before Associate Justice Fisher in the local court this forenoon. The evidence offered by the government, through Prosecuting Officer Downey, was too convincing, however, and Peter was ordered to contribute a $30 note for his misdeed.

Another alleged "shoplifter" was arrested in the Pollard store Saturday in the person of Vincent Veira, accused of stealing one shirt valued at 50 cents. After Vincent had pleaded guilty, Inspector Walsh told the court that the defendant lifted a shirt from the rack.

Testifying in his own behalf, the defendant said that he had not been in this country long and was not accustomed to the system of the big stores. He said when he picked up the hat he planned to go to the office and deposit a one dollar bill and get back two pennies. He could not explain why he started for the exit or the reason for dropping his cap on the floor and a finding of guilty was made.

The usual long list of Monday morning drunks greeted the court today, 13 being in the dock while a similar number were released by Probation Officer Slattery. In five cases suspended sentences were imposed. Benjamin Simpson, a locomotive engineer who was before the court Saturday, was arrested hanging around the depot Saturday night. After being warned that a man with his occupation should be the last to see the world, he was released and sent to jail for 10 days to "sober off."

In the other six cases small fines were ordered.
